The laughing sunbeams Glint o'er the stream, Sending bright picture With transient glean Responsive light :

In wavelets glisten Refulgent bright. The moonbeams silve The waters o'er

Chasing dark shadows Beyond the shore The singing river, Joyous and gay, Glides softly onward

All thro' the day

The sobbing river, In tossing waves, Tells of the lost ones In watery graves

Glide on fair river With majesty, Carry thy secret

Literature.

ALREADY DEAD

Lina Herbert was in the merriest mood. into the nursery, and desired an audience from her daughter.

The children, finding themselves about to be deprived of so valuable and congenial a companion, vociferously demanded Lina should be left to add to their hilarity. "I will come back in a minute," said what he had heard. she, soothingly, supposing some grave domestic duty to be the cause of her temnot. Lina?" he asked.

porary removal. She found, much to her astonishment, that however pertaining to domestic affairs the tirade was to be, its nature was the conquest he has made, and adds, 'she

"Oh, not at all, Mr. Marlow.

right, Lina; he is rich, I am poor."

Harry was charmed by her independ

"And whom should you marry?"

occurrence was casually mentioned by was more closely watched than ever.

we shall see.

But Harry was not at his wits' end, a and a proposition to repair to the nursery.

with the two-year old Gracie, until he had

Lina grasped it, but took no further pointing to the billet.

some time after.

was a paragraph:

poverty impoverish me."

ly into her eyes, and said :

will manage the rest."

Silence gave consent.

continue her childish sports. She followed in her mother's footsteps across the hall, and into the library, and and answered . stood before her looking anxiously. "I have a message from your father,

Lina," commenced Mrs. Herbert. Lina Herbert was a pretty girl at all times, but at this moment she looked charming. There was lingering in her black eyes the charm of brightness which her youthful pastime had imparted to them. Her cheeks were flushed, and the me. Promise to love, to marry me, and I color had hightened by the unexpected will labor hard to that end." appearance of her mother. Her mouth was partially opened, as if to catch some great piece of news, and yet her distended nostrils betokened some dread anxiety. After re-adjusting her dress, Mrs. Herbert continued: "Your father and I have been talking over a matter which seems pending between yourself and Harry Marlow. While upon her cherry red lips, and felt that Mr. and Mrs. Herbert were about putwe have known him for many years, we although resolved to become Harry Mar ting out the light in their bed chamber, cannot consent to your ever becoming his low's wife, she had an ordeal to pas wife. Your father is immovable on this through less desirable than necessary. are substantial reasons for this.'

"Your substantial reasons are of course relinquish until Mr. Marlow had left. To Mr. Herbert lost no time in dressing I be willing to become a poor man's wife, hieroglyphics as in English, or contained to give way in the harness. and abide the consequences. Harry will Watts' Hymns, or Mother Goose's Melo "Are you a physician, sir? If so, do and capable of rising. And as I am nearmyself capable of judging for myself."

This was spoken in a most decided tone, rels. Mr. Herbert having been a listener, at this moment quickly walked up to Lina and said:

yourself, it shall not be under my roof. and many pleasant love chats they had to him by asking another. You owe a debt of gratitude and obedience to your parents, which they demand of you. What I say I mean, depend upon her little sister Mary, who was her conit." Then raising his hand to strengthen stant companion in these rambles. his resolution, he added, "I declare if you should ever marry Harry Marlow, I should discard you forever. I would never toler. ate either of you. The moment you become his wife I shall regard you as dead." Lina dropped her eyes, and Mrs. Here at Mr. Herbert's house, fully prepared bert almost winced under the threatening tone of her husband. The silence which ensued was interrupted by a servant announcing that "a gen- leave when Lina joined them. A few mo- waived him to enter. tleman in the parlor wished to speak with ments of trio conversation sufficed Harry, Mr. Herbert," Mother and daughter withdrew at the Lina's favorite portion of the house, was request of Mr. Herbert to show the gentleman into the library. The host turned ashy pale as his guest entered. "Good morning, Mr. Flintskin," said the trembling man.

"Good morning," was the cool reply, and he seated himself in the armchair which Mr. Herbert pushed toward him. "Are you well?" inquired Mr. Herber blandly.

