London, Friday, Nov. 2.

NOT TWO OF A KIND.

The registration of voter for the bye election for the Legislature in this city or Nov. 20 is proceeding smoothly and satisfactorily. Though there yet remains tonight and tomorrow upon which citizens so entitled may register and secure their right to vote, the results have already more than justified the putting in force of the new law, despite the opposition of the friends of Mr. Esery, who preferred the old, incomplete, and therefore unfair list. The system of registration on the eve of an election is infinitely superior to the old Ontario law, while the Dominion Franchise Act, with its inquisitorial provisions, and its discrimination in favor of the rich and against the poor, is in so marked contrast with the new law that surely no Londoner will ever again be found advocating that measure.

It is evident to the experts in these matters who are in attendance at the polling places, or who in committee examine the lists of those registering, that the friends of Mr. Hobbs are making large gains in consequence of these additions to lists, but we trust that a knowledge of this fact will not restrain any friend of the Government recently returned to power for another four years from making all efforts necessary to have every qualified elector put in a position to vote. The intention of the law is that every man who is 21 years of age shall have a voice in the government of his Province, and that he shall obtain it without any badgering, loss of time or expense, such as are incident to the operation of the law which the opponents of Mr. Hobbs insist shall govern elections for the Dominion. What is needed is a persistent effort now and until the last hour for registration to have registered every qualified elector, whether tenant or owner 1 ft. of the voters' list while being compiled, newcomer to the city, or simply a man of 21 years of age. All such are eligible, but they cannot vote on Nov. 20 unless they register before 10 o'clock tomorrow night.

OUTLOOK FOR CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Though the majority of the cheese factories in Canada shut down on Oct. 31, the open weather has moved not a few in the older dairy districts of this Province to continue running, and it is probable that they will be operated for another month. The summer dairy season generally continues from May 1 to Oct. 1, but some of the larger factories run for nearly eight months.

Now that the dairy season of 1894 is over a brief review of the results from the pen of Mr. J. W. Wheaton, the energetic secretary of the Western Ontario Dairy-men's Association, will interest many of our readers. Mr. Wheaton points out that our dairymen have had a very successful season as regards the price for cheese, starting with from 10 to 10½ cents for April and early May goods, and continuing through June and July at from 9½ to 10½ cents. The exceedingly dry weather of July and August caused the milk supply to fall off from one-third to one-half in the factories, covering a district as far east as Kingston, consequently the price of August goods ran up to a very high pitch about the middle of September—the highest known for many years. The buyers were freely offering 10½ cents for Augusts, while some select factories sold as high as 11, 11½ and 11½ cents. The factories were greatly elated and saw 12 cents looming in the distance. But, alas! it was only in their imaginations. After a week or two the market went down almost as quickly as it had risen, causing many of the factories to sell at ½ and ½ less than they were offered. It is hoped that our factory salesmen will profit by this little experience, and see the advantage of selling whenever their goods are ready for shipping. By doing so there will be less shrinkage in weight and the patrons will be better satisfied in getting the money regularly. Too many of our factorymen measure everything by their own local conditions and fail to recognize, especially in reference to a drought, the vast cheese producing area in Canada and elsewhere, which is not under the same conditions.

The good things that can be said of the cheese season of 1894 cannot be said of the butter trade. The market for creamy butter has been very dull this season, making it difficult for our butter men to compete successfully with the cheese factory. Special efforts are being put forth to improve the selling of our creamy butter. It has been largely the practice, heretofore, to hold the early butter on this side till the fall, when prices are higher. It is then sent across to come into competition on the British market with the fresh-made butter from Denmark and other European countries. The consequence is that our butter has been placed at a disadvantage, and has not had full justice done it. The manufacturer and shipper alike are to blame in this matter. The former has been loth to sell his early summer butter at a price that would make it profitable for dealers to handle—while the shipper has bought it, perhaps, at too high a figure, and has been forced to hold it for better prices, which were not forthcoming. What is needed is the prompt marketing of all our butter on this side of the Atlantic, and its shipment within a few days to the markets of the old world. Under no other conditions can we have prime butter, or get a good price for that which is marketed.

Cheese is king at present in Canada, however, and Mr. Wheaton says the outlook for successful dairying here is cheese-making in summer and butter-making in winter. This system, he asserts, will pay, despite the opinion of prominent dairymen in the United States to the contrary. There will be an increase in the number of cheese factories that will be converted into creameries this winter. But in Western Ontario the severe drought, which caused a falling off in the milk supply and resulted in the feeding of winter feed to the stock, has deterred not a few dairymen from launching into winter butter-making.

The three winter dairy stations, operated by the Dominion Dairy Commissioner in Western Ontario for three years back, will not be continued this winter. Prof. Robertson will confine his work in this direction to the Eastern Provinces. Winter dairy stations will be managed by his department at Wellman's Corners, in Eastern Ontario; Lennoxville, Quebec; New Perth, Prince Edward Island; Nappan, Nova Scotia, and one in New Brunswick. But the education of dairymen will be looked after with increased interest this winter by the Ontario Government. There will be two dairy schools in operation in Ontario. The successful Provincial Dairy School at Guelph will begin its third term on Jan. 15. Reports indicate that nearly enough applications are already in to supply all the students the school will accommodate.

