The Stock Market.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—There is a bullish feeling on Americans, notwithstanding the tariff complications and a belief gains ground that commerce in America is reviving.

Safe!

SINGAPORE, Aug. 13.—The steamer Nam Young, which was reported lost with all on board on Saturday, is safe to-night. Her hull and cargo were damaged.

Etna Eruptive.

ROME, Aug. 13.—The amount of the damage caused by the recent earthquake in the Province of Catania, Sicily, is estimated at $750,000. Mount Etna shows signs of a violent eruption.

Retirement of Sir James Whitehead. LONDON, Aug. 13.—Sir James Whitehead, Bart., an Advanced Liberal and Home Ruler and ex-Lord Mayor of London, has withdrawn from Parliament on account of ill-health. He sat for Leicester.

Restrictions Relaxed.

ROME, Aug. 13.—The Italian Government has given exequaturs to eight of the 32 bishops from whom this recognition had been withheld. The rest of the exequaturs will be granted probably next fall.

Severe Loss for China.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—It is very unfortunate that the new rifle factory and steel and iron works, established by the viceroys, Chang Chi Tung, of Hu Kuang, at Han Yang, should be destroyed by an incendiary fire. The loss will amount to $1,000,000.

Regal Raiment.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—It is only outside of Russia that it is possible to publish certain details of the splendid fete attending the marriage of the Czar's daughter. It is contraband to print in Russian newspapers the fact that at the wedding ceremony the Empress of Russia was dressed in blue moire antique, thickly embroidered with silver. Her Majesty's jewels were sapphires and diamonds. The dress of the bride was entirely of silver cloth with a train of crimson velvet bordered with ermine. On her head was a large diamond tiara, behind which was a bridal wreath, and then on top of the head was a small diamond crown worn by all imperial brides at their weddings. Some time ago all the newspapers in Russia received an order forbidding in future any reference to the dresses worn by the Empress on state and public occasions. This was done in consequence of the Russian newspapers having incoherently described her Majesty as wearing a dress which, at the time, was altogether out of fashion.

The Tenants Bill.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Lord Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty, moved the second reading of the Evicted Tenants Bill in the House of Lords this afternoon.

Lord Spencer reviewed and defended the bill. Two officers he said, had the landlords of the Irish nation considered of vital importance, and passed others hateful to them. Now there was an opportunity to make a concession which might not recur. He recalled the fact that the rejection of the Compensation for Disturbance Bill by the House of Lords had been followed by a terrible outbreak of crime in Ireland. He would not prophesy that a similar outbreak would follow the rejection of the bill under discussion; but the rejection of this measure would exasperate the people of Ireland, who are now enjoying the greatest quietude they had had in twenty years, and were looking to Parliament for remedy for their grievances. A serious responsibility would rest upon the House of Lords if it rejected the bill.

The Duke of Argyll (Liberal-Unionist) strongly opposed the bill. He said that he rejoiced that twice within a year the House of Lords had had a great duty to perform. It had already redeemed Ireland from a great crisis and England from a great disaster, and it again would be ready to perform its duty.

The debate was continued by the Marquis of Lansdowne, the Marquis of Londonderry, Baron Tweedmouth and others.

Heaps of Gold!

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The stories of wonderful gold discoveries in Western Australia are confirmed by an official dispatch. The details of the principal find near Coolgardie had already reached London. A party of six were returning from an unsuccessful prospecting tour on May 8. When in camp one night they separated to test and examine the neighborhood. A man named Mills came to one of the many large "blows" which are characteristic of the country. He was astonished, on rubbing his hand across a protruding piece of stone, to see gold standing out prominently. He knocked a large piece off a boulder, and at his feet lay a magnificent specimen literally studded with coarse gold, while before him, dazzling his eyes, was a magnificent reef of almost pure gold, a fortune in itself. Mills, taking several pieces from the reef, placed them in his bosom, and, carefully covering the reef with earth, found his mates. On the next morning 25 acres were pegged off, and the adjoining blocks at each end were also taken up. One man went to town and bought a dolly, the largest he could procure. In one day they dollyed 1,000 ounces, and in a short time had nearly $100,000 worth of ore. On June 23 they packed it in a cart, and landed the treasure at the Union Bank. The manager weighed the gold, and it turned the scales at 4,280 ounces.

A few days after the discovery became public. One lump has been taken from the reef containing more gold than ore. It weighed 240 pounds and it worth $20,000. Of course there is immense excitement in the region, and many other discoveries are reported, but there is unlikely to be anything left for late comers.