Not heeding the query, Mr. Flintskin continued:

intention. He declares not only to have been encouraged, but almost to have been "I have come to say that the account proposed to, by your father, for you. I consider him a contemptible puppy, but between us is to be settled without delay. The mortgage I hold on your house will be prudent in your receptions of him. be foreclosed in ten days, if you do not Do nothing to excite suspicions of our in discharge the debt before that time. If, tentions for the future. That same eyening Mr. Fitzgerald call-George Herbert, you can raise money for the gambling table, you can surely maned; that same evening Mr. Fitzgerald age to pay your debts." proposed and was rejected. What !- when ?-how do you know ! Mr. Herbert's indignation knew no bounds when his hoped for son-in-law ap--you assert what you shall prove," stamprised him of this fact. mered Mr. Herbert. He summoned Lina to him "And I can prove what I assert," was the curt reply.

"What does this mean? You refused Thomas Fitzgerald! If it be to marry Mr. Herbert was completely silenced. In the humblest tone he begged for leave Harry Marlow, you may better recall Fitz. of explanation, but Mr. Flintskin desired gerald, for never will you find the opporbut a direct recognition of the indebted. tunity to engage yourself to, or run away ness, and cancelling of the same, which with, Harry Marlow!""

Mr. Herbert offered in the following form: Lina looked the picture of humility. Within her were other motives than sub-"You hold, at present, my note for $20,000, for which you have, as security, a mission. She wrote a note to Harry, remortgage on my house. I will add to this lating each occurrence of the last twentya mortgage on my furniture, provided four hours, and mailed it to his office. In the afternoon of the following day he you will give me an extension of six months, and will also allow you a liberal called, and found Lima amusing the pet bonus for this favor, as I shall be able, at Grace upon her lap. She was again used the expiration of that time, to meet these as the medium of correspondence: "If your father insists, dearest, upon

Mr. Flintskin accepted the proposition a paper was drawn up to this effect, and |-by naming the wedding day six months an arrangement made to meet at a certain hence." lawyers on the following day to conclude the matter. to the compromise.

When the unwelcome visitor had been politely bowed out of the front door, Mr. Herbert returned to his writing desk, and looked over his accounts. He summed them up, run his fingers through his hair, the insufferable summer months at water-"Young Fitzgerald is worth $300,000, ing-places, or among the pleasanter shade les are only about $40,000, for of farm-houses. the loan of which I will offer him a mort.

Lina Herbert was finishing a piece of usual, requested that "Dr. Conning would slight obscurity, inasmuch as the only gage on my house and furniture. Then I embroidery, when the voice of Thomas call occasionally." mortgage to my son-in-law, who will never bother me further about it. Hem!'

Such a toss of the head and waive of the land and said:

Fizzgeraid suddenly announcing his ap pearance, caused her to drop her needle. Joyous, gay, sprightly, Lina Herbert when questioned as to where her missing almost wildly from her bother me further about it. Hem!'

Such a toss of the head and waive of the her hand and said:

Fizzgeraid suddenly announcing his ap pearance, caused her to drop her needle. Joyous, gay, sprightly, Lina Herbert was, she shed floods of tears and mother's bedroom to her own, then into her father's library.

GEO, HATT & SONS.

hand did Mr. Herbert indulge in, that the "Dear Lina, so we're going to be marlarge inkstand, freshly filled, standing on ried soon. You will have a fine house, cheerful in her life. A mother's heart rived. his desk, coming in contact with his insig- fine horses, fine carriage, and a fine hus- was leaping with joy, for Mr. Fitzgerald Being much interested for the poor girl, nia of succes, was knocked from its place, band."

rolling over the splendid carpet, leaving Lina looked at him to discover what a narrow running stream for nearly a particular motive he could have in thus asserting what he called "plain truths:" Although the occurrence was calculated but defining no decided expression in his to cause some discomfort, Mr. Herbert inexpressive countenance, she picked up found relief in the fact that it had been her needle and continued her work.