A dairy school will be established at Kingston in connection with the School of Agriculture and Mining, and at St. Hyacinthe, Que., another school will be conducted by Dairy Commissioner Robertson's department.

Our Dairymen's Associations and kindred organizations are making active preparations for their annual conventions, which will be held during January as follows: Eastern Dairymen's Association at Gananoque, Ont., on Jan. 3 and 4; Ontario Creameries Association at Chesley on Jan. 9, 10, and 11, and the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario at Stratford, on Jan. 15, 16, and 17. The programmes are not definitely arranged yet. One of the speakers, however, who will be present at all three meetings is Mr. John Gould, of Ohio. He rendered such valuable services at Ingersoll last year that our dairymen felt that it would be almost impossible to hold a good dairy meeting without him. The principal topics for discussion at these meetings will be the butter fat system of paying for milk, winter dairying, butter and cheese making, while considerable attention will be given at one or two of them to the hog in connection with the dairy, and such subjects as will be particularly beneficial to the patron.

The butter fat system of paying for milk has arrived at a somewhat critical stage. It has been in operation long enough for people to discuss intelligently its merits and demerits. Experiments recently carried on have tended to unsettle the minds of many of our factorymen as to the best methods of carrying on the system. There is no doubt that the system is a decided improvement on the old "pooling" system, but many are in favor of changing the present basis of making up the accounts.

A CONUNDRUM.

(Montreal Star.)

Meredith was long a Martyr, and now it remains to be seen whether Martyr will be a Meredith.

A FIELD FOR THEM.

(Hamilton Times.)

Mr. Marter and Dr. Ryerson might do some missionary work in Kansas. It costs that State $155 49 per capita to support its insane. What a time fly-foot-dusting economists might have rooting around manny shelves and sink closets if Mowat made a showing like that!

A TRIBUTE TO SIR OLIVER MOWAT.

(Galt Reflector.)

It is not easy to see how another can hope to succeed where Mr. Meredith failed. Mr. Meredith had everything in his favor. He was a public man of unusual ability and standing, a gentleman in politics as well as in private life, a man against whose personal integrity no one could say a word. No greater tribute could be paid to the Mowat Government's excellent administration of affairs than its repeated triumphs over a party led by such a man as this.

THE "BEAUTIES" OF IT.

(Ridgeway Herald.)

The beautiful operation of the Dominion Franchise Act is shown by the following facts. The total number of names on the list of 1891, for Ridgeway, which is still in force is 1,011. The names proposed to be removed are 486, and those to be added are 309. It appears that, if an election should occur immediately, we should have to use a list, nearly one-half of the names on which ought to be removed, while 300 qualified electors would have no vote. In other words, a list containing only about 1,000 names is wrong to the extent of about 800.

Chattelle Will Be Defended.

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—Chattelle's friends in St. Hyacinthe have written a letter to a former resident in that vicinity who now resides in Toronto. They request that good legal counsel shall be engaged at once to defend the confessed murderer of little Jessie Keith at Listowel. The writer of the letter states that Chattelle is insane, and that he should be put in prison as a dangerous lunatic and not tried for a crime for which he is by nature not responsible. H. M. East, a Toronto barrister, has been asked to undertake the defense.

Registration Curiosities.

A Brewer's Teamster Who Has His Home in London West,

Trying to Get on the City Lists as a Sleeper Here.

Big Gains on the Registration for Mr. Hobbs—A Veteran of Nearly 100 Years Registers—The Returns Up Till This Afternoon.

Like the under dog in a fight the Press started early to shout "Registration is not fair" when the registration started. It was plain to be seen from the well known attitude of the vast majority of young men registering that the friends of Mr. Hobbs were making decided gains, and as if to accentuate their own defeat the opponents of Mr. Hobbs took the initiative in throwing out dark hints of "perjury" and "false registration" and such like. While the supporters of Mr. Hobbs have been working hard and piling up votes for him more than one instance of misrepresentation in the registration booths on the other side has come to their notice, and the suspected cases have been quietly marked, and, without undue advertising, action will be taken with them at the proper time. As instancing the anxiety of the Opposition to place apparent outsiders on the list, mention might be made of a teamster at Carleton's brewery who took the oath that he lived in the city and claims he slept there. He claimed that he had a room in the brewery reserved for his own use. He is a widower with a family. Residents of London West are prepared to swear that he slept at home all last summer. Another employee of this brewery, who also lives in London West, worked a similar scheme at last election and voted for Meredith. The case will be carried to the courts.

BIG GAINS FOR MR. HOBBS. The friends of Mr. Hobbs, who have made a careful supervision of the registration, find decisive gains in several wards. At last election it was found that by some means or another many supporters of Mr. Hobbs had been omitted from the voters' list. Not one of those will be without votes this time. It is the duty of everyone who is qualified to get on the voters' list, but unfortunately at last election at least from 125 to 150 good votes were lost to Mr. Hobbs because their names had been dropped from the list in some way.

