

EASTER FACT IS THAT DEATH IS NOT END OF ALL, BUT NECESSARY INCIDENT

Lessons of the Resurrection-Address by Rev. E. C. Currie at John St. Presbyterian Church.

On Easter Sunday morning at John St. Presbyterian church the pastor, Rev. E. C. Currie used the text 1 Cor. 15-20. "Now hath Christ been raised from the dead, the first fruits of them that are asleep." He pointed out the high valuation placed upon this chapter in Christian experience, that the resurrection of our Lord Jesus as the basis of Christian hope and that all naturalistic attempts to explain away the resurrection have turned out failures; that the physical resurrection remains a great mystery. The glad Easter fact from out the mass of testimony is that death is not the end of all existence but a necessary incident in our career as the sowing and the reaping are necessary incidents in the career of the seed grain. God who gives the seed grain is able to furnish the glorified spirit with a nature suitable to the higher state as man's physical organism is suited to the present life. The doctrine of the Resurrection is essential in the earlier parts of revelation but was made known with growing clearness as the ages passed on.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Centenary of J. L. Motley. Wednesday, April 15, 1914. Historical societies of America, England and Holland will celebrate today the centenary of John Lothrop Motley who was born in Dorchester, Mass., April 15, 1814, and died in Dorchester, Eng., in 1877. Dutchmen will honor the memory of the American historian and diplomat because of his great and monumental work of his life dealt with the history of Holland and the long and ultimately successful struggle of its people to maintain national independence. The little country now ruled by Queen Wilhelmina owes a debt of gratitude to Motley, for he clothed the bare bones of its glorious history with flesh and blood, and helped to keep alive the old Dutch ideals of democracy and nationality. Motley's work is more than a mere record of events-it is history of the kind that itself makes history. It is a stirring appeal to the liberty-loving spirit of all mankind. In the little stage of Holland there was acted a drama centuries long that by Motley's genius has been made to serve as a lesson and an inspiration to all the nations of the earth. It is a thrilling story of a small country that triumphed over great and powerful enemies at home and sent forth daring mariners to roam the seven seas and found on the distant shores of the new world its future metropolis.

of the libraries and archives of Europe and America, he published his immortal "History of the Rise of the Dutch Republic." This volume appeared in 1856, and its authors were immediately established among the literary elect. He developed and elaborated his first work in his "History of the United Netherlands," and also wrote "The Life and Death of John Barneveldt." Motley was of the school of Lord Macaulay and the equal of that great historian in keen scrutiny of material, literary style, and the vividness of his narration. In 1851 President Lincoln appointed Motley minister to Austria, and in 1859 President Grant made the historian his minister to Great Britain. It is a curious coincidence that Motley was born in Dorchester, Mass., and passed away in the old English city of the same name.

This is an important date in the history of the English language, for it was on April 15, 1755, that Samuel Johnson's dictionary was published. The first English dictionary, compiled three centuries ago, contained but 5,000 words, while Johnson's work included 50,000 words, and was considered a very monument of erudition. Yet Noah Webster's American dictionary, first published in 1828, defined 160,000 words or over three times as many as Johnson's work. The very latest dictionary of the English language contains 450,000 words, nearly all of them undoubtedly English either by origin or adoption. It is estimated that the English language, which is spoken by more people than any other European tongue, is now growing at the rate of 3,000 words a year. The first of the world's dictionaries was of course a Chinese compilation, and was perfected about 1100 B. C. by Pao-tse.

The Belleville Rifle Association had a practice shoot last evening when the following scores were made: Weese 90, Deuch 87, Gilby 87, Hargreavy 86, Ellis 86, Stewart 85, Moore 85, R. Day 85, Andrews 85, H. Day, 85, Corrigan 85, Vanner 84, Callaghan 83, Harman 80, Deane 80, Sneyd 80, Thompson 80, Parks 80, Allen 87, Cretney 86, Woodley 78.