produced in so good a cause. Mr. Fitzgerald had a pale gray eye, Mr. Herbert was not, by habit or pro- which grew paler as he spoke. He had had become reconciled to the match which even her misery could not quench fession, a gambler. An inordinate love small, thin lips, and a remarkably slender of money and display had been the main- and pointed nose, which corresponded parents in their every wish. spring of his present pecuniary embarras. wonderfully with his angular physique. ments. Through business he had realized | The contrast between himself and Harry attired in costly style, for he had declar- Russian and a Protestant, her heart sufficient to keep up his establishment was particularly striking at this moment ed he would dress each day/in as fine a would not obey the stern commands of respectably. But this did not satisfy him. to Lina, and as Mr. Fitzgerald lost in her suit as a tailor could make. Directly that father with whose murder she was He had borrowed money, run largely in estimation, so Mr. Marlow gained by the after he had made his obeisance to the charged. Her father reviled her. and debt, and finally, among other means, comparison. had resorted to the gambling table, hop- Harry Marlow had been sitting at his ing to retrieve his losses. But this had desk in his office for several hours, draw-launched him more deeply into the abyss ing up important documents. He had of insolvency, and his house and furniture finished them, folded them carefully, and laid them in a drawer, and cast his eyes were now in the hands of creditors. As a final resort, he had resolved to at the clock hanging upon the side of the who exclaimed—"How superb!" Mr. marry his daughter to a wealthy young | wall before him. man, possessing no other charm for his "Four o'clock; I have another hour to occupy it with-" and a nod of the Neither Mrs. Herbert nor her daughter head concluded his intention. knew of Mr. Herbert's position, nor that Taking a small sheet of note paper, he paper, tendered it to Mr. Fitzgerald, the victim. Never shall I forget the in rejecting Harry Marlow's suit he had, filled it, crossed and recrossed it, doubled saying: in his own mind, replaced it by another, it to its smallest capacity, and placed it Lina Herbert was not a girl to be easily in his pocket book. thwarted. There was as yet no real en- He left his office, went to dinner, and gagement existing between Harry Mar- immediately after was wending his way ow and herself, but an understanding towards Mr. Herbert's house.

that when his business would sanction it The nursery door was closed for the they should contract an engagement .- night when Henry Marlow arrived. The To inform Harry that Mr. Herbert had re- paper in the pocket book was to be trans romping with her younger sisters and fused his consent would therefore be ferred to Lina; but as Mr. Fitzgerald's Please put it carefully away, Mrs. Herbrothers, when her mother, wearing a rather premature. But much to her ease presence was added to that of the family's bert, till after the ceremony to-morrow," serious and solemn expression, walked of mind, a circumstance occurred within a the task proved to be doubly difficult, week, from the day of her restrictions, and trebly necessary, as the family exthreats, &c., from her father, which re- pected to leave the city in the course of a close of the evening, and begging per- a faint blush, and one wild expression of lieved her of anxiety on this one subject. | very few days.

Harry Marlow was paying a visit to his | Much ingenuity as Harry possessed, he fair friend Lina, when a slight sneer upon | could devise no means by which to exehis upper lip preluded the declaration of cute his mission. He therefore bade good night, after a short visit, and deep in con-"You admire Mr. Fitzgerald, do you templation, strolled out upon the street. "Then why have you thus exerted your not calculated to leave her in a mood to smiles so sweetly on a fellow.' You are quired he of the lad, whose progress he was heard distant sounds, murmurings, forth, "Mon pere, mon pere vous etes impeded by stopping directly in front of him.

Wailing, woe, and whining melancholy.

A storm was gathering without, clouds friend Saville, worn out by his fruitless. Lina drew herself up in indignation, A bargain was struck and Harry Marlow

"His riches do not enrich, nor your became possessor. He released the note from its lurkingence. He took her hand, looked earnestturned to Mr. Herbert's, making his apo- as her face had seldom worn. logy for thus intruding so soon again. "Lina, it may be selfish to ask you to engage yourself to me at present, but I fear to wait, lest some other may supplant and the bouquet said:

"You had better re-arrange these flowers, when putting them in water. They of the wearer. "My father will not consent—he swears | will keep as they are, however, until you | reach your room.' Lina fully comprehended his meaning. to the church.

"He does not dictate on that subject." and lost no time in fulfilling his request. "Will you promise—that's enough, and The note was easily found. She read, re-read it, then tore it into a multitude of She allowed the promise to be sealed match's mercy.

as if coming fram Lima's room. subject, so you had better act upon this | Harry still held her hand when Mrs. Her- Mrs. Rerbert rushed to her assistance, suggestion, and give Harry to understand bert opened the door, and walked towards and finding Lina lying upon the floor, can show just cause why this pair should but I've seen his boys ride every gate on his position to be that of an acquaintance the table near which this plighted couple looking very pale, screamed to her hus. not be united in the holy bonds of wed-the farm. or old friend, bat nothing more. There sat. Mr. Marlow offered her his chair, band to run for a doctor as fast as poswhich she accepted, and which she did not sible.

your own, but if I guess rightly, your avoid any interrogations, Lina sought her himself, and reaching the street. A gig strong objections, in fact your only objectown room immediately after his departure stood near the house, and at the horse's tion, is poverty. I cannot see why you or The book which she grasped for relief of head stood a gentleman in a full suit of father should make this the detriment, if mind might as well have been written in black, adjusting something which seemed not always be poor. He is a young pro' dies, as far as her knowledge went, for her come quickly. I believe my daughter's ly nineteen years of of age, I really think for seeing and conversing with Harry bert, with great carnestness, without as she had been on the occasion of his And then the case dropped. without producing family jars and quar- waiting for any response until his sen tences had been concluded. Harry Marlow knew the hour at which The demure looking old gentleman

Lina took her usual morning walks. He whose locks, hanging about his neck, therefore, when time would permit. make were almost snow white, turned calmly "And if you are capable of judging for his habits to correspond with her own, around, and answered the questions put had together, until the relation of this "Did you say your daughter is ill?"

