SAINT ANDREWS, JULY 19, 1871.

THE TWELFTH OF JULY in New York will long be remembered. The Orangemen of that City had resolved to parade the streets and exercise their rights, but several of their misguided countrymen had determined that they should not carry out this intention. The Governor of the State, however, issued a proclamation guaranteeing protection to the Orangemen and calling on the military for that purpose. They did march, but were attacked, and the troops fired and killed several persons. The mob also attacked the Police, but were repulsed. Our U. S. exchanges have several columns giving full particulars.

Over 100 were killed and 150 severely wounded. The result of the proceedings is that "proceedings and assemblages for lawful purposes will be permitted and protected in future, to the full extent of the law."

VISITORS.—There are more visitors in St. Andrews at present than for many years; and they express themselves delighted with its pure and brim air—the accommodations, the scenery, the drives and the bathing. A gentleman of means suggested the erection of bathing-houses, in which he would have no objection to take stock. Many more families intend coming, when the new Hotel is erected. Even some Calais and St. Stephen friends are enjoying a short visit to our town. Some of the strangers have had a trip up the Railway and speak in commendatory terms of the attentions of the employees. We are happy to state that no time will be lost in pushing forward the work on the new Hotel.

Canada now stands eighth instead of eleventh as last year, in the list of countries trading with England, importing, in proportion to her population, more goods from England than any other country in the world, and three times as much as the United States.

The Customs Receipts of the United States for the fiscal year which closed on the first inst., were $304,437,971.75, an increase of over $13,000 over last year. The new tariff went into operation on the first of January, 1871, since which time the receipts have been $35,808,135.57 in excess of the first six months of the year. There was a falling off in the Internal Revenue receipts of about $40,250,000.

DEATH OF MR. GEO. H. SMITH.—We deeply regret to announce the death of Mr. Geo. H. Smith, the well known singer, who expired at the Public General Hospital yesterday morning, at an early hour, from the injuries received on the 2nd instant, from the bursting of a paraffine lamp. Although everybody hoped the result would be favorable and that he would yet be restored to health, the fears entertained by the medical gentlemen at the time proved to be too well founded, and he gradually sank until death released him from his bodily suffering. Mr. Smith was a young man of much ability and possessed of many amiable qualities and all must sincerely regret that he met such an untimely end. As an amateur tenor he had established quite a reputation in the Province, and with assiduity and study might have vied with many professionals who have gained a world wide fame. [Daily News.]

E. & N. A. RAILWAY.—The following is a comparative statement of traffic receipts on the E. & N. A. Railway for month of June, 1870, compared with corresponding months in town previous years:

	1869.	1870.	1871.
Passengers,	$75,662	$8,513.58	$11,098.81
Freight,	8,679.57	10,082.53	13,702.86
Mails & Sunds.,	724.22	811.81	863.04
Totals,	$16,866.41	19,437.98	25,664.71

REDUCTION OF OCEAN POSTAGE.—By Cable we learn that Mr. Gladstone stated in the House of Commons on Monday that the delay in the arrival of Minister Schenk from the United States had caused the postponement of the negotiations for the reduction of postage to and from America. They would, however, soon proceed. The Government will recommend a considerable reduction, and it is generally believed that Parliament will follow the impulse of public opinion, which is strongly in favor of the proposed measure. The Postmaster General has declared that the time for a reduction of the postage has not yet arrived, as it would cause too large a decrease in the postal revenue.

This is perhaps the ministerial view, but even the best informed may be mistaken, an improbability we admit; yet from experience, we are assured that great reforms have, in some degree, originated with the intelligent and reflective masses, who do not possess either position or power. To express such an opinion may be slightly democratic, nevertheless, from observation, we believe that most great and beneficial reforms emanate from the people who are the rulers in all free governments.

In France the elections for the Councils General will be held on the 23rd of August. Sixteen thousand of the Communist prisoners at Versailles have been released by order of the Government, but sixteen thousand are still held, and will be tried in squads. The Americans in Paris are making a strong and earnest effort to stop the flow of Communist blood, and a proposition has been made to M. Thiers, to allow the Communist prisoners still held for trial to emigrate to America. The Government has the matter under advisement, but what course it will take has not yet been ascertained. The Government has paid to Switzerland 2,000,000 francs as partial reimbursement of the expenses incurred in the maintenance of the French soldiers who took refuge on her soil. It is reported that the party of the Legitimists or supporters of the Count de Chambord, both in and outside of the French Assembly, has been dissolved, and that a majority of its members will join the Republicans. A Commission of Inquiry has been appointed by the Assembly to examine into the course pursued by Count Palikao while at the head of the Government of National Defense, and into the conduct of Benedetti, the French Minister at the Prussian Court, prior to the German war. A bill dissolving all the battalions of the National Guard throughout France is about to be introduced in the Assembly.

THE CESSION OF NEW GUINEA TO GREAT BRITAIN.