NO BREACH OF TRADERS' BYLAW

Important Judgment This Morning-Clothiers and Tailors Interested. Magistrate Mason this morning dismissed the charge of breach of the transient traders' bylaw against Mr. A. E. Peske, who was in the city last week taking orders for clothes for a Toronto firm. This judgment is important to the clothing merchants and tailors of Belleville, some of whom it is understood have urged the police to take action against clothing agents. Peske has a perfect right to sell by sample. He produced his certificate from his employer in due form yesterday. Mr. Carnew, counsel for Mr. Peske had headed into the court a name of authority. In his evidence "The occupation of premises in the municipality though only for a temporary period is the essential note of difference. The first requisite to jurisdiction over any transient trade is that he shall be an occupant of premises in the municipality. Where goods are consigned to be sold on commission and they are sold in the shop or premises of the commission merchant and by him or on his behalf it is impossible to say that the owner of the goods is a transient trader merely because he happens to accompany the goods and assist in their sale. In the case of Regina vs. Appleby 30 O.R. 623 May 2nd, 1899 Boyd, Oster J. The first requirement is that defendant shall be an occupant of premises. If he does not occupy premises he does not come within the section. May 14, 1902, Divisional Court Boyd C. Rex vs. St. Pierre. "There is no power to pass a bylaw or to convict under the transient traders' clause of the Municipal Act in respect to a person being at a hotel and taking orders there for clothing to be made in a place outside of the municipality and of material corresponding with samples exhibited. The collection of the goods in the streets as to sales offering for sale by transient traders implies some exhibition and visible presentation of the goods dealt in such as occurs in sales by auction, the whole trading being carried on by the occupant of premises within the municipality. In the case of Rex vs. St. Pierre no goods were offered for sale, samples of goods are exhibited there for clothing and the transaction is carried out by the choice of some particular pattern in Ottawa (Belleville) clothing store. The garment is made and sent out of that town and forwarded to the persons giving the order at Ottawa (Belleville) who then makes payment on delivery. Neither in terms nor in substance is there according to judicial exposition an offering of goods for sale within the municipality. "Nevertheless the effect of the method of dealing may be to affect prejudicially the business of tax-paying tailor and clothier of Ottawa (Belleville)."

CHILD FATALLY SCALDED

River Valley, April 15.-A very sad event took place on Thursday of last week when the little daughter of Mrs. Chaffner was so badly scalded that it died on Friday morning. The funeral will take place on Monday, when the remains will be buried in Stockdale Cemetery. We extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Chaffner. We are pleased to hear Miss M. Rosebush is on the gain after a serious attack of laminitis.

FINISH OF O.S.D. DORMITORY

Mr. S. F. Whitham, contractor and Mr. Wm. Whitham, his nephew and superintendent of construction leave today for Toronto. They have been in Belleville mainly for the past nine months in connection with the building of the girls' dormitory at the Ontario School for the Deaf, for which Mr. S. F. Whitham was awarded the contract by the Ontario Legislature. In spite of the unseasonable weather and labor conditions, rain and snow down, the work as it stands completed is said to be one of the best in the province. No pains have been spared to make the dormitory the best in Ontario. The cost of the building is in the vicinity of $110,000. The interior work, plastering, and finishing is one of the best jobs possible. The building is entirely fireproof and has a capacity of about 200 inmates. Mr. Whitham and his nephew leave the city with best wishes for Belleville, where they have made many friends.

OBITUARY

Mr. George Robinson Osay died today at his home in Huntington township in his 87th year. He was born September 22nd, 1827 in New York and followed the occupation of farming. One daughter survives, Victoria May Casey at home. Mr. William Robert Casey is a son. Also mourning his death are a brother, Allen in Weston, Ontario and one sister, Martha Casey of this city. Mrs. Casey preceded her husband to the tomb. She was a daughter of the late Robert Sill in Weston, Ontario and one sister, Martha Casey of this city. The funeral will be held on Friday.