Mr. Herbert was irritated by his non chalant manner, and said: "If you are a doctor come to my house immediately."

This, therefore, here ended, and Line "I suppose," replied the easy talking man, "I may fasten my horse first," And as quietly as he had talked, did he In less than a fortnight after he called proceed to tie his horse to the trunk of a tree near by, and as slowly did he follow for any contingency. When his name Mr. Herbert, who, far ahead of him, openwas announced, Mrs. Herbert was first to ed the door of Lina's chamber, and peepwelcome him by her presence, nor did she ed in, then waited for the doctor, and of the crowd.

Lina was lying on the bed, her mother bathing her temples and chafing her the doctor, told me that he was about made by him. Harry fondled and romped gentleman approached her bedside. The doctor took her hand, felt her pulse the opportunity to attach a small piece of and said: paper to her apron. Then lifting her to "Where does your pain lie?" his arms, he set her upon Lina's lap, "Here," said she placing her hand upon her heart. Then, turning to the mother, he is notice of it until she found herself alone quired "Has she had any sudden shock?"

Among the little declarations of love Father and mother simultaneously an swered: "Mr. Fitzgerald makes no secret of his "Not that I know of." Lina shook her head as if in pain. "She is exceedingly nervous, and had better lie perfectly still for a while. I will give her something to quiet her, and cause her to sleep. He mixed a liquid in a small-glass of water, held it to her lips, which she drank unwilling to go alone I succeeded in slowly and willingly. He then drew ducing my friend Saville to accompany a chair towards the bedside and sat me. 1 mention him, poor follow, as he down, watching closely his patient. There was a dead silence, when Mrs. Herbert whispered to her husband: As the doctor wants Lina to sleep, we had better leave for a short time." Mr. Herbert nodded assent, and they tiptoed out of the room.

Herbert went to inquire the state of her lov, a small town on the Scheksma, a daughter's health. She was lying awake, branch of the Volga, for the purpose and answering questions put to her by of seeing a renowned hermit, who, we her doctor. He rose, took her hand, and were told, was an Englishman. This

"Now, my dear child, you are better. Keep quiet, and I will call to-morrow morning again. The drops I have left, you will take every three hours." Then handing his card, upon which was howed and left. your acceptance of F. do so provisionally Each morning be called, but gave very abounds. Among other things he told us, little satisfaction as to her entire recovery, that the next morning the punishment although she was ordered to ride out of the knout was to be performed-for Lina obeyed to the letter all Harry bid every day, until, at the close of the week there this horrid barbarity is considered he requested that he might be allowed to quite a spectacle, to see which, people bring a consulting physician with him, to flock in from all parts. The culprit was her do; and Mr. Herbert readily acceded which the parents gladly assented. The weather was warm and sultry.

On the same day, as quaint a looking walked in with him. They consulted for one who was in readiness to complete the over half an hour together, and receiving wheel was in readiness to complete the Plows to clear to out at Neill's Hardward to the the respect to the re the thanks of the parents for the good scene of blood.

news that their daughter was in no danger From his according to the control of the co

Mrs. Herbert never seemed more demned, and was in prison when we arwas to become a member of her family we (Saville and I) determined to see her.

in less than twenty four hours. Mr. Herbert was light-hearted, for of silver we succeeded in bribing the this son-in-law was to make him an in- gaoler to admit us. The prison was dependent man, relieve him of all out- gloomy to a degree; and never did I side debts, and in fact, be a valuable see so lovely a creature as met our eyes. acquisition for the present and the fu- She seemed scarcely above twenty, if so

Added to all these advantages. Lina was dark, with intensely bright eyes. thereby evincing a desire to please her She spoke to us in French, and in pite family, the door-bell rung, and a large here she stopped and burst into tears. package, directed to Miss Herbert, was handed into the parlor. Lina opened it, gaoler, stern as he was, seemed touched and exhibited a set of diamonds of such | by something like pity. magnificence as to make herself almost startle.

