

The Toronto World

No. 88 YONGE STREET, TORONTO.
Daily World, in advance, $3 per year.
Sunday World, in advance, $2 per year.
Telephone: 222, 223, 224. Private branch exchange connecting all departments.
Hamilton office: H. F. Fisher, Agent.
London, England, office: F. W. Large, Agent, 145 Fleet Street, London, E.C.

THE WORLD OUTSIDE

The World can be had at the following news stands:
Windsor Hotel, Montreal.
St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal.
Pavlov & Jones, Montreal.
St. Denis Hotel, New York.
P.O. News Co., 217 Dearborn St., Chicago.
G. F. Ross, 274 E. Main St., Rochester.
John McDonald, Winnipeg, Man.
T. A. McArthur, Westminister, B.C.
McKay & Southern, Westminister, B.C.
Raymond & Doherty, St. John, N.B.

THE COMING SLAVERY.

The men that are what you might call investors and who have some money, and presidents and general managers of banks and of the calibre of the Canadian banks, and men who are engaged in manufacturing, and men who you might call of the professional class of the community are many of them inclined at the first blush to throw more or less of their sympathies, based largely on self-interest, with the coal operators in the United States.

Those who have studied the careers
of the children of both rich and poor parents have come to this conclusion.
The boy who has to struggle for his foothold from the outset is the boy who, if he takes advantage of his opportunities, develops ability and self-reliance and character, and is thus on the high road to the successful manhood.
Financial institutions, in applying to the United States colleges for young men to serve them, state that they prefer graduates who have had to work their own way thru college.

Andrew Carnegie in his "Empire of Business" maintains that the youth with the heritage of early poverty is to be envied rather than pitied. He points out that the men of mark in the world have come up from the bottom rung of the ladder, and that few rich men's sons ever amount to much.
So, young man, if you are having a struggle to get on in life, be glad of it!
And take care that you make the most of your present position.

THE MORGAN TRUST.

Mr. Morgan, who is the head of the big coal operators, the Rockefellers, the Schwabs and all the other Caesars who are seeking to control the railways, the necessities of life and the banking business, is to wipe out the smaller fry as they would enslave the workman.
The next move will be on the small banks, and then the larger banks, and they would tie up the professional men and the smaller manufacturers who have to come into the trusts or go out of business, and a dozen men would control everything on the American continent, with the exception of the farmers who own their own farms. Men who are now presidents and managers of banks will be reduced to the rank of clerks.

THE MORGAN TRUST.

Mr. Morgan could be represented in Canada by a young man from
New York running the Bank of Mon-
real, and by a young man sent from New York to run the consolidated Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk. Do not let anybody imagine for a moment that Morgan and Schwab and Rockefeller
and Baer and all these new tyrants
are going to stop where they are now unless something happens. Their idea is a universal trust of ten or fifteen
men of unlimited power, unlimited
financial resources, unlimited control over workingmen, and of unlimited control over men who now happen to be small capitalists and employers of labor, in fact, controlling everything.

THE MORGAN TRUST.

Every coal dealer in Canada has
day a little chain of mines, and the headquarters of the coal trust in the States, and one after another of our industries and institutions in this country will go the same road unless
and for all a limit is put to the formation of trusts, to the controlling of
the necessities of life, and unless parliament declares itself competent in every
way to regulate the dangers that
threaten from these men.

THE MORGAN TRUST.

Everyone is to be a hired man with
the trusts' buttons on his coat and the trusts' collar about his neck. This will be about a dozen Caesars over all.

POLICE WAGES.

Many reasons can be advanced why
the Police Commissioners, at their session today, should grant the members of the police force an increase in wages.
It may be urged that they work seven
days a week, that their hours are long,
and that they are often called away for
extra duty, for which they receive no extra pay; and it may be pointed out that the cost of living has advanced materially during recent years without any corresponding increase in the wage scale.

THE DECISIVE WEEK.

The state of affairs in the United States attendant on the fuel deadlock
has been likened to a powder keg, the conditions existing just prior to the war
of abolition, and there is more or less basis for such a comparison. In the present case as in the former, a great
section of the population is suffering from a deprivation of power on the part of another section, and in the present case, as in the other, drastic methods are required to meet the situation. To give the black his freedom, the United States
reported to extreme measures; and to enforce their own right to protection
from cold the people of the republic
may again take vigorous action. Just as it was once declared that no man might own another, so the commonwealth
may rise in its might and declare that no man may deprive another of his natural rights. In other words, just as the slaves were taken away from their masters by force, so the coal mines may be taken away from their owners
and operated for the benefit of the people. The current week should in a great measure decide whether or not the state, in the interests of the public, will have to exercise the right of eminent domain. A crisis in the history of the Republic is upon us.

