Toronto jobbers have advanced sardines to 11½ to 12c for Dadelzsen ½'s, and 12 to 12½c for Alberts.

Owing to the advance in broom corn Ontario manufacturers have advanced prices 25c to 40c per dozen. New lists are out.

Shippers of grain from this port says the Montreal Trade Bulletin, have made good profits during the past fall, and shipments of wheat, barley, rye and oats now arriving on the other side are said to be making money.
One firm in this city is said to have made $75,000 to $100,000 on its shipments of rye alone.
Another firm has done splendidly on its barley shipments, and on the whole most of our grain exporters have made money this season.

The London Grocer, November 7, reports as follows on the salmon market: "A speculative enquiry of modest dimensions has arisen for salmon since our last report, and several lines of Frazer river fish have been bought, but the terms are kept secret, and would perhaps, if known, be thought very reasonable. Alaska salmon has been realized at about 18s, and commoner qualities, fit only for export, have been sold at and near 17s per case, delivered from Liverpool, where there is more of such inferior stuff on hand than is to be found in London.