She handed the case to her mother, Herbert looked over her shoulder, and compressed his lips, opened his eyes in authority at St. Petersburg. Thither own or the opposite sex than this pecuni spare before going to dinner. 1 will admiration, dumb confusion. closed the box, and wrapping it again in evening. I remained to try to console

> "As Miss Herbert you will excuse I shall become Her voice faltered; Mr. Fitzgerald interrupted her: "My wife!" Lina finished the sentence: I will accept it."

Mrs. Herbert took it. Lina pleaded a headache before the night. Confused dreams, visions, ap- ers. She was tied to the scaffold, and-The first person he encountered was a boy few present. There was a merry crowd though no sound of agony escaped her, carrying a bouquet in one hand, while in entering, but solemn, melancholy faces as the white and quivering flesh was the other he held a note which he was were leaving the house in which she was torn from her beautiful back, yet when, self to please him? He has boasted of reading. It suggested an idea to him. to have been made a bride, but had left after nearly fifty strokes of the lash, "Will you sell me this bouquet?" in. it, leaning on a stranger's arm. Then human nature gave way, she sighed > ed her home the sun shone brightly, and prevalent, but not before he had brought she felt warmed by its softening and to justice her inhuman father, who was genial rays. She dreamed her sweet alive, and had thus sacrificed his daughplace, secreted it in the bouquet, and reddream out, and waked with a smile, such ter, because she refused to marry a mer-He handed the bouquet to Lina, caught the previous day for the wedding cere not to reveal his place of concealment, her eye, and glancing alternately at her mony. Lina's travelling dress was and then left her, his only and beauti plain, but in exquisite taste, showing a ful child. form as elegant as the mind and manner At 12 o'clock precisely the carriages atoms, and consigned them to a lighted unfaltering step towards the altar.

rs. him. All was still slowly repeated: "If there be any one present who lock, he will please signify it by rising, or forever hold his piece.' "I can!" cried a loud voice in the quiet house. All eyes were turned. "A crazy man!" whispered the young others? I demand a clear answer." "Who's that ?" questioned the men. A loud whispering, buzzing noise was behind," heard among the crowd. Relief came to the inquirers. The physician, Dr. Conning, walked does he ride when he is alone?" fessional man, industrious and ambitious, eyes saw only the menacing looks of her dying, or—I don't know what. She has with dignified gait down the aisle. At father, and her head was filled with plans been taken suddenly ill," said Mr. Her. his approach Lina turned almost as pale was never alone when I was with him. first visit to her house.

> "And what is the cause you would show?" inquired the minister. Raising his hand to his head, and lift ing from it the hoary wig, displaying his own beautiful black curly hair, he said :

wife of another ! Then advancing toward Lina, he proffered his arm, which she hastily had failed, five bottles of Burdock Blood "Hold!" cried Mr. Herbert: "we have no proof of this. I demand stronger proof than your word, sir." A paper which he had been holding in his hand, but which had not been observed, he instantly opened, laid upon the desk, and demanded that the Rev. Mr. Conniving should step up. The consulting physician, as demure as he ever was, was soon among the formost "I, too," said he, "was deceived. This gentleman, who represented to you hands. She partly opened her eyes as the marrying the young lady ere she should breathe her last. I accordingly did my duty as requested." "It is not valid !" cried Mr. Herbert. "Perfectly so, as with the consent of both parties it was solemnized," replied the minister behind the desk. Lina Marlow, who had not yet spoken followed close behind her parents, leaning on her husband's arm. But overjoyed, she must give vent to her feelings. Be reconcilled, papa. I am not lost to every one in the world. Only to you

I am already dead !"

A RUSSIAN ADVENTURE.

Some years ago, business of importance called me to St. Petersburg. Being formed a very prominent feature in the little adventure I am about to relate. I will pass over the incidents of our journey until we arrived at St. Petersburg, when, having transacted my business, I, to favor Saville's wish, determined to proceed to Jarosley, where he had relations. Instead, however, of Twenty minutes had elapsed when Mrs. | roing the direct route, we visited Keriwas inducement enough for us, circuitous as was the route we went.

