Now Mr. Farmer, are you going to cheapen living in the United States?

"Beware of the Greek who comes bringing us gifts", and we might well say: "Beware of the American who comes bringing us gifts".....

They have exhausted their lumber, their timber, their coal to some extent, their natural resources. Now they say: "Up to the north there is a country which is rich in natural resources. Let us go up and get them." But, gentlemen, we have not fallen so low as to allow this country's resources to be exploited by Mr. Taft and the United States.

Because I believe this treaty threatens the Empire, I ask you to smite it with your might ..... More nations have been destroyed in prosperity than in adversity. We can afford to stand with our faces to everyone in peace and to make ourselves a free people and a free nation, but we cannot afford to be seduced by the dollar.

To your tents, Oh Israel, and let them know you are there. Let there be no uncertain sound in this fight. Fight as men who fight for conviction, as men would fight if the enemy were at their doors, but worse than that their gold is in our land to allure us. Be not afraid, Oh Israel,