NO BRIDGE AT FOOT OF YONGE-ST.

In voting down the proposal to ask the Railway Committee of the Privy Council for permission to build the long talked-of overhead bridge at the foot of Yonge-street, the City Council Monday practically laid the whole project over for another year. This means that train

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

In the world of success the poor boy has the advantage over the rich boy—every time.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Those who have studied the careers
of the children of both rich and poor
parents have come to this conclusion.
The boy who has to struggle for his
foothold from the outset is the boy
who, if he takes advantage of his opportunities, develops ability and self-
reliance and character, and is thus on
the high road to the successful manhood.
Financial institutions, in applying to
the United States colleges for young men
to serve them, state that they prefer
graduates who have had to work their
own way thru college.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Andrew Carnegie in his "Empire of Business" maintains that the youth
with the heritage of early poverty is
to be envied rather than pitied. He
points out that the men of mark in
the world have come up from the bot-
tom rung of the ladder, and that few
rich men's sons ever amount to much.
So, young man, if you are having a
struggle to get on in life, be glad of it!
And take care that you make the
most of your present position.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Mr. Morgan could be represented
in Canada by a young man from
New York running the Bank of Mon-
real, and by a young man sent from
New York to run the consolidated Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk. Do not
let anybody imagine for a moment that
Morgan and Schwab and Rockefeller
and Baer and all these new tyrants
are going to stop where they are now
unless something happens. Their idea
is a universal trust of ten or fifteen
men of unlimited power, unlimited
financial resources, unlimited control
over workingmen, and of unlimited control over men who now happen to be
small capitalists and employers of
labor, in fact, controlling everything.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Every coal dealer in Canada has
day a little chain of mines, and the
headquarters of the coal trust in the
States, and one after another of our
industries and institutions in this coun-
try will go the same road unless
and for all a limit is put to the for-
mation of trusts, to the controlling of
the necessities of life, and unless parli-
ament declares itself competent in every
way to regulate the dangers that
threaten from these men.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Everyone is to be a hired man with
the trusts' buttons on his coat and the
trusts' collar about his neck. This
will be about a dozen Caesars over all.

POLICE WAGES.

Many reasons can be advanced why
the Police Commissioners, at their ses-
sion today, should grant the members
of the police force an increase in wages.
It may be urged that they work seven
days a week, that their hours are long,
and that they are often called away for
extra duty, for which they receive no
extra pay; and it may be pointed out
that the cost of living has advanced
materially during recent years without
any corresponding increase in the wage
scale.

THE DECISIVE WEEK.

The state of affairs in the United
States attendant on the fuel deadlock
has been likened to a powder keg, the
conditions existing just prior to the war
of abolition, and there is more or less
basis for such a comparison. In the
present case as in the former, a great
section of the population is suffering
from a deprivation of power on the part
of another section, and in the present
case, as in the other, drastic methods are
required to meet the situation. To give
the black his freedom, the United States
reported to extreme measures; and to
enforce their own right to protection
from cold the people of the republic
may again take vigorous action. Just
as it was once declared that no man
might own another, so the commonwealth
may rise in its might and declare that
no man may deprive another of his nat-
ural rights. In other words, just as the
slaves were taken away from their
masters by force, so the coal mines may
be taken away from their owners
and operated for the benefit of the
people. The current week should in a
great measure decide whether or not the
state, in the interests of the public, will
have to exercise the right of eminent
domain. A crisis in the history of the Republic is upon us.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Mr. Morgan could be represented
in Canada by a young man from
New York running the Bank of Mon-
real, and by a young man sent from
New York to run the consolidated Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk. Do not
let anybody imagine for a moment that
Morgan and Schwab and Rockefeller
and Baer and all these new tyrants
are going to stop where they are now
unless something happens. Their idea
is a universal trust of ten or fifteen
men of unlimited power, unlimited
financial resources, unlimited control
over workingmen, and of unlimited control over men who now happen to be
small capitalists and employers of
labor, in fact, controlling everything.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Every coal dealer in Canada has
day a little chain of mines, and the
headquarters of the coal trust in the
States, and one after another of our
industries and institutions in this coun-
try will go the same road unless
and for all a limit is put to the for-
mation of trusts, to the controlling of
the necessities of life, and unless parli-
ament declares itself competent in every
way to regulate the dangers that
threaten from these men.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Everyone is to be a hired man with
the trusts' buttons on his coat and the
trusts' collar about his neck. This
will be about a dozen Caesars over all.