Arriving late at night, we with considerable difficulty succeeded in getting lodgings, which, though very mean and wretched, we at last entered The landlord, a talkative man, told written "Abraham Conning, M. D.," he us. during our repast, all the news and scandal, which in a small town generally a young Jewess, remarkable for her beauty, and her crime was the murder

From his account it appeared that the evidence against the poor girl was that,

We went—and by means of a handful much. She, like the most of our race, ous accents protested her innocence Mr. Fitzgerald called in the evening, Her story was soon told. Beloved by a Saville, hasty in everything, deter mined to attempt to save her. Hurry ing off, he hastened to the head Shirri or police, and in vain attempted to purchase her release. He was referred to a higher then, regardless of the utter impossibility It was then returned to Lina. She of being in time, he hurried that very splendor of those dark, swimming eyes, when cast upwards in fervent prayer for my accepting your valuable gift; when the success of her anticipated delivery. The night passed heavily enough. Sh could not be brought to comprehend the awfulness of her hopeless situation. Yet she suddered as she drew her slight shawl over her exquisitely moulded shoulders, so soon to be lacerated by the Well, a day makes no difference. unpitying strokes of the lash! The gray Arrangement of Trains -- In morn, chill and comfortless, came at last and with it the fatal hour of the victim's punishment.

Though almost senseless when led out, mission to do so, retired from the comterror, flitted over her features as the rude hand of the executioner tore the Her head found no resting place that upper covering from her neck and shouldparitions appeared before her. She saw | but why proceed—nay, I cannot proceed the church decked in flowers, then crape to describe the disgusting and horrid hung carelessly upon the arms of some ceremonials. It is enough to say that, were dark and heavy, but ere she reach- exertions, fell a victim to a fever then cenary villain of her father's choice. He Every preparation had been made on had first bound her by a most solemn oath

It was necessary, on a certain occasion in court to compel a witness to tes- CARRIAGE and SLEIGH were at the door to convey the family tify as to the way in which a Mr. Smith treated his horse. "Well, sir," said the All were fully prepared to occupy lawyer, with a sweet and winning smile them. The sanctuary of the Lord was -a smile intended to drown all susopened to receive them. Lina, resting picion as to ulterior purposes—"How on the arm of her father, walked with does Mr. Smith generally ride a horse ?" The witness looked up innocently and There too was the mother and the in- replied, "Generally a straddle, sir, I be-what gait does he ride? The imperturbable witness answered, "He never rides any gate at all, sir, of a Tartar, and his next question was very insinuating - "How does Mr. Well, sir, he keeps up with the rest, if his horse is able to, or if not, he falls

The lawyer was by this time almost beside himself, and asked, "And how "I don't know," was the reply; "he Quinine and Chills.

Quinine is the popular remedy for chill fever, but it does not always cure Esquire Pelton of Grass Lake, Michi "I object to my wife becoming the gan, took in all 600 grains of quinine for chronic chills and malarial fever. After that and various other remedies Bitters cured him.

Absolutely Pure. This powder never varies. A marvel of purity strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in came. ROYAL BARING POWDER Co. 106 Wall street, New York.

Shirts. Shirts. R INE White Shirts for Men and Boys, Fancy Regatta Shirts, Woolen Shirts, Under Cloth-ing, Collars and Neck Scarls, &c. Best value ever offered.

S. NEALIS. May 26 HARDWARE, LOCKS, &c.

JUST RECEIVED: CASE Locks, 1 Case Shelf Hardware, as I collows:—Razor Straps, Nash Locks, Brass Curtain Rilgs, Picture Nails, Porcelain Tarks, Brass Screen Honks, Scissors, Razors, Pocket Knives, Brass Picture Honks, Rules, Table Knives and Forks, Auger Bits. Haiter Naps, Tack Claws, Hammers, Wood Faucets, extra quality; Galvanized Palis, Curling Irons, Silver Furniture Handles, etc., etc.

Z. R. EVERETT. SPRING Now ready for Spring trade: TIMOTHY and CLOVER SEED, wholesa

Carpet Felt. JUST RECEIVED From Boston, 20 Rolls Carpet Felt. J. NEILL. May 26.

W. H. VANWART'S.

Plows. Plows. J. NEILL.

Fruit, etc.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY '86 Summer Arrangement '86

On and after MONDAY, June 14th. 1886, the Trains of this Railway will run daily, (Sunday excepted) as follows: Trains will leave St. John. :

Day Express,.... Express for Sussex,...... 4.35 p. m. Express for Halifax & Quebec, 10.15 p. m. A Pullman can runs daily on the 10.15 On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, a Pullman Car for Montreal will be attached to the Quebec Express, and on Monday, Wedness Day and Friday, a Pullman Car will be attach Trains will arrive at St. John: Express from Halifax & Quebec, 5,30 a, m Accommodation. .. 12.55 p. m All Trains are run by Eastern Standard

D. POTTINGER. RAILWAY OFFICE, cton, N. B., June 8th, 1886. AT A STATE OF THE STATE OF THE effect October 12, 1885,

LEAVE FREDERICTON:

NEW BRUNSWICK

(Eastern Standard Time) 6 20 A. M.—Express for St. John.
8 00 A. M.—For Fredericton Junction, connecting there with Train for St. Stephen, Houlton, Woodstock, Presque Isle, Grand Filis, and points North 10 50 A. M.—For Fredericton Junction, connecting there with Train for Bangor and all points West, and for St. Stephen, St. Andrews, Houlton, and Woodstock, and for St. John.
3 20 P. M.—For Fredericton Junction, St. John, and points East.

