Shamrock Bazaar and Tombola.

Owing to the immense number of articles coming in and the fact that un unprecedented success and popularity for the bazaar is now beyond doubt, the committee of management has considered it absolutely necessary to cancel the arrangements made with the Victoria Rities' Association for the use of their armory owing to the fimited dimensions of that hall, The Windsor Hall lately erected in connection The Windsor Hall lately erected in connection with the palatial Windsor Hotel, and the most spacious and sulfable place in Montreal, has been secured and ample accommodation thus assured to the thousands of friends of the Shamrocks who will patronize their bazaar. Dynamite Accident.

A man named Dupre, employed as a blaster at the Cote St. Louis quarries, on Monday, went home to dinner, his residence being on the outskirts of the village, carrying in his hand two dynamite cartridges. When he sat down to dinner he put the cartridges on the stove to thaw out, as they were frozen. All went well for a few moments, but all at once the neighborhood was startled with what was at first thought to be an earthquake. All rushed to their doors when they saw the house of Dapes fumbling to the ground. A rush was made to the falling dwelling, where it was discovered, strange to say, that no one was killed, but two of the three childen who were siting at dumer with their father and mother were badly bruised by the falling Umbers. Doctors were at once summoned, the first to answer the call being Dr. McDuft, who, after seeing what the case was, sent for the Notre Pame hospital ambulance, which soon responded to the call, and the children, one of two years old, and the other a body of nine months, were taken to the hospital. The only injury the father received was a flow on the head from a pice of falling wood. The mother was struck in the stomach with a piece of stove, but luckily she was not severely injured. Recently a similar accident look piace in the County of Ottawa, not far from Hull, when the Patten Dynamite works were blown up. LAVAL UNIVERSITY.

publish them under reserve.

The object in view is to establish in this city a university independent allogather of that at Quebec, although preserving, so far as appearances go, a union with that institution. The new university is to be governed by a corporation consisting of Archbishop Fabre, and his mifragan bishops, Mgr. Rachie and Mgr. Moreau; the very roy. Superior of St. Sulpice, the Rey. Abbe de Fauville, Dr. Kingston, Dr. Rottot, Judge Jette and Judge Pagnuelo. The aim sought to be attained by the helf fusion of all the mentices of the late Victoria and the present Laval universities, under the supreme direction of the hierarchial authorities. It is anticipated that the measure will meet with most determined opposition.

THE GREY NUNS.

Their Noble Work-A Reply to Malicious Slanderers.

La Semaine Religiouse states that besides the regular staff there are at present in the different establishments of the Grey Nuns, in this ctr, 1,403 poor, all, or almost all, getting gratuitously their lodging, food and clothing. At the Ropital General, Guy street, there are 201 old persons, 266 orphans and 55 helpers; at the Navareth Asylum, 100 blind inmates and 72 orphans; at the St. Joseph Asylum, 142 orphan girls; at the St. Henry Asylum, 40 orphan girls; at the St. Henry Asylum, 40 orphan girls; at the St. Charles Asylum, 155 aged persons; at the St. Bridget's Asylum, 125 opphans; at the St. Bridget's Asylum, 125 opon. Besides these are the dispensaries where remedies are distributed, the special asylums where hundreds of young children are daily left with the nuns while the mothers go to work; visits to sick persons which are almost always accompanied with substantial help, the Houses of Refuge and the Notre Dame Hospital. The 1,403 poor persons above mentioned are simply those who receive from the Grey Nuns complete and permanent hospitality. Reckoning at $100—and who will find this too much?—the value of the maintenance of each of those persons, the sum of $140.3 o given annually in charities by one single religious community, is reached. The Blessing of St. Blaise.

The customary ceremony which takes place on the anniversary of the feast of St. Blaise will be held in the Cathedral this afternoon, when the blessing of the throats will be proceeded with by his grace the Archbishop. St. Blaise was a bishop in Armenia in the early part of the fourth century. While undergoing a term of imprisonment at the hands of the soldiers of Agricols he rendered himself famous by miraculously healing a child who was been smothered by a large fishbone which it had swallowed. Since his death his intercession has from time to time been implored in cases of throat disease, and there are on record a large number of wonderful cures attributable to the saint's aid.

