CROSS-EXAMINED. Cross-examined by Mr. Hellmuth, witness said he came from Detroit this morning with his brother and Hubert Dignan, of Love & Dignan, lawyers. He saw Mr. Dignan yesterday for the first time, but did not discuss the election trial with him. Mr. Dignan paid witness' fare to London, and also his brother's. Mr. Dignan had subpoened both witness and his brother for this trial. Witness had asked Mr. Dignan, as his mo-ther's legal adviser, whether he would get into trouble by ignoring the subpoena, and Mr. Dignan said he would. He had only one interview with Mr. Graydon. Witness had been expecting Graydon, because Dan Gray, a London boy, had taken his (witness') name a month before. Gray represented that he was taken the names of London voters in Detroit for the Conservative party. Witness was closely questioned about his interview with Graydon, but repeated the story exactly as he told it to Mr. Osler. He destroyed the envelope; the money was gone, and the ticket was used. (Laughter.) He had told this story for the first time this morning to a Liberal lawyer He thought Jimmy Cooper had spoken to him about it last summer. Cooper remarked to him that he (witness) had not come to London for nothing, and witness replied that he had not come down for fun. MR. HELLMUTH OBJECTS.
