

To have a dose of chloral-hydrate if unable to sleep.

6th, 10:45 a.m.—Rested well all the evening and most of the night, and had but little delirium; much more collected and rational, is more conscious of his trifling ailments, and complains that his tongue is sore. This is due to a collection of aphthæ along the border of the tongue, which resembles a patch of herpes; petechiæ almost gone; wheals fading and reducing in circumference; those on left foot, which are the latest, are almost gone, and one has a yellow colour like a fading bruise-stain; temperature,  $100\ 3.8^{\circ}$ ; pulse 120, small and firm; R., 28; tongue moist, borders red; yellow-white fur on centre; no emesis nor alvine discharge; urine high-coloured, deposited lithates; not tested for albumen.

Countenance open and less distressed looking; knitting of brows gone, less retraction of head; tonic spasm of other parts as before, about the flexure of the right elbow and anterior aspect of right forearm, are numerous red, congested patches, not unlike the exanthem of measles; the general appearance of the forearm reminds one of the "subcuticular rash" of typhus; puffy swelling of both elbow-joints, most marked over head of radius. Continue treatment.

7th, 9.30 a.m.—Cried so much last night from pain in the head that a dose of chloral was given, and in a few minutes he fell asleep and slept till 5 a.m.; is now perfectly sensible and somewhat cross; no trace of petechiæ, several of the red blotches still visible, but very pale, a new one not elevated upon face; slight effusion into left knee-joint, and considerable swelling of right foot, chiefly of dorsum.

In lifting him off the bed this morning his father found his body quite stiff, spasm of the flexors continues, and slight retraction of the head, bowels moved to-day; passed urine in the bed last night; temperature,  $103\ 2.5^{\circ}$ ; pulse, 126. Continued treatment.

8th, 11 a.m.—Slept well till 3 a.m.; slight nocturnal delirium; perfectly rational now; pupils active and of medium size; no dislike to light. pain in neck, with retraction of head; spasm of flexors continued, red patches all gone, except one which appeared upon cheek yesterday; right knee and left hip painful; two formed stools; urine abundant; pulse, 118.

9th, 11:30 a.m.—Temperature,  $102\ 4.5^{\circ}$ ; pulse, 120; slept well, without delirium; cervical pain and spasm, and pain in the
