Fred Goodspeed's Case Postponed to Next Circuit

Will Come Up January 6th-True Bill Against Dan Taylor—Present Circuit Court Has a Lengthy Civil Docket.

The trial of Fred Goodspeed, under charge of being an accessary to Frank Higgins in the murder of Willie Doherty, has been postponed until the sitting the next circuit court on Tuesday, January 6.

Before Judge Hanington Tuesday morning the postponement was asked for by Mr. McKeown for the crown and Mr. Morrill, counsel for Goodspeed, both of whom desire that the case shall stand until the matter of Higgins' appeal is finally settled. The judge granted their request.

There is only one criminal cause to come before the court, and that is the case of Dan Taylor, charged with lar-ceny. The grand jury found a true oill against him yesterday morning.
The civil docket is as follows:

JURY CAUSES, REMANET. 1.-Amos v. The D. A. Ry-C. N. Skin-

The first case to come up will be the King against Dan Taylor, which will begin tomorrow morning.

The court was opened in due form by Judge Hanington shortly after eleven o'clock. The following members responded to the roll call of the grand they. Chas Welaughlin foreman: r: Chas. McLaughlin, foreman; ary Maher, James Ready, Charles re list of petit jurymen summoned are: R. Duncan Smith, John Walsh, A. Jack, W. E. Nobles, Wm. Kerr, Robt. Reed, Jos. Ruddick, G. H. Belyea, John A. Leonard, Frank C. Holman, John Richards, T. C. Olive, John S. Machum, L. E. Smith, G. Gorbell, W. E. Norman, W. R. Robertson;! J. R. Greer, Frank Watson, John P. Gregory.

Hanington, after expressing his appreciation of the large attendance, informed the jurymen that their duties, Only one matter of a criminal nature would come before them, and that should not detain them long. He thought it best not to discharge them diately after their duties were completed, but would hold them in case of emergencies arising during the circuit, though they would not be expected to return unless summoned especially. The only criminal case to ceny. In this connection his honor gave a brief resume of the suspicious circumstances connected with the loss of $30 by John Doherty while in Dan Taylor's house, and told the jury they should have but little difficulty in finding a true bill against him and sending him up for trial. In conclusion his honor, expressed his satisfaction with ns shown to exist in the city by the lack of criminal entries on the docket, though this was by no means surprising in a city so well governed as St. John. The witnesses to appear before the grand jury in the Taylor case were sworn, and while the jury was out the clerk presented the official returns from the chief justice retaffirming the conviction of the lower court in the reserved case of Frank Higgins. The jury returned at twelve o'clock with a true bill against Taylor. After stating that the crown was ready with the case against Taylor, Mr. McKeown gave the court a surprise by stating that as soon as that case was concluded the crown was ready to proceed against Fred Good-

He and Mr. Morrill held a hurried conversation at the conclusion of which Mr. McKeown said that as the defense preferred a postponement of the case he would request that it be allowed to stand over till the next circuit. Mr. Morrill had thought that this was the understanding and Mr. McKeown was not prepared to say that it had not been. As affairs stood he would in the absence of the attorney general take the responsibility of asking that the case be postponed. The judge acceded and ordered the prisoner held until the

SHAH AT THE PHONE.

Often the Shah of Persia had heard of the telephone, but he had never seen one until recently, at Contrexeville, and he was so enchanted with it that he at once expressed a desire to converse with someone by means of it.

He was asked to select the person with whom he desired to talk, and he named a wealthy resident of Mirecourt. Then the following conversation took pleas:

"Hello, hello," said the Shah in his nost courteous tone, "Hello, what is it?" answered a rough, coarse voice.

It is said that since this incident occurred the Shah's interest in the telephone has greatly decreased.

With the congratulations going to Manager Hubbard, whose enterprise, energy and business ability have made such a state of affairs possible, there should go also some recognition of the painstaking careful work and untiring courtesy hown by his assistants, F. In previous years our dates have been later in the month, and it was on-ly because these dates had been taken by other exhibitions that we changed. However, viewed from almost every aspect the early date has been satisactory. Even the roots and vegetables were surprisingly well develop-ed and made a display quite equal to that made at Halifax ten days later. The fruit exhibit suffered both in uantity and quality, and it is rather uestionable whether, at such an early late, anything but the early fruits should be placed on the prize list. The display of live stock was the argest and choicest aggregation of maritime province stock ever got together here. No Quebec nor Ontari ive stock was shown as in previo years, and our sheds and pens were filled to overflowing with the exhibits of our maritime provinces. The only exhibits coming from outside were the French coach and standard bred and Cleveland Bay horses from Lewiston and Calais, and some poultry from the latter place.

A GREAT PREACHER. Frederick W. Robertson is a striking figure in the religious history of the nine teenth century. His personality was as great a power as his words, and was the source of an attraction which has been felt by the most diverse minds. An eminent bishop recently pronounced Robertson the greatest spiritual force of the last century in England, and Principal Fairbairn has said that "no body of sermons preached by any man in the nineteenth century has had the same reformative power on the generation that immediately succeeded him as those of Robertson." Dean Stanley has compared him as a preacher with Newman and Arnold, and pronounced him as superior to either. A BELIEVER IN THE BEST FOR THE YOUNG.

To the Editor of the Sun: HOPEWELL CAPE, Nov. 24. Sir—The way of the transgressor is hard, and likewise, though there is no necessary connection, is the way of the conscientious Scott Act inspector for Albert. A delegation of temperance people appeared before the county people appeared before the county council last January and urged the appointment of a Scott Act inspector with such energy that the council decided to make the appointment. After much deliberation they decided to offer the position to Henry A. Stiles of Beaver Brook, a Baptist deacon and a life long temperance man. Mr. Stiles has always been a strong party man of the liberal persuasion, but he; to

In July a man was convicted of violating the Canada Temperance Act, paid the fine to the migistrate, who, as is customary in other Scott Act counties, paid the amount to the inspector. A few days later a criminal charge of receiving money under false pretences had to be defended by the inspector. Again he was acquitted, but the expense and annoyance was his. In September he failed to secure the conviction of a man against whom he had laid an information. In cases of this kind the necessary costs must be paid by the failed to secure the conviction of a man against whom he had laid an information. However, the constable entered a civil suit against the inspector to Lawson Boston $500. Treher had a civil suit against the inspector to recover his costs. The case was dismissed by Magistrate Bleigh. That did not settle the matter, and today the same case is being tried by Squire Fullerton of Albert. The peculiar feature about the affair is that all
