Montreal.

My dear Monty:

Permit me to suggest a work that I think the Cartier-Macdonald Club should be devoting itself to. It is a work that does not require very much except willing workers, and I am sure the Club has many men who would be glad to join and do their share. I think each constituency, that is at least those in which French Canadian candidates will be nominated, should be taken in hand and a thorough canvass made with a view to getting lists in proper shape in those counties, and preventing the stuffing of the lists such as will otherwise take place on the part of our opponents. It is only by taking time by the forelock in this respect that effective work can be done. My information is that the lists at present are very badly stuffed with utterly fictitious and unqualified names. This is practical work which really counts, and I sincerely trust
