FREDERICTON, N. B. APRIL 8, 1893.

FEDERAL PARLIAMENT.

The session of the Federal Parliament just concluded by prorogation of the house at Ottawa last Saturday, has been one of very little interest in any way, except that it is about the shortest on record in this country, at any rate since the volume of business, has, as of late years increased very much. The session lasted only forty-seven actual working days, but notwithstanding this fact, the house got through a very large amount of work. There were some troublesome features of the session, notably the Manitoba School question, and latterly the debate on the resolution of censure condemning Mr. Wallace, comptroller of the customs, for disloyal language when speaking in public to his Orange following about the Home Rule bill, for which his colleagues Messrs. Costigan and Curran openly voted, in face of the declaration of Mr Foster that the resolution was regarded by the government as a motion of want of confidence. Since the departure of Sir John Thompson for France, Mr. Foster has been acting leader of the government in the Lower House, and it is agreed on all hands that he made a perfect muss of it. Indeed it is fortunate for him and for the government that the session was brought to a close so soon, for he discovered to the house his utter inability to defend the government from an opposition attack, or to keep his followers in line under his leadership. In fact the government closes this session with somewhat of a diminished credit and prestige throughout the country The Liberals on the other hand, appear to have come to a determination to prosecute their policy with renewed vigor for the future. Instead of "unrestricted reciprocity" "tariff reform" will be their warcry at the next election, and with the aid of such men as Dalton McCarthy, it will go hard with the government if they do not make the required concessions in the shape or a reduction of the present tariff

ELECTRIC LIGHTING.

A Bill will be introduced into the Legislature to-day by Mr. Allen empowering the city to issue debentures to the amount of $6000 at 5 per cent for the purpose of enabling the city corporation to purchase an electric plant, engine, wires and system for lighting the city streets by electricity. Those who have seen St. John by night, or any other city where the streets are lighted by electricity, cannot fail to have noted the vast superiority of such a system over that of gas lighting at present in vogue in this city, and all our citizens will welcome the change when once it is effected here. Of course as far as Queen street is concerned, the electric lights in the stores at present keep it sufficiently illuminated to satisfy the ordinary pedestrian up to 11 o'clock at night, but the side and back streets have always been either imperfectly lighted or left wholly in the dark, making it extremely unpleasant, especially in muddy or stormy weather, to walk or drive upon them at all after dark. But with the introduction of a system like that provided for in this bill, the condition of things will change entirely, and the bright electric lamps on tall poles at each corner will enable the nocturnal pedestrian to pursue his way in comtort. When this improvement has been actually inaugurated and the electric railway established between here and Marysville, of which Mr. Coleman is the promoter, having, it understood, plenty of American capital at his back to insure the success of the scheme, Fredericton will feel itself fully on equality with its sister cities either in the Dominion or the United States.

This Column is Open For Communications, and Will Contain Articles of Special Interest to Every Teacher.—Teachers Wishing for Information on Any School Question Can Obtain the Same by Enquiring Through This Column.

Men are at work tearing down the collegiate building on George street, one of the oldest school buildings in New Brunswick, and many of the older inhabitants of Fredericton have received instructions within its walls. This building is the property of the U. N. B. The arrangements formerly existing between the university and the board of school trustees whereby the collegiate school was established as a feeder to the university and enjoyed out of the funds of the latter a grant of $1,000 per year towards payment of school teachers, terminated at the end of 1892. The grant was at that time withdrawn and permission was given the school trustees to occupy the collegiate school building till next June free oo tharge. At that time it is expected the new school building on York street will be ready for occupation, and the Grammar school will will be moved up there.

What's the Answer?

She was a bright mathematical scholar and pretty, and when she rattled at the stamp window and laid down a dollar bill the handsome young clerk in a blue necktie on the inside was all attention.

"There's a dollar," she said: "give me four times as many twos as ones and the rest in three's.