Sacked His Wives.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Odd stories are coming from Constantinople in connection with the recent earthquake. One has been told of Gussuf Block, physician of the Sultan. The earthquake damaged the part of the palace in which he lives, and suddenly two favorite wives of the Sultan were precipitated through the ceiling into the doctor's room. All three fled from the building before it collapsed, and found the Sultan himself in the courtyard. The stern practice of Islam left the Sultan no choice but to tie up his two wives in sacks and plunge them into the Bosphorus, they having been gazed upon by a profane Gaiour. Fortunately the Sultan cherished affection for both of them, and having consulted the Grand Mufti, he saw his way to have them punished symbolically. They were put into sacks, which were properly sewed up and duly taken to a sequestered spot on the banks of the Bosphorus, and in the presence of a number of praying Muslims, gently dipped into the soft blue waters, after which the women were deemed to be purified. They were then removed to a new home and restored to their conjugal rights.

Rumblings From the Seat of War. LONDON, Aug. 13.—A correspondent in Shanghai says there were only a few ironclads among the vessels that attacked Port Arthur and Wei-Hai-Wei. The most of the fleet were merchantmen, which had been converted hastily into cruisers, and were carrying troops for work ashore. What has become of the Japanese fleet since the morning of the 11th nobody in Shanghai has heard. There is considerable apprehension along the Chinese coast of the Yellow Sea, and small steam vessels are scouting the coast, but no view of the hostile squadron was obtained either yesterday or today. The Chinese were alarmed greatly by the attack on Wei-Hai-Wei. More submarine mines have been laid before Taku and Wei-Hai-Wei.

A strong Chinese fleet has left the coast. The impression in Shanghai is that this fleet will seek to intercept the transports which are carrying Japanese troops to Corea.

It is rumored in St. Petersburg that England intends to propose that the powers co-operate in demanding that China and Japan withdraw their forces in Corea forthwith and intrust the government of that peninsula to an international conference. The opinion is general that Russia would never consent to such a proposition.

The Vienna correspondent of the Daily News says: England, France and Russia have agreed not to tolerate an attack on Peking. Their respective squadrons have been instructed to interfere if the Japanese attack Taku.

Woman's Curiosity.

BELGIUM, Aug. 14.—An amusing story is told here of young Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands. She and the Queen Regent were on a special train between Munich and Wurzburg last Monday. Suddenly the signal for the emergency brake was pulled, and the train halted abruptly. The guards and chief engineer hurried in alarm from carriage to carriage, asking members of the suite what the trouble was. Nobody could say. The chief engineer then approached the royal saloon. The young Queen leaned out of the window, and with the bluish of guilt all over her face, exclaimed:

"Don't you come here; I didn't do it." The young woman had pulled the signal merely to see what would happen.

IN LABOR'S FIELD.

Pullman Strikers Said to be Going Back—Cotton Operatives' Wages Cut 10 Per Cent.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—The gates of the Pullman Company's big plant at Pullman were besieged this morning by a host of the striking employees, who came seeking work, and who signified their willingness to go back to their old positions.

At 9 o'clock the general foreman found that he had 1,788 men on hand and ready for work. Others who are competent and willing are to be given work as soon as those parts of the works now closed can be opened up.

All old employees returning will get their places back until the full quota of men needed is at work. As that full number of men is but 2,000, the officials of the company feel certain that it will not be long before the works will be running in full blast again.

Among those who returned were 200 Swedes, skilled workmen, to whom the company was glad to give places.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 13.—A notice was posted in several of the mills in this city reducing wages 10 per cent, to take effect on Monday, Aug. 20, 1894. The mill managers claim they were confronted with two alternatives—to shut down till the business outlook is brighter, or to reduce the cost of production to such a figure that goods will move. The treasurers agreed that the second course was the best for all concerned. The cut will average 10 per cent.

The cooks, stewards and attendants on the Transatlantic line steamers have gone on strike at Havre on account of the poor food supplied to them while the vessels are in dock and other grievances. On Saturday 100 men on board the steamer La Touraine quit work. The company states that the strike will not cause any delay.

ANNIE LAPELLE LOCATED.

The Suicide Lived in Toronto—Looking for Her Husband.

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—The girl Annie Lapelle, whom an El Paso, Texas, dispatch says suicided yesterday in that city, belonged to this city, her father being a market gardener named Alfred Godege. Lapelle was her husband's name, and she had gone to Texas in search of her husband, who had deserted her. For some months preceding March she had been in the employment of Mr. Lancelfield, public librarian, of Hamilton.

An improvement is shown in the receipts of gold at the Washington treasury. The rate of exchange has fallen and no further export of gold is looked for in the immediate future.

Dr. J. L. Wilson, of Terre Haute, Ind., has in his possession a bell with an interesting history. It was cast in Spain in 1708, and during Bonaparte's invasion of Spain it was captured and sent to France. In 1834 it was presented to Joseph Piquet, heading a group of French emigrants, who finally settled at St. Mary's, Jasper county, Ill. Mr. Piquet presented it to the church at St. Mary's in 1852, and it was used in summoning the people to worship until it was cracked by an accident and had to be removed. Recently it attracted the attention of Dr. Wilson, who found it lying neglected in the churchyard and he purchased it. The bell weighs 227 pounds and is made of copper, with a mixture of silver.