POLICE WAGES.

Many reasons can be advanced why
the Police Commissioners, at their ses-
sion today, should grant the members
of the police force an increase in wages.
It may be urged that they work seven
days a week, that their hours are long,
and that they are often called away for
extra duty, for which they receive no
extra pay; and it may be pointed out
that the cost of living has advanced
materially during recent years without
any corresponding increase in the wage
scale.

THE DECISIVE WEEK.

The state of affairs in the United
States attendant on the fuel deadlock
has been likened to a powder keg, the
conditions existing just prior to the war
of abolition, and there is more or less
basis for such a comparison. In the
present case as in the former, a great
section of the population is suffering
from a deprivation of power on the part
of another section, and in the present
case, as in the other, drastic methods are
required to meet the situation. To give
the black his freedom, the United States
reported to extreme measures; and to
enforce their own right to protection
from cold the people of the republic
may again take vigorous action. Just
as it was once declared that no man
might own another, so the commonwealth
may rise in its might and declare that
no man may deprive another of his nat-
ural rights. In other words, just as the
slaves were taken away from their
masters by force, so the coal mines may
be taken away from their owners
and operated for the benefit of the
people. The current week should in a
great measure decide whether or not the
state, in the interests of the public, will
have to exercise the right of eminent
domain. A crisis in the history of the Republic is upon us.

MAYOR'S STATE SEEN BACK

Proposal for Much-Needed Bridge at Foot of Yonge-St. Frightens Aldermen.

MONDAY'S MEETING OF COUNCIL

Ald. Crane Has a Plan to Prevent Aldermen Getting Civic Jobs—City Hall Notes.

After all the talk there has been in the Council chamber for the past couple of years in regard to a bridge at the foot of Yonge-street, the Council on Monday afternoon voted down a proposal to even ask the powers that be for permission to build a bridge. The Mayor's casting vote defeated the motion, the aldermen having stood 10 to 9 in its favor.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Those who have studied the careers
of the children of both rich and poor
parents have come to this conclusion.
The boy who has to struggle for his
foothold from the outset is the boy
who, if he takes advantage of his opportunities, develops ability and self-
reliance and character, and is thus on
the high road to the successful manhood.
Financial institutions, in applying to
the United States colleges for young men
to serve them, state that they prefer
graduates who have had to work their
own way thru college.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Andrew Carnegie in his "Empire of Business" maintains that the youth
with the heritage of early poverty is
to be envied rather than pitied. He
points out that the men of mark in
the world have come up from the bot-
tom rung of the ladder, and that few
rich men's sons ever amount to much.
So, young man, if you are having a
struggle to get on in life, be glad of it!
And take care that you make the
most of your present position.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Mr. Morgan could be represented
in Canada by a young man from
New York running the Bank of Mon-
real, and by a young man sent from
New York to run the consolidated Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk. Do not
let anybody imagine for a moment that
Morgan and Schwab and Rockefeller
and Baer and all these new tyrants
are going to stop where they are now
unless something happens. Their idea
is a universal trust of ten or fifteen
men of unlimited power, unlimited
financial resources, unlimited control
over workingmen, and of unlimited control over men who now happen to be
small capitalists and employers of
labor, in fact, controlling everything.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Every coal dealer in Canada has
day a little chain of mines, and the
headquarters of the coal trust in the
States, and one after another of our
industries and institutions in this coun-
try will go the same road unless
and for all a limit is put to the for-
mation of trusts, to the controlling of
the necessities of life, and unless parli-
ament declares itself competent in every
way to regulate the dangers that
threaten from these men.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Everyone is to be a hired man with
the trusts' buttons on his coat and the
trusts' collar about his neck. This
will be about a dozen Caesars over all.

POLICE WAGES.

Many reasons can be advanced why
the Police Commissioners, at their ses-
sion today, should grant the members
of the police force an increase in wages.
It may be urged that they work seven
days a week, that their hours are long,
and that they are often called away for
extra duty, for which they receive no
extra pay; and it may be pointed out
that the cost of living has advanced
materially during recent years without
any corresponding increase in the wage
scale.

THE DECISIVE WEEK.