"I beg your pardon," he stammered.

She repeated her request.

"Certainly," he said, and began to lay out the stamps.

He worked at it ten minutes without success, she waited patiently the meanwhile.

"He wasn't busy with anyone else and she didn't seem to mind watching him calculate, so she gave him another five minutes.

Then a customer came in.

"Just keep the dollar," she said sweetly, "and I'll come around in the morning and get the stamps in the proper proportions."

He thought she was becoming sarcastic and turned to wait on the next customer, but when he looked again for the girl of the mathematical turn she was gone.

That evening he visited the newspaper office for counsel and advice, and the next day when she called he swore there wasn't a three-cent stamp in the office.

Now why did the clerk lie?

Study in the Public Schools.

Solicitor General White introduced a bill last week to provide for the study in the public schools of the nature and effect of alcoholic drinks and narcotics on the human system. The bill was advocated by the W. C. T. U

Section 1 provides that appropriate instruction shall be given in the public schools as to the nature of alcoholic drinks and narcotics, including tobacco, and special instruction as to their effects upon the human system, in connection with the several divisions of the subjects of relative physiology and hygine, all of which subjects shall be studied and taught as thoroughly as other branches in said schools. Such instruction regarding physiology and hygeine laws and the effects of alcoholic drinks and narcotics shall be given orally, with suitable text books in the hands of the pupils, and from text books as well regarded to the capacities of the pupils as other text books are, and such instruction shall be given as aforesaid in all the schools in the province receiving public grants.

2. The text books to be used for the instruction required to be given by the preceeding section of this act shall be prescribed by the board of education, who shall notify the secretaries of the respective boards of trustees within the province of the choice of the text books so selected by them as aforesaid, and said text books used in the primary or intermediate grades shall give at least one-fourth of their space eo the consideration of the natur and effects of alcoholic drinks and narcotics, and the text books used in the higher grades shall contain at least 20 pages of matter relating to this subject.

3. It shall be the duty of the school officers and inspectors to report to the board of education any failure on the part of the trustees or teachers to carry out the provisions of the act. Upon its being shown to the board of education by such school officers, inspectors or any ratepayer, that any trustees have failed to carry out the provisions of this act, such failure shall be deemed sufficient cause for with-holding wholly or in part the county or provincial grants.

Science Notes.

The nearest fixed star is 21,000,000,000 miles from the earth.

The moon is without water and destitute of an atmosphere.

The moon gives out heat enough to affect a thermometer and make a difference of two or three degrees.

The motion of the earth around the sun is 68,305 miles an hour, over 1,000 miles a minute, or nineteen miles a second.

Water always crystallizes in the hexagonal or six-sided system, and consequently all snow crystals must be formed by the combination of hexagonal, or, in occasional cases, triangular (hemihedral) forms. The variety of snow crystals is innumerable, but they will always be found to have six sides and angles, or multiples of that number.

The land of the Nile possesses one of the most wonderful climates in the world. Here alone are found associated prepetual sunshine and practical rainlessness with verdure and fertility. The rainfall of Egypt varies from eight inches annually at Alexandria to one inch and a quarter at Cairo and nil at Luxor, where it is facetiously said to rain once in every 4,000 years.

Edgecombe's

We were talking about those beautiful new prints at 14c, in last week's paper, aud intended to continue our remarks this week and tell you about those wonderful values at 10c. and 12c. and our elegant satteens—But as our new arrived this week from Berlin and Landau we thought some of our lady friends who were waiting for them might not know it, so we take this opportunity to announce their arrival. "Perfectly Lovely"—"Awfully Stylish"—"Simply Elegant." If these rapturous expessions mean anything coming from ladies who have seen them, and we know they do for they were ladies who know a stylish and pretty garment when they see it. If they mean anything, we say those who have not been in to see them had better come at once and make their selections.

Our store is large and everybody welcome to call and see our novelties whether they wish to purchase or not.