The probability is that in the revision now in progress the friends of Mr. Hobbs will increase the number in his favor by at least 150 more than would have been possible without registration. This fact accounts for the strenuous effort that was made on behalf of friends of the Opposition candidate to prevent registration at this time, and shows why they grumbled so loudly when it was announced that registration would take place, and that every qualified man would be registered without trouble or expense.

A VETERAN REGISTERS. Patrick Delaney, 93 years of age, registered in No. 6 ward yesterday. He came from Cork, Ireland, about 70 years ago, and has lived in London and Westminster for about twenty years past. He now resides with Mr. Wm. D. Regan, over Clarke's bridge. Mr. Delaney is a fine specimen of robust manhood. He is straight as an arrow, with agility such as might be expected of a man half his age, and faculties unimpaired. He is a supporter of Mr. Hobbs.

TODAY'S REGISTRATION. Registrars and clerks at the half dozen booths were not rushed this morning, but still the showing was good. The returns from each ward up to noon are: No. 1, 23; No. 2, 21; No. 3, 37; No. 4, 28; No. 5, 17; No. 6, 7.

A SHODDY TRICK.

Citizens Victimized by Transient Cloth-Traders.

Found Their Fine Goods Were Shoddy—Interesting Action in the Division Court.

Engineers George A. Dowling and John Plaxton, of the C. P. R., were called upon some months ago by a young man named J. J. Bain, who was very slick-tongued and wanted to sell them some cloth. The goods were really fine in appearance, and the engineers, thinking it was as good as it looked, purchased a quantity, giving their note for $27 50. Bain was willing to do almost anything for them, and after the sale told the purchasers that in case they desired the goods they could do so in Toronto, where the company which he represented had a large warehouse. He gave the street and number of the place, and the engineers on their next visit to the Queen City called at the address, but found no warehouse. They became suspicious, and on finding that they had purchased shoddy goods had a warrant issued for Bain's arrest. It was too late, however, Bain had got wind of the action, boarded a west-bound train, and was soon safe in Detroit. Before going he had disposed of the notes to Frank E. Sogling, a liverman. They soon fell due and Dowling and Plaxton refused to pay. Action was entered in the Division Court, and this morning Judge Robinson gave a verdict for the plaintiffs. Mr. Sogling said he had purchased twelve of these notes from Bain, at a discount of 10 per cent. He had no idea what they were given for, or what business Bain was conducting. Moral: Buy from merchants who advertise.

Patterson & Jolly, wagon makers, city, brought action against a London townshipp farmer named Sproule. They had sold a wagon to Sproule, and he had lien upon it. The defendant sold the rig before settling with the company, and afterwards refused to pay off the lien. Sproule appeared on a judgment summons, and Judge Robinson ordered him committed to jail for 49 days. An endeavor is being made to settle.

Ocean Passage in 84 Hours.

MONTREAL, Nov. 1.—Boston and Quebec capitalists talk of building a railroad from Quebec city to the coast of Labrador to connect with a line of steamers to Liverpool. The ocean passage can be made in three and a half days by this route. A survey is being made.

You Must Register.

The Short and the Long of the Registration in Every Ward on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

All men who are not assessed as resident owners or tenants in the assessment of 1893 must register during the last four days of this week if they desire to vote at the election on November 20.

Remember that the affidavits taken up a few weeks ago have nothing to do with this election. You must register if you want a vote.

Shot Mother and Father.

REDFORD, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Wm. Gipp, of 558 Fulton street, aged 20, shot and killed his mother this morning and put two bullets in his father. He escaped. The cause of this action is unknown.

Is She Lost?

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 2.—What appears to be probable news of the loss of the ship Ivanhoe, the vessel which sailed out of this harbor Sept. 27, cool laden, for San Francisco, was brought to Port Blakey last night by Capt. Peterson, of the bark Fanny Duttard. Capt. Peterson tells the following story: On Sept. 30 while off Cape Flattery Capt. Peterson sighted a vessel four miles to windward lurching heavily and evidently in distress, though no signs were flying. About an hour later he was called by the mate who told him the vessel had disappeared. There is no doubt it was the Ivanhoe. Among the passengers on board the Ivanhoe was Fred Grant, managing editor of the Post-Intelligencer, of this city, and ex-Minister to Bolivia under President Harrison. Mrs. Marie L. Bara, an Irish woman, of Chicago, and a student of navigation named Felger.

FRIDAY, BARGAIN DAY
NOVEMBER 2.

This Store, as most people know, instituted "Bargain Day" in this city. Our success has caused other merchants to copy the idea. In many cases it is a farce. In some cases the people derive a benefit. In no case has there been such a growing popularity as at this store. We tell in plain English about the lines there are to sell. You never find us resorting to subterfuge and ambiguity, as many do, in order to bring you to the store somehow. The store is a free and easy place to trade in. Walk around. Look around. Buy or not, just as you see fit. The Price Tickets do all the talking. We've got no time to "coax" or "cower" people to invest. The only trouble will be on Friday. Every clerk will have to do the work of two, making out the checks as quickly as the people pick up the merchandise.
