FIVE NEW CLUBS ARE

Woodstock College Is One of Them-Lucknow Refused Application Owing to Poor Rink.

Toronto, Nov. 17 .- At Saturday's meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association executive, the new clubs admitted to the association were Woodstock College, Coldwater, Centennial Hockey Club of Hamilton, Osgoode Hall of Toronto, and Union Jack A. C. of Berlin. The application of Lucknow was refused because the rink accommodation is not up to the requirements.

The Trenton club were given permission to play their games in Belleville, because of the recent destruction by fire of the Trenton rink. The reports of the executive committee and the treasurer for the season were adopted, and the resignation of the treas-urer, Dr. Wood, tendered some time ago, was formally accepted. The executive discussed the proposal to organize a national body for amateur hockey in Canada, and the matter will be brought up at the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada in Montreal next Saturday. Delegates interested in the game will be in attendance there from all parts of the country, prepared for an interchange of views which can be reported to the annual convention of the Ontario Hockey Association, to be held in Toronto at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Dec. 6.

Saturday's meeting had President H. E. Wettlaufer, of Berlin, in the chair, and the following members present: J. Ross Robertson, Toronto; Dwight J. Turner, Toronto; Charles Farquharson, Stratford; R. M. Glover, Peterboro; Sheriff J. F. Paxton, of Whitby; J. R. Beaton, Chatham; James T. Sutherland, of Kingston; A. E. Parkin has recovered sufficiently to be taken out in the country to regain his strength, and he hopes to be in shape to play ball again next spring. He is a free agent, Oakland having released him before he took sick.

WANTS TO BUY CLUB. Manager Harry Wolverton it is reported, is trying to form a syndicate of capitalists to purchase the Sacramento club from Jack Atkin. Wolverton will take a heavy interest himself, but cannot swing the deal alone.

McGill Again Won the Intercollegiate Title as Result of Saturday's Game.

Red and White Proved To Be a Much Superior Organization in Every Way.

Toronto, Nev. 17.—Hail to McGill, Intercollegiate champions for 1913, and also winners in 1912. The red and white maintained their honor, triumphantly led by their disadvantage. Often a player, with the ball safely tucked under his arm, slipped on a patch of snow and lost a golden advantage to score.

As in every game there were feafures. McCart, for Sarnia, Knowles and Price, for the Capitals, featured in the kicking. The startler of the contest, however, was the Capitals' touchdown. McCart tried to catch one of Price's spiral punts, but juggled it for a moment. Dopp, the Capitals' speedy half, followed up fast, and before McCart could get away he was on him. calibre of football exhibited, and, although most of them were Varsity supporters, they felt that the better team had won. McGill went into the struggle prepared to capture the game, and confident of their own strength to pull out a victory and cinch the championship. victory and cinch the championship.
That their confidence was not misplaced was displayed before they got going very long, and they came through in just about the way they had expected. It was a great team of well-seasoned players playing modern football in the most modern way against a tricky but badly-crippled team of speed artists.

McGill's Half Line Strong. The red and white were so strong the half line that they forced even Mc-Kenzie to stop in his tracks. Draper, Paisley and Laing are a great combina-tion of runners and kickers, and they were the nucleus of the scoring machine. Paisley and Draper kicked well and ran Paisey and Draper Ricked wen and ran back punts for gains that the blue and white wings were unable to prevent. Laing was in good form, and despite his injuries kept in the struggle to the end. He took a lot of stopping once he got going. Jeffrey at flying wing is one of the niftiest little fellows for getting round the end that have been seen here this vear. He was always in the fray, and Maynard and Carr found him pulling them down time after time before they got started. McLean a Wonder.

On the line Lemay, Donnelly and Waterous plowed and surged their way around for great gains, and the heavier blue and white line was sent crashing back before their onslaughts. The fea-ture man on the line was Red McLean, and the ginger-headed boy certainly gave the Varsity wing men all they could handle. He is a regular horse for work. Jimmy Lee was given a rough passage. Shag's trick plays, which he has christened the X formations, certainly were nuzzlers for the blue and white to try and solve. McGill lines up in the Americans can style, with three distinct lines guard-ing the last man who holds the ball. Two of these formations start for the line, come to a full stop in front of their op-ponents, while the third formation makes fake buck. The man with the ball then starts on the tear for whatever hole or opening he sees, and usually the rival ving men are so bewildered that tre tackling every man but the right one.
When they tried it the first couple of times it looked like the Carlisle Indians and Jim Thorpe at work.

The Varsity Cripples. Varsity deserve a lot of credit for their uphill fight, though, and their truggle against overwhelming odds in the third quarter found many a cheer forthcoming from the fans for their forthcoming from the fans for their work. They threw away so many chances by bad planning and manoeuvring that they did not deserve to win. They had about half as many more chances as McCill, but falled to take advantage of them. Every point in the game, however, was earned and there was none of the fluky scoring so often seen in other crucial struggles. McKenzie was the star for the Varsity team, in fact he was the only man who was able to stand the configuration of the half line and play anything of the fluky scoring and play anything of the fluky scoring and manoeuvring that they did not deserve to win. They had also taking the morning game tickets for this year's Harvard-Yale tickets for the football games, the Harvard Athletic football games, the Harvard Athletic for the world's tour now stands 14 to 14, with one game tied. His wonderful work, both at booting the ball and his heady runs. at booting the ball and his heady runs. displayed his calibre more than ever. Captain Maynard tried, but in vain, as he was a hopeless cripple, while Leeming Carr was allowed to stay on about two minutes too long. It was not the Hamilton boy's fault, as he was hurt in the first quarter. Charlie Gage played a great game at flying wing until he was laid low and had to retire. Pete Campbell found himself cornered at every move, as the McGill outside men were too fast for the blue and white. Frank too fast for the blue and white. Frank Knight, Blackstock, Cassels and Sheehy were the pick of the line, while Schwalm

Argos' Great Win Over Ottawa Combines Due to His Clever Work.

Combines Were Confident of Victory, and Result Came as a Big Surprise to Ottawa Fans.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—The $,000 people who attended the Argo-Ottawa fixture were treated to a fair brand of Rugby at Rosedale on Saturday afternoon, when the Double Blue surprised the natives and fairly smothered the Combines. It was a complete surprise to the Ottawa team, for so assured of victory were they that they began to talk of the they had already begun to talk of the play-off with the Tigers, which they fig-ured would be in Montreal on Saturday. HACKNEYS PROMINEN AT NEW YORK SHOW

They Appear in Far Greater Numbers Than at Show of Twenty Years

[Canadlan Press.]

New York, Nov. 17 .- After the varming up session on Saturday the National Horse Show got under way today for six days and nights of real business. Hackneys had their innings today, and they appeared in far greater numbers than were seen in the National Horse Show of twenty years ago. Where nearly every other breed has lost ground these descendants of the ancient English trotting horse have made headway until they now dominate the heavy harness classes. In the early days of the horse show docked trotters were winning everylast season he tendered the team a thing and a hackney in harness was so rare as to be almost a curiosity.
