

And Grand Representatives Wallis and Deverall, of No. 1; Carrothers and Graham, of No. 2; Burns, Macleod and Irwin, of No. 3; Bemister and Rat-tray, of No. 4; Murdoch, of No. 6; A. G. McWhinney and Plastow, of No. 10; Stacey and Murch, of No. 12; Mapledoram and Wells, of No. 13; Robinson, of No. 15; Thos. McWhinney, of No. 16; Read and Endress, of No. 17; Cluff and Shannessey, of No. 18; Gillie, of No. 19; Ironsides and Bates, of No. 22; Leubsdorf, of No. 23; Peel and King, of No. 25; Fowlie, of No. 28; Soole, of No. 30; Belz, of No. 31; Holland and Partridge, of No. 33; Housen, of No. 35; Case and Kennedy, of No. 37; Robb, of No. 38; Easton, of No. 40; Forsyth, of No. 41; Barnsdale and Corrie, of No. 42; Dunbar and Dowler, of No. 43; Rapson and Mackay, of No. 45; Morden and Hinch, of No. 46; Ghent, of No. 48.

Representatives Laidlaw, of No. 38, and Woollard, of No. 44, being in waiting were introduced, obligated and instructed in the Grand Lodge rank.

RECEPTION OF SUPREME CHANCELLOR.

The Supreme Chancellor, being announced, was admitted under escort of the Supreme Representatives, introduced to the Grand Lodge by Supreme Representative King, received with Supreme Honors and conducted to a seat at the right of the Grand Chancellor who, in a few well-chosen words, extended a hearty welcome to this grand domain.

The Supreme Chancellor, notwithstanding the fact that he was visibly suffering from the effects of his recent illness, responded and addressed the Grand Lodge in a most eloquent manner, holding the attention of the members for fully an hour and a half. His address covered a great number of subjects each one of which had a practical bearing and being made interesting and instructive cannot but have left a lasting impression on all present and which, without doubt, will culminate in great good to the order in this grand domain. At its conclusion, assisted by Supreme Representatives King and McKellar, he exemplified the secret work in its entirety.

Supreme Representative King offered the following, which was adopted by a rising vote amid loud applause :