It has just been reported via the Atlantic Cable that the Dutch Chambers have agreed to cede the Island of New Guinea, in the South Pacific, to the Government of Great Britain. New Guinea, or Papua, is an island of vast extent, lying to the north of Australia, from which it is separated by Torres Straits. Its length is about twelve hundred miles. Its medial width is about three hundred miles. The natives of the island are called Papuans; but the resident population comprises besides Chinese, Jews and some Mohammedans. The island is said to be rich and beautiful, so far as nature can endow and adorn it. In the interior mountain rises above mountain, the summits of which are covered with a luxuriance of wood and herbage, such as can hardly be conceived. It is the native country of the birds of Paradise. It has for some considerable time been regarded as a Dutch possession. Its proximity to the Equator renders it comparatively valueless to any European race. Considering its nearness to Australia, it is certainly more valuable to Great Britain than to any other nation. In the great future that lies before Australia, this acquisition must be deemed of considerable importance. We rejoice in it as a proof that the British Government is still mindful of the interests of the Empire. It would have been an awkward and inconvenient thing if the island had fallen into the hands either of the Americans or the Germans.

—At the opening of King's County Circuit Court on Wednesday last, His Honor Judge Wetmore was presented with a congratulatory address by the Grand Jury, on the occasion of his first circuit to that county since his elevation to the Bench of the Supreme Court.

—Scotland used to have the reputation of being one of the most advanced countries of the world in respect to the general diffusion of a common school education among its people. It appears, however, by the last census taken in that country, that its number of school-going children, between the ages of five and twelve is in proportion to its general population only as one to sixteen and a half. In Ontario, the corresponding proportion is as one to four and three-quarters. [News.]

MONTREAL.—The Eastern Press members now visiting the city, proceeded to Lachine, took the steamer Beauharnois, and ran the rapids, returning. The fire brigade turned out on the Champ de Mars, and the alarm was sounded by one of the lady visitors.

Louis Vinn, a boy arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the Gault shooting case, managed to escape from the police court yesterday morning by squeezing himself through the hole through which food and water are passed inside.

The Local Government have filled up the vacancy in its ranks, by appointing M. Theriault, member for Victoria. He is a Frenchman and a Catholic, and as such will represent their interests in the Government.

SWEDEN.—A further lot of Swedes numbering 59, arrived at St. John on Saturday last by the Boston steamer, and proceeded up the river in one of Mr. Lunt's steamers, on their way to New Sweden. They took a round trip via New York.

Rev. C. B. PITBLADO, we observe by the "Yarmouth Herald," preached at Arcadia, on the evening of the 9th instant, at the dedication of the new Wesleyan Church in that place. On the evening of the 14th, he delivered his lecture—"Mind your own business," to a large and appreciative audience. The Herald speaks in the highest terms of Mr. Pitblado as "a talented lecturer and orator." The proceeds are to be devoted to payment of a debt on the church here, of which he is the pastor.

We are indebted to a friend in California for late papers. There are several young men, natives of this town and county who reside there, who are doing well. We notice that Mr. James A. Malwood, C. E., arrived at San Francisco, on his way to Victoria, and from thence would proceed with other engineers on the exploration of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Malwood's many friends in his native county, will be happy to hear of his safe arrival in the far west.

NEWS OF DR. LIVINGSTONE.—The following interesting particulars regarding Dr. Livingstone are contained in letters received on the 19th of June from Dr. Kirk by Miss Livingstone daughter of the celebrated traveler, dated Zanzibar, April 30, 1871.

I will tell you that by the last news of the Arab, he had gone to a place called Manema, which is on the other side of Tanganyika lake, but this place you will not find on any map.

At Ujiji he made friends with some Arabs, who I hear have been very kind to him, and in their company visited Manema, which is about 200 miles west of the lake, and they made what we call diwaa. He and his Arab friends go to Manema, and they (the Arabs) made a good business in ivory. I suppose the doctor did what he went for and will tell us some day what he saw; but on his way back he got well ill he seems to have been hard up, as I should have said when out of cash and detained for remittance. Luckily the means were at hand and the man I sent to Ujiji to help him to all his needs, and there will still be a good store on his return to Ujiji. The expense and loss in getting things so far into a savage land are great, and at a cholera time it was well we got anything up at all, so that he will never receive the whole of what I sent and Mr. paid for. A second supply has been forwarded, but I shant be sorry if the doctor passes it on the way. I should say the parcel of clothing and boots was sent off long ago.

CITY OF RAGUSA.—This little vessel, of some twenty feet in length, which sailed from Boston some weeks since, has safely reached her destination—Queenstown. This is the second time she has crossed the Atlantic, having made a voyage westward from Cork last year. The crew consisted of two men, who took with them on each occasion, a dog for company. We hope they will not be foolishly enough to tempt Providence a third time. —Advocate.

A SAD ACCIDENT occurred at Aylesford, N. S., by which a promising lad named Patterson lost his life. Two boys were on a raft some distance from the shore. Seeing a companion on the margin of the stream, they paddled the raft in to take him on board. As he stepped on the raft, it tipped up and threw Patterson into the water. Instead of raising an alarm and seeking the assistance nearest at hand, the other boys ran to their homes, a distance of a mile and a quarter, and of course when assistance came it was too late—Patterson was dead. Through the humane exertions of Mr. Atkins, who jumped into the stream, and was so long under water that his friends feared that he too had met a watery grave, the body was recovered.—Ec.

THE SCHOOL ACT.—We learn says the (Telegraph), that the present Inspectors of Schools have been in part relieved of their regular duties, and have held a meeting in Fredericton, and acting with the Government, have adopted a code of laws by which they are to be governed in laying out the School Districts over the Province. They have been furnished plans from the Crown Lands Office, and have already made considerable progress in the work by which the country will be made ready for the operation of the new Act when it comes in force on the first day of next year.
