HELLYER continued

have to first reject an old idea before learning a new one.

Frustration with the way "the Liberals are leading the country down the garden path" prompted Hellyer to leave the party and form his own.

Hellyer's short-lived 'Action Canada' party encountered the problem faced by all third parties in Canada, that is, ''inertia'' -thousands of well-wishers and few party workers.

Hellyer and many of his followers switched to the Progressive Conservative Party because they felt that " Stanfield is sensible and will put us on the right path again." They are seeking political re-alignment of the P.C.'s policies to bring them closer to the ideas of 'Action Canada.'
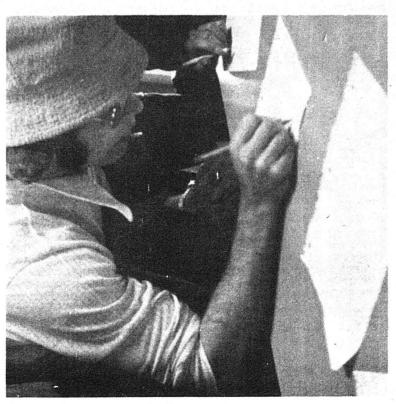

Hellyer said he agreed with Winston Churchill's view of government that "democracy may be the worst government devised by man except all others."

Chile death figure too low

(EARTH NEWS)- The new Chilean military junta claims that less than 300 people died during the recent coup in that country. But the gravediggers of Santiago bear witness that the junta's death figure is far too low.

The Miami Herald's Latin American correspondent is in Chile and he's spoken to the gravediggers and cemetary workers. One mason who seals crypts with bricks told the journalist, "Our work has tripled in the past two weeks." A cemetary official said that burials have risen to sometimes 200 a day. Before the coup the figure was only about 60 a day.

One priest revealed that after the coup he blessed 200 bodies on a university campus. A military chaplain spoke of 30 bodies his garrison recovered ten days after the coup.

According to the Herald reporter, people in Chile now believe that at least 5,000 people died during the coup and the following purge of leftists. One gravedigger told him, "There is not time enough in the day to bury them all."

Plea for volunteers at U of A rally

Jewish speakers made a plea for volunteers to go to Israel at an emergency rally held in SUB Wednesday noon. About 100 Israeli supporters attended.

Howard Leibo said the volunteers would not be involved in combat but would fill positions vacant because most of Israel's male population has been called into service.

They would be obliged to stay in Israel for at least six months, said Leibo. The first group may leave as early as next week.

Several speakers stressed the emergency of the situation in the latest outbreak of the Arab-Israeli hostilities.

Dr. Don Silverberg, a physician, said that Israel will cease to exist in three weeks if the war continues. at the current rate.

Silverberg said Israel faces a severe food shortage and he hoped a settlement would be reached soon in the U.N.

Telegrams were sent to the Students' Union at Hebrew University in Jerusalem, Golda Meir, premier of Israel . A third telegram condemning Syria and Egypt was sent to Mitchell Sharp, Canada's minister of external affairs.