Death of a Venerable Priest.

The death is announced of the Rev. Norbert Barrett, who was paster of the parish of St.

He was Mr. Francis Robillard, and he was uinefy-nine years old. The funeral was very largely attended, the de-ceased having been extremely popular among those who knew him. There was a very large attendance, and the speeches which were made were carnest and enthusiastic and evinced the true Catholic spirit. There can be no doubt that much good will result to the young men of the parish from the establishment of the society, and great credit is due to the Rev. Father Salmon, the popular paster of St. Mary's, for the zealous efforts which he is putting forth in furtherance of the success of the society. The objects of the organization are stinilar to those of kindered bedies of young men other parishes, and include the promotion of the spiritual, moral and social interests of its members. Catholic Young Men's Society.

The monthly literary entertalument of the C. Y. M. S., was held in their hall, 92 St. Alex. ander street, on Thursday evening, January 28, Mr. J. J. Ryan presiding. Before the curtain was raised every seat in the spacious hall was taken and the gallery was also crowded to its utmost capacity. Precisely at 8-15 the orchestra under the direction of Mr. F. W. Holland opened the entertainment. The talent which took part was mostly composed of members of the society. Mr. L. The vocal and instrumental solos of Miss Floreace Whittel and Miss Martha of Brien were no less apprechated, white Mr. H. Smith and Mr. R. B. Molley hi their humorous songs and sketches fairly brought down the house. The most important event of the evening was the lecture by Prof. McKay, on Goldsmith, and the manner in which he prepared and delivered the lecture displayed most conspictously the ability and superior genius of that talented gentleman. After other songs and instrumental music by Messrs. Therney, Smith and Holland, the programme was brought to a close by a colored sketch given by Mr. W. Wall and Mr. L. O'Brien who with their original jokes and funny sayings did tull justice to the happy occasion.

OUR SCHOOLS.

Geelong.

Speaking of the Protestant Mission school work amongst the young, this gentleman, says the Advocate, said that love was the great command, and he wanted to see the teacher of the Mission school a little more loving. He had visited many schools, including Catholic schools, and he was impressed with the fact that the essence of power in the Catholic schools was the love which permented the sys tem. That was where this mission school was a little deficient. They wanted a little more love, a little more kindness and carnestness. These were the marked characteristics of Catholic schools, and in these they were superior to any other. He was now speaking as a man of the world, and could therefore speak with a degree of authority, not altogether possessed by those who moved in more restricted circles. Those present, of course, might not see it, but he did, because he was cosmopolitan. In the Catholic schools the children behaved nicely, and gave evidence of true discipline and the power of true love in their training. The Pro-testant workers in the same field were just a little deficient in these qualities. Roman Catholic denomination was going ahead of them in everything, for they spared neither money nor trouble. The ladies of that denomination, in a spirit of self-sacrifice, gave their whole time and their money to thoroughly advance the interests of their religion. The Protestants, he was afraid, were behindhand in this. He only pointed out the defects in a loving spirit, for he was much afraid they did not value their privileges. They must bestow more loving kindness on the rising generation. He wished they would consider his words. He liked a strict discipline, inspired and guided by love, and this he found in the Catholic schools, where the scholars followed implicitly their teachers' directions and wishes. This was due to the kindness and love which the nuns, the rev. mother and sisters, evinced towards the children, in whose interest they labored day and night. No trouble was too great for them in their efforts to train the scholars in their religion. Why were not they as Protestants, similarly occupied? Why did they not do their work with the same earnestness? They did not do their utmost: they did not try as effectively to bring their children on to Jesus as the Catholics did. This was an aim that should receive attention, and he failed to grasp the reason why it had not been be-fore achieved. If they could only throw away their selfishness, and truly love Jesus Christ, who had shed His blood for them, they would perhaps be able to attain the happy results of which he spoke, and he spoke from actual personal knowledge, acquired in travelling throughout the colony. They could go to the convent school in Dawson street, Ballarat, or