POOR IVES!

His Mind Has Apparently Become Unbalanced.

As a Result of His Trouble—He Acts Very Strangely in the Police Court—Talks About Armies, Farms and Milkmaids—Big Batch of Vags.

The Carling street headquarters of Police Magistrate Parke was well filled this morning with those who were there on business and those who had no business there. The number of "never-works" and "drunks" showed that the police must have had a regular rake-in. Some of their faces looked as though they were strangers to water for many a day, but through the darkness red blossoms shone brightly.

The police magistrate quickly disposed of them, and then called the case against Wm. H. Ives, charged with attempted blackmail upon Gus May, a local insurance agent. Mrs. Ives was early on hand. She carried her little baby in her arms, and while the docket was being disposed of, talked to her lawyer, Mr. Frank Love. Her husband was still downstairs, but before he was brought into the dock Mrs. Ives went into Chief Williams' room. The prisoner was talking loudly and waving his arm when he made his appearance. He showed every sign of mental derangement and his actions were pitiful to witness. Ives took off his hat and about half a dozen small pieces of wood inside fell to the floor. Then he imagined he had a kitten in the cage with him and ran around like a child in playful glee. His mind wandered from one subject to another—armies, farms and milkmaids being frequently mentioned. The magistrate watched Ives very closely and at Mr. McKillop's suggestion remanded him for a week. Since his first trial in jail Ives has shown signs of mental weakness, which daily has become more aggravated. It is said he did not recognize his wife when she visited him at the jail one day, but mistook her for a milkmaid. In the meantime he will be examined, and if adjudged insane will be removed to the asylum. May, the plaintiff, was present, and stated that he had never before to his knowledge seen the prisoner.

CARRIED A SAND BAG. On the desk in front of Chief Williams was an oval-shaped sand bag about a foot in length. It played an important part in convicting Mike Quinn, James Wellman and John Welch. The trio had been arrested on the C. P. R. track the other morning by P. Cs. Black and Weir. Quinn was in possession of the weapon, but claimed that a partner who had run away from him was the real owner.

The P. M.—How do you make a living? Quinn—Working at McClary's. Chief Williams—No, he doesn't; he has been out of the city for some time. Quinn's father, who is a respectable resident of the city, pleaded for the boy. Mike had been sick for a good while.

Chief Williams—You sit down till you are called upon. You tell a very different story to your son.

Wellman was a very tough-looking fellow, but his hands were very tender, and Chief Williams showed them to the magistrate to prove that the owner was not very fond of work.

Welch was asked what he was doing on the track.

"I have just got back from a trip to the old country. I took some cattle over," said he.

"Where is all your money?" asked the court.

"I only got $2 10s for the trip, and I had a good time over there."

One month sleep.

SLEPT IN A BOX CAR. John Clark, Wm. Smalley and Ed. Powers confessed to having been found in a C. P. R. box car, soundly snoring. Clark had been before the magistrate before, and pleaded hard to be let off.

"Can't do it," said the magistrate, and down the trio went for a month.

James Doyle, George Daly and James Kelly had also been trespassing on C. P. R. property. Doyle claimed his home was on William street north. He had been away since last spring. He was allowed to go, the chief stating that Doyle's parents were respectable people. The two pals, Daly and Kelly, chipped a few notes to the effect that they were cigarmakers and very anxious to work. The yarn did not go, and they will recuperate for fifteen days with the governor of the jail.

OTHER CASES. James Robinson and A. Cake, two little chaps, were up for playing ball on the street. Mr. Moore, a resident of Simcoe, between Maitland and William, was the complainant, and he stated that the offense was very common. He had told Robinson several times to quit, but the only reply he received was to "Go to—". There was a large barn in the back, and it was a regular hangout for boys who drank and did everything that was bad. Cake was allowed to go. Robinson was given a lecture and allowed off on suspended sentence, and with a warning that if he appeared in court again he would go down.

Robert Baldwin was summoned for breach of the by-law. He did not appear, but his father, Maurice, did, and told the magistrate that Bob was away hauling gravel. The boy will appear in the morning.

Oliver Richardson, on a charge of neglecting to support his family, was remanded till Thursday. One drunk was fined $5 or twenty days and two were discharged.

The Six Finger Club is the late stinging out in the way of clubs. Each member of this particular club must have at least six fingers on one hand. An elaborate report drawn up by the secretary shows that there are 2,173 persons in the world with six fingers to each hand and 431 with seven fingers. One individual, indeed, is the proud possessor of eight fingers to one hand.

IN FRANCE the telephone is used on many railroad main lines. On a portion of the Vincennes Railway a rather novel system is in vogue, by which at a given signal on the telegraph instrument the operator connects the telegraph wires with a telephone for verbal communication. The large Australian railways use field telephones, which may be connected with the telegraph wires at any point without interrupting the telegraphic communication.
