BISHOP'S VIEW OF 'BOGUS MASS'

Head of Ruthenian Church, Returned From West, Replies to Rev. Dr. MacLaren.

One of the most important church matters in the Canadian west just now is the clash between the Presbyterian Home Mission Board organization and the R. C. Church over the establishment of the Independent Ruthenian Church in the west.

TO CELEBRATE PEACE CENTURY

Unlimited Arbitration Treaty Suggested, Also Abolition of Custom Houses.

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—The American Peace Society gave to the press today a collection of suggestions received by it from publicists and educators in Great Britain and Canada and the United States in regard to the methods of celebrating the anniversary of the hundred years of peace since the war of 1815.

Lord Courtney of Benwith, president of the International Peace Congress at London, 1908, addresses that the historic agreement for disarmament on the lakes be followed by the removal of customs houses along the American-Canadian border to reduce the cost of living, and to away with the last pretext for guardships and causes for international conflict.

IN UNCLE WILF'S PRIVATE CUPBOARD.

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Premier Roblin of Manitoba returned to Ottawa to-day from New York, and left again in the evening for Pressport to meet his wife. He leaves for Winnipeg to-morrow. During a portion of the afternoon he occupied a seat on the floor of the house of commons.

Mr. Roblin's visit to Ottawa was to continue the afternoon interview he had with Sir Wilfrid Laurier last week regarding the question of the extension of the boundaries of Manitoba. To-day's interview was fruitless. Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared that he was too busy at present to give any consideration to the matter.

EXPRESS RUNS INTO A FREIGHT

Caboose Wrecked—Two Passengers Injured—Collision Occurred Near West Toronto.

Two passengers were slightly injured and an engine and three cars wrecked in a rear-end collision between the C.P.R. Owen Sound express, due at the Union Station at 3.15, and a C.P.R. freight, about half a mile north of St. Clair-avenue, at 8 o'clock last night.

Those injured were: W. H. Hewson, 615 Bathurst-street, a commercial traveler, knee severely wrenched. F. B. Anderson, 128 Howland-avenue, commercial traveler, ankle sprained.

ANGLICANS IN MAJORITY ACCORDING TO CENSUS

Results of Recent Canvass in Six of the Wards Announced—Most People Willing to Tell Their Preferences.

There are more Anglicans in Toronto than any other denomination, according to the recent church census. Returns for six wards out of the seven were handed out by Executive Secretary George P. Bryce last evening. He says they are not quite complete, except ward two, but nearly so.

Information was refused by 824, and this is a rather larger number than was expected, but it is believed that many of these were Russian Jews who have not yet overcome their fears of disclosing their religion.

GOOD LUCK TO YOU, VARSITY.

Toronto has never taken such an interest in Rugby football as it has to-day. Everybody seems keyed up over to-day's game at Hamilton. That the good wishes of all are with the players of the Blue and white team without saying. Not only do they play clean, scientific football, but they are young fellows who are also good sports without resorting to underhand or "dirty" methods to win.

SWINDLES AUTHORITIES JUST AS SHE DID OTHERS

Young Woman, Convicted of Fraud and Committed to Asylum, Gains Freedom in a Few Days.

Once more the asylum has been used as a road to freedom. On Nov. 7, Mabel Swallow, who admitted swindling a number of second hand dealers by renting a furnished house and selling them the furnishings, was committed to the asylum as insane, despite the fact that Dr. Arthur Jukes Johnson declared she was morally warped, but was in no wise so mentally deficient as to be legally insane.

THE SUNDAY WORLD

Toronto is crazy to-day, sure enough. More than five thousand "bugs" are going over to Hamilton to see the final struggle for the Rugby championship of Canada, and 10,000 people in Hamilton, clean daffy on the subject of Rugby, will be there as well, trying to get a peep into the cricket grounds.

PALE FACED FANATICS

Expression Used at Lively Session of License Commissioners. MONTREAL, Nov. 25.—(Special.)—There was a wild scene at the license commissioners court this afternoon when Secretary Roberts of the Dominion Alliance took the place of Mr. St. Julien, a K. P., and being asked to go to his home.

