Foreign Competition

With so much competition of European fish-producing countries in the markets hitherto supplied solely by Newfoundland, the question naturally will be asked, is it wise to maintain the regulations affecting prices abroad. Were Newfoundland the sole supplier of fish foods to European countries there might be adduced a reason for price control, but in the face of excessive competition are we not, by the attitude of the Government, grasping at the shadow of fixed prices and losing the substance of demand prices? No matter what we do, we cannot hope to extort more money from European countries for our fish than these same countries pay to others who are now busily engaged in putting fish into the hands of the consumers at a much less rate than our Government will allow local exporters to sell. The whole policy then of controlled prices is suicidal, and one that will militate considerably against the marketing of our 1920 sea products. We cannot dictate, simply because we are not in a position to do so. Conditions obtaining during the war have undergone a tremendous change and whereas then Newfoundland was practically the sole supplier of fish to Europe, today all this has changed and we are no more or less than competitors with other countries whose fishing operations were perforce suspended whilst the great conflict lasted. As such we have to be governed by that immutable law of supply and demand, and any attempt to force an issue cannot terminate successfully. The case of Italy has demonstrated that fact.

Not only are our European competitors putting their fish into the Portuguese and Spanish markets, but they have gone further afield, and are making shipments to the Levant, a market which was peculiarly Newfoundland property. And not only are these competitors placing their products, but what is infinitely worse, they are underselling us and taking away the custom that has almost been our inalienable right and privilege to have held for years. Iceland and France, the latest despatches tell our exporters, are making sales in Greece at very much lower prices than we are quoting. Yet we continue, as a contemporary has it, "holding the umbrella (of the regulations) over our competitors heads while they are reaping the harvest." It is high time that common sense and a knowledge of conditions came to the rescue, otherwise Newfoundland will be not only the laughing stock of Europe, but what is a great deal worse, a back number so far as our trade connections are concerned. The entrance of France into Mediterranean markets marks a new step in the sale of fish and provides us with a formidable rival, for French fishing interests are in a position to undersell Newfoundland in every way, shape, and form. Therefore it behoves the dominion administration to walk and act warily. We are not in a position to fight France for the ultimate control of the Italian and Grecian markets, neither can we afford to continue in the way which has been adopted. Wiser and more well-balanced counsels will have to supersede those which are governing at present, otherwise trouble sure and swift will descend upon us. Forewarned is forearmed.

Marine Disaster Reported.

S.S. PRO PATRIA PASSES VESSEL BOTTOM UP.

Mute evidence of another tragedy of the sea was brought here yesterday by the captain of the French mail steamer Pro Patria, which arrived in port from St. Pierre with mails and half a hundred passengers says the North Sydney Herald of Sept. 29.

While on the run across the captain of the Pro Patria said he received a wireless message from Captain Isidore, of the trawler, Notre Dame de Dune, who reported having passed in latitude 44.14 longitude 52.10 an upturned schooner and a short distance away were two dories badly battered up. The only part of the upturned craft to be seen plainly was the bow, but there was nothing to denote her name or anything about her. Enquiries by the North Sydney Herald from the various shipping concerns here elicited nothing that could throw any light on the disaster, as no sailing vessels have been reported overdue. However, that a terrible fate befell some ship and her crew is certain. Even had the vessel come to grief, there would be some hope for those on board had they made off in the dories, but the fact that at least two dories were in close proximity to the scene of the disaster gives the impression that all hands must have perished. Had any escaped and made land news of the trouble would before this have been made known.

It was learned this morning that at least two well known skippers belonging to this town are expected here in the course of a day or two, and it was feared by their friends that perhaps the craft reported was theirs. However, these fears are groundless and surmising only brings unnecessary suffering to the families and friends of those mentioned.

Miss Katherine Hughes

AUTHOR AND LECTURER.

Although this is the first visit to St. John's of Katherine Hughes, the Canadian author and lecturer who is now in the city, she has numerous associations with Newfoundland. She is a grand-niece of the Hon. Lawrence O'Brien, whom the last generation in St. John's knew as President of the Legislative Council and of the Benevolent Irish Society, and a niece of the late Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax, who was a close friend of the late Archbishop Howley. She is also related to Sir Terence O'Brien, a former Governor of Newfoundland.

Miss Hughes, who is a native of Prince Edward Island, was brought up in a political atmosphere, and after her college course entered upon journalism as a career. For a year she was exchange editor and feature writer for the Montreal Star, later was a member of the Alberta Press Gallery. Having filled successively the offices of Provincial Archivist for Alberta and Secretary to the Premier of that Province, Miss Hughes was appointed to London as Assistant to the Agent-General for Alberta there. She resigned in 1916 and since then has devoted all her time to literary work. Besides topical writings on Canadian and Irish affairs, she is the author of biographies of Archbishop O'Brien, Sir William Van Horne and Pere Lacombe.

