IT IS A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF Nervous Prostration, Debility of Old Age, Nervous Headache Indigestion and Dyspepsis Heartburn and Sour Stomach, Weight and Tenderness in Stomach, Sick Headache, Female Weakness, Nervous Chills, Loss of Appetite Paralysis. Frightful Dreams. Nervous Paroxysms and Dizziness and Ringing in the Ears, Nervous Choking, Weakness of Extremities and Fainting, Impure and Impoverished Blood, Hot Flashes, Palpitation of the Heart, Mental Despondency, Boils and Carbuncles, Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Ulcers, Sleeplessness. St. Vitus' Dance, Consumption of the Lungs, Nervousness of Females, Catarrh of the Lungs, Bronchitis and Chronie Cough, Nervousness of Old Age, Neuralgia, Pains in the Heart, Liver Complaint, Pains in the Back. Chronic Diarrhœa. Failing Health, Delicate and Scrofulous Children, Summer Complaint of Infants. All these and many other complaints cured by this wonderful Nervine Tonic, NERVOUS DISEASES. As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not con-tain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous derangement. CRAWTORDSTILLE. ISD., Aug. 29, '86. To the forest South American Medicine Co. But the stripling's heart began to fail him as the old woman began her preparations.
First she applied a magic comb to his hair, which caused it to grow long, like a girl's. Then she dressed him in beautiful clothes, such as a princess of his tribe might wear, and painted his face in a most bewitching manner.
When the young man looked at his image in the lake near by, he was so charmed that he nearly fell in love will him signifue as a modern belle might weas of scented sword grass, that was thrust in his girdle as a modern belle might weas to gro down to a certain part in his assumed character.

He was to go down to a certain part of the lake shore, which was in view of the island where the Red Sorcerer lived, and drink out of the shining bowl.

Many of the Indians would then come cross and ask him to marry them, but the supposed princess was to say she had traveled a long way to be the wife of their chief, who must come for her himself, or she would return to her native place.

When Hah-Undo-Tah heard this, he would come in his own cance. After the marriage, Odshedoph must make the opportunity to cut off the bridegroom's head with the blade of sword grass. It was now morning, and the old

It was now morning, and the old woman told the young man to start out on his mission. At first he kept up a good heart, but when a full sense of his undertaking came over him his con-age failed him. Turning to retrace his steps, the fog closed about him like a wall, and he could only find his way by going in the way he had started. It all came about as foretold. When the Indians saw the shining bowl, they came flocking to the beautiful princess, who refused to wed any one but Hah-Undo-Tah himself. And so the Red Sorcerer came after his bride in the state cance, the ribs of which were formed of living rattle-smakes, with heads pointed outward to protect the chief from his enemies.

what peaches they must be! Do you know, if you were good, you would hring me one." I remonstrated, I showed her that the thing was impracticable, and how diffi-cult it would be for a man in a dress suit to put such fruit as a peach in his pocket without the risk of being seen and pointed out. The more I objected the more bent upon her whim did she become:

"On the contrary, nothing could be easier. In the midst of the crowd com-ing and going to supper, no one would see you. Take one as if for yourself, and then hide it adroitly. Don't shrug your shoulders. Perhaps it is only a bit of childishness, but I long for one; ever since I heard of those peaches I have had a wild desire to taste them.

Promise to bring me one at least." How cou'l a man give a downright refusal to the woman he adored? I ended by murmuring a vague promise and then hastened away, but just as I turned the handle of the door she called me back. I saw her big blue eyes, bright with longing, turned upon me, and she cried once more, "Do you prom-

At midnight, supper was served, and the dancers filed into the dining room in couples. I fol-lowed, trembling, and scarcely had I en-tered before I saw the famous peaches sent by Chavot comming sent by Chevet occupying a conspicuous place in the center of the table. They were indeed magnificent! There was a pyramid of them in a china basket, carefully arranged with grape leaves, which brought out the appetiz-ing color of their velvety skins where deep red shaded into greenish white, From seeing them one could easily im-agine the fragrance and delicate flavor of the luscious rosy pulp. My eyes ca-ressed them from afar, and I thought of the joyous cries that would greet me on my return if I succeeded in carrying home a sample of this perfect fruit. They were exciting general admiration, and the more I gazed at them after more did my desire take the shape of a fard purpose. I determined to have our or two. But how? The waiters have a watchful guard over this rare and est-by delivery one hoch here and estly delicacy, our host having rever ad peaches to certain guests. From nue to time, at a sign from my chief, use butler would daintily take one, cut it with a silver knife, and present the two

A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITAS' DANCE OR CHOREA.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1987. CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1987. My daughter, eleven years old, was severely a ticted with St. Vitus' Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half botues of South American Ner-vine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause.