ARRIVE AT FREDERICTON A. M -From Fredericton Junction, an St John.

2 40 F. M.—From Fredericton Junction, Bangor and points West, and from St. Stephen, Woodstock and Houlton.

5 50 F. M.—From Fredericton Junction, St. Stephen, St. Andrews, Houlton, Woodstock, Freeque Isle, Grand Falls, and all points North.

7 30 F. M.—Express from St. John.

LEAVE GIBSON: 50 A. M.-For Woodstock and points North. ABRIVE AT GIBSON: 20 P. M.-From Woodstock and points North

F. W. CRAM. Gen'l Manager uthern Division. J. F. LEAVITT, Gen'l Pass, and Ticket Agen

King Street, Fredericton, N. B. CLWELL, - -- - Proprietor

FACTORY!

The parson stood, his book before
The lawyer asked again, "But, sir, GARRIAGES, WACCONS, what gait does he ride?" SLEIGHS and PUNGS Built to order in the latest and most durable styles. The lawyer saw he was on the track MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP of the BEST PARTICULAR ATTIUTTON OF VEN TO Smith ride when he is in company with Painting, Trimming and Repairing Ca, riages, etc.

> ON HAND: FOR FALL AND WINTER TRADE A LARGE LOT OF PIANO BOX. TOP PHAITONS

GENERAL GRANDS AND A LARGE LOT OF SLEIGHS AND PUNGS TO BE SOLD CHEAP.

WAGON CONCORDS.

Terms to give satisfaction. SPRING

NEW GOODS JENNINGS.

MERCHANT TAILOR. Is now receiving a large selection of

English and Scotch CHECKS and PLAIDS

IRISH TWEEDS

CHEVIOTS. WM. JENNINGS.

Fredericton, March 17, 1886

ADVERTISERS can learn the exact cost of any proposed line of advertising in American papers by addressing Geo. P. Rowell & Co.,

Newspaper Advertising Bureau, 10 Sprute St., New York. Send 10ote for 100-Page Pamphlet. HITE'S Candles, new Vinegar, Lemons and W. H. VANWART'S.

Fresh Cod, Herring, Smelts and Haddies GEO. HATT & SONS. Frederitcon, January 18, 1886. Tea. Tea. Tea.

JUST RECEIVED AND IN STOCK : 35 HALF Chests Tea-quality Sextra. Also Caddies of 5, 10, 12 and 20 lbs. each. At May 12 W. H. VANWART'S. and examine my stock of Groceries, too numerous to mention. Wholesale and retail, at Just Received:

GEO. HATT & SONS.

King Street.

Concord Wagons. Piano Box Wagons, Miller Spar Wagons, White Chapel Wagons, Iver's Wagons, Phætons, Open Phætons.

It requires only one person to take it off or put it on, and when off no one would think a feed on, as no unsightly ends are sticking out. When the Top is on it is as firm as a rock, be put on any carriage in use. Persons ordering Buggles or Canopy Top Carriages should they have this Rail, as it will be greatly to their interest.

These Tops were awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition in October, 1880

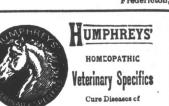

Particular attention given to orders. Repairing done in the best manner, and at the shortest notice Price List.—BUGGY TOPS, $82 to $50; CANOPY, $15 to $25 Patented in Canada, March 31st, 1877, and in the United States, Dec. 10th, 1878 ALL WORK WARRANTED.

CALL AND SEE THE

With Large Improved Arm, at D. M'CATHERIN'S SALES ROOM.

D. McCATHERIN, Manager for Maritime Provinces

Horses, Cattle, Sheep DOGS, HOGS, POULTRY, In use for over 20 years by Farmers, Stockbreeders, Horse R. R., &c. Used by U. S. Government.

Humphreys' Med. Co., 109 Fulton St., N. Y. EUMPHREYS' HOMEOPATHIC TO E SUP SPECIFIC No. 40 Nervous Debility, Vital Weakness, below

Next

Peoples'

Bank.

THE KEY TO HEALTH.

