

...in defence of the rights of his government and under the authority of its commission. I could not, without grave disrepute, have made the newspaper statements above referred to, the subject of this communication; if the threat of treating as pirates the citizens of this confederacy, armed for its service on the high seas, had not been contained in your proclamation of the 4th April; that proclamation, however, seems to afford a sufficient justification for considering these published statements as not devoid of probability.

It is the desire of this government so to conduct the war now existing as to mitigate its horrors, so far as may be possible; and with this intent its treatment of the prisoners captured by its forces has been marked by the greatest humanity and leniency consistent with public obligation; some have been permitted to return home on parole, others to remain at large under similar conditions within this confederacy, and all have been furnished with rations for their subsistence, such as are allowed to our own troops. It is only since the news has been received of the treatment of the prisoners taken on the Savannah that I have been compelled to withdraw these indulgences and to hold the prisoners taken by us in strict confinement.

A just regard to humanity and to the honor of this government now requires me to state explicitly, that painful as will be the necessity, this government will deal out to the prisoners held by it the same treatment and the same fate as shall be experienced by those captured on the Savannah; and if driven to the terrible necessity of retaliation by your execution of any of the officers or crew of the Savannah, that retaliation shall be requisite to secure the abandonment of a practice unknown to the warfare of civilized man, and so barbarous as to disgrace the nation which shall be guilty of inaugurating it.

With this view, because it may not have reached you, I now renew the proposition made to the commander of the blockading squadron, to exchange for the prisoners taken on the Savannah an equal number of those now held by us, according to rank.

I am, sir, yours, &c., Jefferson Davis, President and Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the Confederate States.

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE PAST. — The New York Times, speaking of the battle at Bull Run says: "To the 69th (Irish Regiment) too much praise for unflinching and persistent gallantry can hardly be awarded." "And when the retreat had been ordered it was the mastery skill of the German brigade under Col. Blenker which covered the movement and prevented and prevented any accumulated disasters." Had it not been for the old Democratic party, these very men would be politically proscribed by Know-nothingism in 1854-5. The curious mortifying spectacle would be presented of men fighting for a Government that proscribed them on account of their birth and religion! The heroic acts of Lafayette, Steuben, Montgomery and DeKalb, were forgotten. Their descendants have left a fresh mark on the page of the history of our country. How soon it will be forgotten by the same men? — Indianapolis Sentinel. [How soon? Why the same men, and the same party, are now only waiting the moment when they will achieve a little country, by irretrievably alienating the Southern half of it, to turn their spite against "Popery" and the foreign-born. That is, according to the Daily Times itself, the Black programme. — N. Y. Freeman.]

This civil war is cutting every road, river, and route of transportation of the country, in two. — It is the most wasteful expenditure of resources the world has ever seen, for nations were never so rich or so populous as now. England has borne the burthen of heavy wars, but she was not dismembered at home — her internal life remained unsevered. All analogies from her wars are fallacies as applied to ours. Our outward trade is ruined, and our interior trade blocked, while we are squandering the accumulated wealth of the country with all possible haste. A state of war exists, and the end of that war is to be the putting down of one large portion of the country by another portion. For who can say now, that the Government of the Confederate States is not controlling and handling the power and strength of that part of the United States? And as it is, who can know that the war can restore the old relation of the parties? In our opinion, it is a mere question of time, and the period when exhaustion shall supervene and stop the struggle. The war is a fact, each battle is a fact, the rapid destruction of interests is also a fact, and the time this can last will be and by another fact. Meantime the re-establishment of the Government is a far off contingency, which the uncertainties and fortunes of war and battle render quite vague and indistinct. This convulsion is the effect of disease — the madness, the paroxysm of insanity, of bigots, zealots, and fanatics; and of the demagogues who live and thrive and fatten on such a fall. The armies of the Federal Union are fighting for the religious dogmas of the Protestant New-England clergy. — N. Y. Freeman.

The Congress of the United States having passed a law providing for "the confiscation of the property of all rebels found in arms against the United States," the rebel Congress has instructed its Judiciary Committee to prepare a bill, for the confiscation of the property of citizens of the United States, within the Southern Confederacy, as a retaliatory measure.

As soon as the throat shows any signs of soreness, gargle with Pain Killer as above prescribed, and in bad cases, use it freely to bathe the neck. This should be made known to the world, and we advise every one afflicted to give it one trial. It is sold by medicine dealers generally. Read what Dr. WATSON writes us from Coshocton, Ohio: "I am happy to inform you that the PAIN KILLER cures this new disease, Diphtheria or Sore Throat, that is prevailing to so alarming an extent in this section of the country. On Walnut Creek, Holmes County, they use scarcely any other remedy, and it has never been known to fail in a single instance when used in time. This fact should be made known to the world."