Miss Hughes has enjoyed special facilities for the study of Irish conditions during the past few years, and is admittedly one of the first authorities on this complicated question. She is an eloquent and forceful speaker, and during her coast to coast lecturing tour through Canada has made a profound impression everywhere upon her audiences. Citizens of St. John's are fortunate indeed to have the opportunity of hearing her, and she has expressed a keen anticipation of addressing an audience in a city where her grandfather made his first home in the New World.

There will be no admission fee for the lecture, which will be delivered in the Methodist College Hall to-morrow (Tuesday) evening.

Few Sales Effected.

Not much codfish has changed hands here, says the current issue of the Harbor Grace Standard. The catch has been a small one in this locality and the fishermen are slow to sell, hoping to see an improvement in the price. A Carbonara firm has bought the bulk of the fish caught in the outside places, the quantity coming here being "suppy" fish. One trap-owner who secured fair returns this season, has had an offer of $12 for his catch of white nape from outside buyers.

Archbishop Roche at Portugal Cove.

Yesterday the annual celebration of "Cove Sunday" was held at the Church of the Holy Rosary, Portugal Cove. His Grace the Archbishop, accompanied by Rt. Rev. Mgr. McDermott, was present. High Mass was celebrated at 11.30 o'clock, the celebrant of the Mass being Very Rev. J. J. McGrath, P.P., Bell Island, Deacon, Rev. T. J. Gough, P.P., Portugal Cove, Sub-Deacon, Rev. T. J. Flynn. It was the occasion of the unveiling of the new stained glass windows over the Sanctuary which are the gift of Hon. J. D. Ryan, K.C.S.G., M.L.C.

After Mass His Grace the Archbishop addressed those present. He reminded them that following a time honored custom he was amongst them to-day. It was but a few years ago that he came there to lay the corner stone of their new church. Through the untiring zeal of their Pastor and their own loyal co-operation that church had been rushed to completion. Last year it was his privilege to formally open for Divine Worship this new church. It was a work of which both Pastor and congregation might well feel proud.

For the past number of years each year saw some special event emphasized in connection with "Cove Sunday." This year it was the unveiling of their new stained glass windows. These windows—three in number—were real works of art, the full symmetry and just proportions of which could only be realized when the new altar was erected. The centre window was dedicated to Bishop Fleming. It depicted the scene where our Blessed Lady gave the Rosary to St. Dominick. It would remind them of a great Bishop of the past and of the patronal feast of their Church. The window on the left portrayed a scene from the life of our National Apostle, St. Patrick. It was to the memory of Father Troy for many years the Parish Priest of Torbay. It would serve to bring before them that great man who preached the Gospel to our forefathers, as well as that great missionary priest of the past who built the old church which had been taken down. The third window was dedicated to Father O'Connor for very many years their Spiritual guide. Being the story of St. John the Baptist it would remind them of the patron of the Archdiocese. By placing these windows in the Church, said the Archbishop, we shall hand down to the future parishioners and to the people of the Archdiocese generally, a chapter from the early history of this parish and Diocese.

In conclusion His Grace said that he wished to congratulate both Pastor and people on the magnificent work that had been accomplished. He did not think when the corner stone was laid that the church would be so soon completed. But due to their pastor's ability, their own earnestness and help of their many kind friends outside the parish, a great work had been done. Their church, which would do credit to a much larger parish even, had been completed, decorated and embellished too. He felt sure that it would be a great centre of Spiritual life to them, that it would advance the Kingdom of God and lead to the salvation of souls.

Biggest on Record.

2610 Passengers Landed at North Sydney From Nfld. During September. North Sydney, Oct. 1.—During the month of September the number of passengers arriving at North Sydney on the steamer Kyle from Newfoundland was 2,610, which establishes a record in outbound passenger traffic via North Sydney, and shows the importance this town occupies, although so greatly handicapped with such inadequate facilities, as admitted by the Board of Railway Commissioners the other day, at the terminus wharf.

Since April 1st to the end of September, no less than nearly 8,500 people were carried from Newfoundland by the steamer Kyle, which makes three trips a week, and the steamer Sable I., who only makes weekly trips between St. John's and North Sydney direct.

The Price will do it. Only Eighty-Three cents for Ladies' Fall and Winter Hats. There are Two Hundred Ladies' Hats at BISHOP'S, the regular prices of which range from Two Dollars to Three fifty each. They have decided to clear them out for only Eighty-Three cents each. Sale started 3.30 this Monday morning, and they feel sure the whole quantity will be sold by closing time to-day. Every woman in St. John's who is interested should go along early to this sale.