Unlooks all the clogged avenues of the Bowels, Ridneys and Liver, carry-ing off gradually without weakening the Bowels, Ridneys and Liver, carrying off gradually without weakening the system, all the impurities and foul humors of the secretions; at the same time Correcting Acidity of the Stomach, curing Billousness, Dyspepsia, Headaches, Dizziness, Heartburn, Constitution, Dryness of the Skin, Dropsy, Dimness of the Skin, Dropsy, Dimness of Vision, Jaundice, Sait Rheum, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Fluttering of the Heart, Nervousness, and General Debitity; all these and many other similar Complaints yield to the happy influence of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

T. MILBURN & CO., Proprietors, Toronto.

Creamers. Creamers.

JUST RECEIVED:

JUST RECEIVED

BOOTS and SHOES

Gents' Furnishing Goods

READY-MADE CLOTHING

of every description, which will be

Give us a call and examine

F. DOHERTY.

our goods and prices before purchas-

Steel Barb Fence Wire.

Call, Call, Call,

sold cheaper than the cheapest.

Fredericton, February 3, 1886.

ing elsewhere.

April 7.

BURDOCK BYQOD

Copied

and Enlarged.

Queen

Street,

9

T

5

ered when promised. 0 site Normal School, Fredericto FRED. J. McCAUSLAND Formerly with C. A. McCausland.

PLUMBING.

THIS establishment now having two thoroughly Practical Plumbers and Gs Firworkmanlike manner. for estimates before going elsewhere ways in stock.

Orders for Tin Roofing promptly attended to. Tinsmiths Work of every discription and of the best mater; all manufactured to order

J. & J. O'BRIEN.

We have now in stock the

THE latest and best Creamers in the market Z. R. EVERETT. CROWN OF GOLD

125 BARRELS Crown of Gold. Low for GEO. HATT & SONS.

FRANCIS DOHERTY has now in stock a very large and choice HATS and CAPS. Book and Music Store.

FREEMAN'S

destroyer at worms in Children or Adults FAIRCHILD'S CELEBRATEI

ust Received direct from the Manutacturers: S. F. SHUTE'S. Rope. Rope. Rope. Just received from the Rope Works:

VIRGINIA FARMS Mild Climate, Cheap homes.
Northern Colony. Sand for circular. A. O. BLISS, Centralia, Va-

EBEN MILLER & GO.,

BUILDERS OF 51 61 6 54 CARRIAGES.

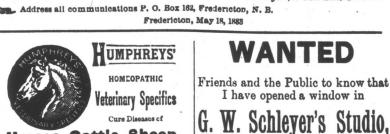

Fredericton, N. B

Brewster Wagons. Cronin Wagons, Soe Manufacturers of Mil er's Patent Shifting Rail. These Shifting Tops have no rival, as a glance at the cut will show for itself; it is so simple one person to take it off or put it on, and when off no one would think a Top had hese machines can be had at the following offices, viz:castle, Miramichi, N.B., Chatham, Miramichi, N. B., Bathurst Fredericton, N.B., B., Campellton, Restigouche Co., N. B., St. Stephen, N. E Agents wanted for P. E. Island and Nova Scota.

NEW"RAYMOND."

FOR THE PURPOSE OF REPAIRING WACTHES. STABLE CHART CLOCKS and

Prices moderate, and goods deliv-Don't forget the place, oppo-

JEWELERY.

PRACTICAL

GAS FITTING! ESTABLISHMENT.

TERS in their employ are prepared to attend to all work entrusted to them in a thorough Parties desiring to have their houses fitted with all the modern improvements in the above business would do well to apply to us A variety of GLOBES and PATENT GAS BURNers for sale cheap.

Gas Steam and Hot Water Fittings, al

Prices to suit the times

GREATEST VARIETY ever offered in this city, and at Very Low Prices!

We invite you to call and examine them, and take a look at our stock of Books, which will be found just what is wanted for the Holidays. Also on hand, a number of Organs, Pianos,

Sewing Machines, Low Prices and on Easy Terms. McMURRAY & Co's

WORM POWDERS. Are pleasant to take. Contain their own Purgativo, Is a safe, sure, and effectual

GOLD Pens, Pencils, Tooth Picks. Glove and Boot Buttoners, Cigar Clips. Just opened

1 TON 4 barb steal fence wire;
1 ton Bucktborne steel fence wire;
1 ton Galvanized steel fence wire;
2 Kega steel gaiv. staples for same;
For sale at the lowest market price, at the old J. NEILL. 25 COILS ROPE, for sale low by