FORTY-NINTH REGIMENT HELD ANNUAL MEETING

The 48th annual meeting of the officers of the Forty-ninth Regiment was held yesterday at the headquarters, the armoury in Belleville. The morning was devoted to business in connection with the welfare of the regiment. At 12 o'clock a. m. Col. the Hon. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, honorary colonel of the regiment visited the meeting and in a brief address he paid high compliments to the excellent records of the regiment. This regiment had produced two ministers of militia and a premier of the Dominion. He referred to himself and Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes. After his address, Sir Mackenzie tendered an invitation to the officers to luncheon at the Quinze. Among those present were: Col. the Hon. Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Lieut. Col. W. G. Ketcheson, Major W. H. Ketcheson, Major C. M. Wallbridge, Major Alger, medical officer, Capt. J. H. Sills, adjutant, Capt. J. A. Nugent, quartermaster, Lieut. Garrison, signalling officer, Capt. E. G. Ketcheson, Hon. Col. W. G. Ketcheson, Capt. D. Green

BODY ALMOST SHIPPEN IN MILL YARD

Young Man Thought to be Frank Lennox, of Toronto, Killed at Peterborough, April 14.-About 9.30 o'clock this evening the mutilated body of a young man, whose name is thought to be Frank Lennox, was found on the middle span of the O. P. R. bridge which crosses the Otonabee River a short distance east of the station here. The body was nearly out in two by an eastbound freight on which he evidently tried to steal a ride. He had been seen around the station all afternoon, and had stated that he intended going east. A man supposed to have been with him was treated by P. C. Reid but declined to say anything about the occurrence. He is believed to have come from Millbrook. The mangled remains of the unfortunate man was removed to Belleville's undertaking parlor, where an inquest will be held tomorrow by Dr. Groor. He was about twenty-three years of age. In his pockets were found five dollars in cash, a pawn ticket, and a railway ticket to Bowmanville. It is supposed that he was intoxicated and was too near the track, though that is a question for a jury to stand beside a man on a bridge.

S. A. WEEK OF SELF DENIAL

We readily respond to the request of the Salvation Army's local representative to draw the attention of our readers to the week of self-denial, which commences on Sunday, April 19. This annual appeal is certainly a remarkable illustration of what zeal and system can accomplish. A great deal of the Army's success is due to this yearly effort to raise funds to carry on its good work of mercy, and to extend its operations where most needed. We sincerely hope that friends and admirers in our midst of this great body of workers will liberally give towards the support of its Christ-like labors. It is noticeable that in a very short time the Salvation Army has developed a most extensive missionary organization. Its evangelistic efforts have reached all continents. Its work in India is quite unique, and nothing short of miraculous. An astonishing success has been met with by the Army in Korea and Japan and Java, and among aboriginal people. The Salvation Army has adopted methods that are likely to bring distinct success. The Canadian branch is quite a number of social institutions which must be an asset to the country. A huge movement of this description cannot be carried on, of course, without expending money. It is the object of the effort will meet with the success it deserves. Donations may be sent to the officers direct.