Porcupine Weather

KELSO, Ont., Nov. 25.—Weather mild and cloudy; roads very good; new road to Porcupine will be completed to-morrow night. Freight will start to move thru to Porcupine on Monday. Passenger traffic very heavy at present. Hotels have got all they can handle.

REGRETS FROM HON. SPEAKER

Who Tells Why Methodist Ministers Weren't Allowed to Keep Gallery Seats.

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Before the house resumed the debate on the address to-day, Col. Sam Hughes (Victoria and Hallburton), arose to call the Speaker's attention to the treatment accorded Rev. Geo. Jackson and Rev. Dr. Henderson, who were expelled from the speaker's gallery on Thursday, as exclusively announced in The World to-day.

Col. Hughes explained that these gentlemen had come to hear Sir Wilfrid speak, and he had secured for them cards of admission to the gallery. They had scarcely taken their seats in the front row, when they were brusquely ordered out, and told to take a back seat. This discourtesy was sincerely to be regretted, as on two subsequent occasions he had noticed clerical men of other denominations occupying seats from which these gentlemen had been ejected.

Mr. Speaker here interrupted by saying: "I cannot allow the hon. member to discuss the conduct of the Speaker except in accordance with the rules laid down by parliamentary authorities."

Continuing the debate, F. S. Fowke (South Ontario) expressed his appreciation of the Fielding tariff. He rejoiced in the fact that Canada was economically freed from the tariff on ready-made tariffs from Downing-street. No doubt the country was prospering, and the policy of the Liberals was to keep improving the conditions, and for the Canadian tariff negotiations with United States had been inaugurated. Conservatives were disposed to regard the United States as a "hostile country," which brought much grief to Canada. While doubtless there was some truth in this, there was no reason why the government should refuse to negotiate for the removal of some features of the "barbarous tariff" of that country.

In a passing reference to the amendments to the address, Mr. Fowke said there was no difference in the Borden and Monk proposals. That the leader of the opposition considered it necessary to make an affirmation in printer's ink of Canadian loyalty. He had fallen into line with Bourassa and was content to appear in the same plumage. Toronto people thought of themselves as the most loyal people in all the world. Still their representative said: "Let us not hurt Bourassa. He is a man in his mind."

Col. Sam Hughes (Victoria and Hallburton), reminding the house that French blood ran in his veins, deprecated the race order. The Canadian minister, he asserted, had been subject to all the disadvantages the country had produced. The prime minister, he noticed, had never seen fit to repudiate the statements used by his followers that, as far as he could, he might be used to accomplish the independence of Canada, and when the minister of marine and fisheries could change from his former attitude of 1886 and become an imperialist, there was hope even for Bourassa.

Col. Hughes reminded Sir Wilfrid that he had once said that he would shoulder his musket and fight for rebels. In the prime minister's opinion, he would not have the amount of teaching to do in Quebec that he has had. He observed that Mr. Bourassa was a product of the teaching of the prime minister. The member for Victoria parried the charge of Mr. Brodeur that Dr. Sproule was riding a Protestant horse in the house. If the Canadian militia were ordered out to fight, when they ought only to be ordered out for the King, it was obvious that followers of another religion were riding religiously in the view of a Western Liberal's View.

NATURAL GAS EXCLUDED
But Oil and Minerals Belong to the Company.
Representatives of the Canada Company complain that the published summary announcement of the judgment in the test case as to the rights of certain purchases of land in Western Ontario was not fair to the company, saying: "We would point out that the decision of Sir John Boyd, who tried the case, was that the oil and other minerals belonged to the company, but that the natural gas was not included in the reservations made by the company in granting land. We would also point out that, as reported in your issue of the 24th inst., no costs were given by the chancellor as success was divided."

His Best Effort.
The best show that Geo. M. Cohan ever wrote, says Alan Dale in The New York Journal, is "The Man Who Owns Broadway." Cohan wrote "Popularity," which was not a success, then setting the straight idea that ever occurred to him he turned it into a musical show, satirized himself, placed Raymond Hitchcock in the principal part and achieved a tremendous success.
