

view that affects our own little selves to the broader view that regards everyone as an "oursself".

I wonder will you be interested to know that this is the anniversary of my ^{Brother's} birth (V. H. Brown), I am sure he would rejoice to know that a man of undoubted personal honour & high ideals is so placed that he may become the leader of his country - & he would be glad it is just you, whom he knew & in whom he believed.

If ever you come west Mrs. King - you surely will - I should like to have the pleasure of showing you my four kiddies, one at least of whom I hope may be like my Brother. My husband joins me in congratulations & in kindest regards.

Yours sincerely,
Eleanor Reikia