MUSIC OF HIGH ORDER

Sacred Oratorio Interpreted by Baptist Choir Last Evening. The public last evening had an opportunity of hearing interpreted the sacred oratorio "Christ and His Soldiers" in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church. This is a masterly composition by John Farmer of Bellin College, Oxford, England. The attendance was very large and great praise was given the conductor and the choir for their skillful rendition of the exacting numbers. The oratorio is peculiarly appropriate to Easter-tide as a glance at the program of numbers shows. The conductor was the choir leader, Mr. W. B. Riggs. He was supported by a full orchestra, a very large chorus and the following soloists: Soprano-Miss Margaret Brown, Mezzo Soprano-Miss M. McCormick, Contralto-Miss Katie Bowden, Contralto-Mrs. B. Doolittle, Tenor-Mr. Hylar Redfern, Bass-Mr. Fred Cook, Bass-Mr. David Bennett. The organist was Mrs. William Deaton and the pianist Miss Wanda Riggs. The contralto, although few in number were particularly strong. The sopranos, tenors and basses all sang their parts with great credit to themselves and perfect balance was maintained in the choral work. Every number showed careful training. Miss Margaret Brown, soprano, sang with much favor the soprano parts in "Hark the Glad Sound," "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," and "Hark a Voice is Sounding." Miss Katie Bowden, contralto, had very heavy demands to satisfy in the solos "And did the Son of God Appear," "By Jesus Grave," "When our Heads are Bowed with Woe," and she gave a thoroughly artistic interpretation of these numbers. Mrs. Beecher Doolittle, contralto, had one number to sing as a solo "Rock of Ages" and she delighted her hearers with the quality of her voice. Miss Marguerite McCormick, mezzo soprano, sang very beautifully and with much feeling the solo "Our Redeemer" Mr. Hylar Redfern possesses a tenor voice of very high range. He sang two numbers "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" and "The Son of God goes Forth." Mr. David Bennett a basso profundo sang "In token that thou shalt not fear." The quartet number was well received, "Jesus Died for Us" sung by Mrs. Doolittle, Miss Brown, Mr. Redfern and Mr. Bennett. The program was: Part I-The Life of Christ. Recitation Chorus-Suffer Little Children to come unto Me. Solo and chorus-Hark, the glad sound. Chorus-O come all ye faithful. Song-And did the Son of God appear. Chorus-Rise on thine on in majesty. Chorus-And the people stood before holding. Chorus-Cleft at the rocks.

NO BANK REPORT YET

Up to six o'clock on Wednesday evening, April 15th, no report had been made by the accountants working on the books of the Bank at Madoc, although street talk says it is expected within a day or so.

Therefore Deposits Were Large and it Was Difficult to Find Profitable Investment. There is little fresh information to give out in reference to the Dale's bank situation. The accountants are steadily working away at their task and as soon as their labors are concluded expect to announce their findings at a meeting of the depositors to be called for that purpose. The North Hastings Review makes the following comments in last Thursday's issue: The all absorbing topic of the week has been the closing of the doors of the banking firm of J. C. Dale & Co. It is the sensation of the history of this village. To the mind of the Madoceer the impossible has happened. So high did this firm stand in the estimation of the public, and so deeply seated was the faith in the honesty, uprightiness, and financial ability of its manager, that old and young, the widow, and the orphan, the neophyte and the aboriginal business man, one and all alike deposited their savings with the slightest doubt as to the security, and with the most perfect confidence and blindlike faith in the stability of the institution. BEAUTIFUL VIEWS OF BELLEVILLE

The Illustrated London News, circulating all over the civilized world, found in every reading room, library, shop, and train-station on March 28th, a special Canadian Supplement with its regular Edition in colors and photographs—a "thing of beauty and a joy forever." Belleville and the Bay of Quinte (with the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa) occupy two pages which compare most favorably with other Canadian localities included in this artistic and business review of Canada. Thirteen photographs in sepia from the photographs taken by Mr. Swan of the G.T.R. and Mr. Topper, for the Board of Trade, give a fair idea of our attractive surroundings, and more are to follow in subsequent issues. The Armouries, City Hall and Market, Albert College, the Chrome Industry, Mammoth Corn, Misses' Private Residence, the Fair Grounds, and Stirling Valley from the Oak Hills are among the features portrayed. The descriptive letter press accompanying the pictures (which is understood to be the literary work of the Secretary of the Board of Trade), is excellent, touching nearly all our varied activities, resources and prospects, and offering special attractions to the British Immigrants able and willing to work, who will seek homes among us in this center of opportunity and remunerative industry. We congratulate the Belleville Board of Trade on the success of this factor in their publicity campaign for Belleville and the County of Hastings.
