DEMAND FOR HAY IS VERY STRONG

Only Twelve Loads On Market Today and These Did Not Supply the Demand.

BUTTER SUPPLY INCREASE

A Decrease in Price is Noted-Dressed Pork Went Up From $11 50 to $12 Per Hundred-Beef Still Very Scarce.

The demand for hay is very strong. Only twelve loads were in this morning, insufficient quantitiy to supply the nand. Twelve loads is a comparatively small supply for a Thursday's market, and as there has been very little in all week the price has been boosted high. The best loads went for 314 a ton, while brought in. Wheat is firm at $1 per bu.

The market was fairly well crowded with sellers of farm produce.

The Butter Supply. A noticeable increase is taking place in the amount of butter offered for sale, and corresponding decrease in price. quoted at 25c and 26c per lb. For rolls and crocks the wholesale dealers are paying only 23c to 24c per lb. The supply is daily increasing and a gradual reduc-Egg prices appear to be fairly firm. In the market hall the retail price per dozen is 20c to 21c, and 19c and 20c a dozen by the basket. The wholesale dealers aption in price is looked for pear to be overstocked, and some of them refuse to pay more than 18c to 18%c a dozen, but the majority are paying an Dressed Pork Goes Up. Dressed pork took a jump this morning frem $1150 to $12 per cwt. Very little is coming in and the butchers can see no reduction for some time, but rather an increase in price.—The jump in dressed pork comes as a result of the increase in live hogs which took place this week,

Beef is still very scarce, with very little of the best coming in. There was considerable thin winter stuff in this morning. Prices range from $9 to $11 per cwt.

Veal Plentiful. Veal is plentiful, but maintains a fairly high figure. One choice carcase sold this morning for $10 per cwt. Potatoes were rather scarce this mornand 60c was asked for single bags. wholesale price is from 50c to 55c per Vegetables were practically unchanged.

These facts go to refute the theory of despondency and attempt at suicide on the part of Mrs. McLachlan.

Miss Alice Griffith, a clerk in the same store where McLachlan was the bookkeeper, told of McLachlan's writing to Mis Nix at Sunderland, addressing the envelope in an assumed hand so the nostoffice clerks should not know of his correspondence with her. Silas Griffith, a printer in Uxbridge, told of his intimacy with the prisoner, having had a good time. The witness had also seen letters from Miss Nix to the prisoner.
