Closing Sale.
R. H. Sheldon, of Harlem, being about to retire from business in that village, is selling off at actual cost price his entire stock of dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, hats, etc.

Closing Sale.
H. S. Davison, of Elgin., advertises that he is selling goods at cost, and will continue to do so until his new and well selected stock is disposed of. Mr. Davison also offers for sale his business stand and dwelling.

A Neat Piece of Work.
We were shown a violin the other day on the varnishing of which J. H. Hawkins had exercised his skill. The instrument was so much improved in tone and appearance, as to lead one to think that Mr. Hawkins has discovered the lost art of finishing violins.

Our Morning Strolls.
Owing to the large amount of space required for agricultural matters during the past few weeks, we have been unable to take our customary morning strolls. We hope to be able to resume this (to us at least) pleasant part of our work next week, and expect to continue it at intervals during the winter.

Business Education.
Brockville Business College has gained a front rank among the Colleges of Canada. Nearly two hundred students have been in attendance during the past year. The course offered at this college is most thorough and complete and will afford young persons just the preparation necessary to enter upon any business calling. The rates at this school for board, books and tuition are cheaper than at any other first-class college. Write for their circulars.

Society of Friends.
The Quarterly Meeting of this denomination was held here last week, all the sessions of which were well attended. On Friday the official delegates met and transacted the business which came before them, and the Saturday session was devoted to general business. On Sunday public worship was held in the church, each service, considering the inclement weather, being very largely attended. There were several talented communications during the services, and the whole series of meetings were pervaded by a spirit of Christian fellowship and unity.

Finally Settled.
Judge McDonald made a final order on Wednesday last, in the case of the Gananoque Water Power Co., vs. the owners of property and others interested in the lowering of Charleston Lake. W. B. Carroll, appeared for ptfa., and T. H. McGuire for defts. The litigation in this case extends over a period of nearly four years, and we believe has been settled satisfactorily to all parties. The case has some very peculiar features, and is the first of its kind and importance in Canada. The amount of the award which the company will have to pay is about $15,000. The company will put on workmen at once at the outlet, and it is expected that the work will be completed this fall.

Methodist Church.
On Sunday evening, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, the Methodist Church was well filled with an audience attracted by the quarterly Sabbath school review exercises. The service was conducted by the Superintendent, Duncan Fisher, ably assisted by T. M. Porter, bible-class teacher. The Rev. Geo. Rogers, pastor of the Church, conducted the devotional portion of the service. Teachers and scholars entered into the spirit of the exercises, and the questions were answered with precision and promptitude. The singing, conducted by the Superintendent, was really excellent, and reflected much credit upon the school. The instrumental accompaniment was furnished by Miss L. Addison (organ), F. Bristow (violin) and C. Fisher (trombone).

Our Cemetery.
A meeting of the Trustees of the Methodist church was held in the lecture rooms of the South church on Monday evening last. Among other matters that came up for consideration was the need of fitting up the cemetery grounds. A feeling has prevailed throughout the neighborhood for some time that something should be done towards placing the grounds, monuments, and fences in as good a condition as possible. As nearly all the space in the old part of the cemetery is occupied, and as very little regard was paid in the past to the proper arrangement of the graves, there is no chance of laying out the grounds properly without taking up some of the coffins and re-arranging them. The need of an avenue through the centre of the cemetery was decided upon as an absolute necessity; in order to allow funeral processions to pass down to the new plot. Now it is necessary to wind around and pass over the graves. After a lengthy discussion, in which various schemes were mooted to raise the money necessary to make the needed changes and improvements, a committee was appointed consisting of Messrs. I. C. Alguire, D. Fisher, Horace Brown, and B. Lovrin, to make a careful estimate of the amount required to put each plot in as good a condition as possible. A motion was passed, authorizing the committee to employ G. W. Brown as canvasser to visit all parties who would be likely to contribute towards making the cemetery the beautiful place it ought to be. On Tuesday afternoon the trustees visited the cemetery and carefully looked over the ground and finally decided to wait until the result of Mr. Brown's canvass for subscriptions was known, when if sufficient funds are forthcoming they will at once set about putting the grounds in as good a shape as possible, with the funds at their disposal. There are, no doubt, quite a few persons who have friends lying in the Farmersville cemetery, who it will be impossible for the canvasser to reach. If any such should happen to see this article they are earnestly requested to send their contribution direct to Mr. Brown or to this office and it will be promptly acknowledged. We earnestly press this matter upon all our readers who have, or are likely to have, friends buried in the cemetery here.

Lecture.
A lecture on the Influence of Britain on India, accompanied by musical and literary selections, will be given in the Baptist Church on Friday evening at eight o'clock. A collection will be taken up on behalf of the Presbyterian mission here. All are invited. J. STEELE, B.A., Missionary Student.

Delta Fair.
Our notes of the Delta Fair having been mislaid, we are unfortunately obliged to hold over our report of the doings at this popular fair until next week. We shall probably also commence the publication of the prize list of this fair in our next issue.

Newborns.
Miss Birdsall and Miss Mason, who have been holding evangelistic meetings here for some time, have seen their labors crowned with abundant success. Numbers have been converted, and the people generally highly appreciate the labors of the evangelists, and have not been slow in expressing their appreciation in a tangible manner. Your correspondent, in common with numbers of others in this neighborhood, wishes them a God-speed in their labor of love.