Big "Ad." Convention.

A big convention was held at Des Moines, Iowa, last week, attended by all the members of the Advertising Club of that State. The speeches were excellent and proved that "printers ink" judiciously spread brings more business than any other medium. Amongst those present was the ubiquitous Newfoundlandian in the person of Mr. Ralph Herder, representing the Red Ball Chain Stores Co., whose motto is "All over Iowa." Mr. Frank F. Syme, another Newfoundlandian, is the President and General Manager of this concern.

Obituary.

JOHN L. SLATTERY.

News of the death of J. L. Slattery, Secretary-Treasurer of the Municipal Council, was received Saturday night, and in the R. C. Churches of the city yesterday, at all the masses prayers were offered for the repose of his soul. Mr. Slattery left here some three weeks ago to enter St. Bartholomew's Hospital, New York, to undergo special treatment. An operation was performed by Dr. Steward, and the patient was making good recovery. The news of his death came as a sad surprise, and shock. Mr. Slattery was born in St. John's 60 years ago, May 1st last. One of the first pupils of the Christian Brothers, he took a deep interest in their work, and the present system of collection is the outcome of his recommendation. For more than a quarter of a century he was closely associated with the B.I.S. and for many years Vice-President. He was connected with the T.A. & B.S. for some forty years, and one of the auditors since 1908. Surviving are one brother, James, and three sisters, Mrs. O'Connell, Halifax; a Rev. Sister in Halifax and Miss Margaret, who was with him when the end came.

The late John L. Slattery was for so many years identified with the Municipal life of St. John's that there were few amongst our citizens so well known. He occupied a difficult position, one in which it is impossible for any man to avoid hostile criticism, but he was content to do his duty faithfully and fearlessly, careless of either praise or censure. No man was better acquainted with civic requirements, and no one more earnestly or more influentially endeavoured to meet them. Once a course of action was decided on his well-trained mind and marked executive ability were actively employed in its furtherance. A man of strong opinions, he never hesitated to express them, but, wise in counsel, he was ever reliable and efficient in performance. Through his lamented death the city has lost a zealous and able official whom it will be difficult to replace. St. John's has had many Chairmen of City Councils, or Commissioners and many Mayors, but the late Secretary has not inaptly been referred to, during all the administrations of the past quarter of a century as the Mayor "in posse." He rests from his labors, but neither his life nor his works will soon be forgotten.

In social life Mr. Slattery occupied an honored position. In the Benevolent Irish Society his name and influence were prominent. At the boards of sister societies no guest was more welcome. Of Irish descent he inherited to the full the wit and humor, the music and the poetry of the Motherland. As a raconteur he occupied a foremost place. His was the all too rare gift of seeing the humorous sides of life. Even old stories, when told by him, came newly minted. During recent years his health failed, but never his humor and good fellowship. Keeping well abreast of the times, and familiar with the literature of the past and present alike, he was neither conservative nor revolutionary, and yet was both in that he adhered to old traditions and old customs, whose worth was tried and tested, but never feared to lop away the mouldering branches. Ireland had no more true and loyal friend, and Newfoundland no more devoted son and citizen. John L. Slattery, though not an old man, was one of the old school. His friends knew his merits and honoured him; all alike respected him. Requiescat in pace.

St. Joseph's Vegetable Sale.

The ladies of St. Joseph's Parish have made extensive preparations for the annual Vegetable Sale which this year will be held in the Parish Hall, Plymouth Road, on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. A splendid stock of vegetables has been collected from the farmers, and this year's sale promises to eclipse those held in previous years. Candy, teas and refreshments will be sold, and to wind up the affair a grand concert in which some of our best talent will take part, will be given Thursday night.

That Salmon.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—Re this fifty-one pound salmon mentioned in your issue of the 23rd inst. I am puzzled to know what kind of line and fly were used in order to procure this fish. I am positively sure that no ordinary gear would be sufficiently strong to land a salmon of such weight, particularly in the heavy waters of the Hamber. Probably Mr. McCarthy can explain. I am,

Yours truly, FLY FISHER.

Hawser Failed to Stand Strain.

NYANZA OBLIGED TO COME TO PORT FOR NEW TOWING OUTRIG.

S.S. Nyanza arrived in port this morning and berthed at Harvey's, where she is taking coal supplies and getting a new hawser. Yesterday the Nyanza picked up the S.S. Delco in a disabled condition and started to tow her to this port. A stout hawser with about 20 fathoms of steel chain was unable to stand the strain and parted. The Delco was then "hoove to" and is now about 300 miles off port. The Nyanza will be ready to proceed to the scene during this evening, both ships are owned by the United States Shipping Board and the Furness Withy Co. are the agents.