The state of affairs in the United
States attendant on the fuel deadlock
has been likened to a powder keg, the
conditions existing just prior to the war
of abolition, and there is more or less
basis for such a comparison. In the
present case as in the former, a great
section of the population is suffering
from a deprivation of power on the part
of another section, and in the present
case, as in the other, drastic methods are
required to meet the situation. To give
the black his freedom, the United States
reported to extreme measures; and to
enforce their own right to protection
from cold the people of the republic
may again take vigorous action. Just
as it was once declared that no man
might own another, so the commonwealth
may rise in its might and declare that
no man may deprive another of his nat-
ural rights. In other words, just as the
slaves were taken away from their
masters by force, so the coal mines may
be taken away from their owners
and operated for the benefit of the
people. The current week should in a
great measure decide whether or not the
state, in the interests of the public, will
have to exercise the right of eminent
domain. A crisis in the history of the Republic is upon us.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Mr. Morgan could be represented
in Canada by a young man from
New York running the Bank of Mon-
real, and by a young man sent from
New York to run the consolidated Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk. Do not
let anybody imagine for a moment that
Morgan and Schwab and Rockefeller
and Baer and all these new tyrants
are going to stop where they are now
unless something happens. Their idea
is a universal trust of ten or fifteen
men of unlimited power, unlimited
financial resources, unlimited control
over workingmen, and of unlimited control over men who now happen to be
small capitalists and employers of
labor, in fact, controlling everything.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Every coal dealer in Canada has
day a little chain of mines, and the
headquarters of the coal trust in the
States, and one after another of our
industries and institutions in this coun-
try will go the same road unless
and for all a limit is put to the for-
mation of trusts, to the controlling of
the necessities of life, and unless parli-
ament declares itself competent in every
way to regulate the dangers that
threaten from these men.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Everyone is to be a hired man with
the trusts' buttons on his coat and the
trusts' collar about his neck. This
will be about a dozen Caesars over all.

POLICE WAGES.

Many reasons can be advanced why
the Police Commissioners, at their ses-
sion today, should grant the members
of the police force an increase in wages.
It may be urged that they work seven
days a week, that their hours are long,
and that they are often called away for
extra duty, for which they receive no
extra pay; and it may be pointed out
that the cost of living has advanced
materially during recent years without
any corresponding increase in the wage
scale.

THE DECISIVE WEEK.

The state of affairs in the United
States attendant on the fuel deadlock
has been likened to a powder keg, the
conditions existing just prior to the war
of abolition, and there is more or less
basis for such a comparison. In the
present case as in the former, a great
section of the population is suffering
from a deprivation of power on the part
of another section, and in the present
case, as in the other, drastic methods are
required to meet the situation. To give
the black his freedom, the United States
reported to extreme measures; and to
enforce their own right to protection
from cold the people of the republic
may again take vigorous action. Just
as it was once declared that no man
might own another, so the commonwealth
may rise in its might and declare that
no man may deprive another of his nat-
ural rights. In other words, just as the
slaves were taken away from their
masters by force, so the coal mines may
be taken away from their owners
and operated for the benefit of the
people. The current week should in a
great measure decide whether or not the
state, in the interests of the public, will
have to exercise the right of eminent
domain. A crisis in the history of the Republic is upon us.

775,000 FOR AN OPERATION

Big Fee Paid to Vienna Surgeon and Assistants for Two Hours' Work.

THEY RIGHTED A DISLOCATED HIP

Professor Lorenz Says Armour's Daughter Will Be Able to Use Her Limb.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 13.—"It is all over;
it is quite finished, and I think, I know, indeed, that it is entirely successful."
In this way Prof. Adolph Lorenz of Vienna, with a characteristic shrug of the shoulders, declared yesterday that the operation on little Lolita, daughter of J. Ogden Armour, had been performed, and that he was convinced the little girl will, in a few short weeks, enjoy the free use of her legs and be as other children of her age.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Those who have studied the careers
of the children of both rich and poor
parents have come to this conclusion.
The boy who has to struggle for his
foothold from the outset is the boy
who, if he takes advantage of his opportunities, develops ability and self-
reliance and character, and is thus on
the high road to the successful manhood.
Financial institutions, in applying to
the United States colleges for young men
to serve them, state that they prefer
graduates who have had to work their
own way thru college.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Andrew Carnegie in his "Empire of Business" maintains that the youth
with the heritage of early poverty is
to be envied rather than pitied. He
points out that the men of mark in
the world have come up from the bot-
tom rung of the ladder, and that few
rich men's sons ever amount to much.
So, young man, if you are having a
struggle to get on in life, be glad of it!
And take care that you make the
most of your present position.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Mr. Morgan could be represented
in Canada by a young man from
New York running the Bank of Mon-
real, and by a young man sent from
New York to run the consolidated Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk. Do not
let anybody imagine for a moment that
Morgan and Schwab and Rockefeller
and Baer and all these new tyrants
are going to stop where they are now
unless something happens. Their idea
is a universal trust of ten or fifteen
men of unlimited power, unlimited
financial resources, unlimited control
over workingmen, and of unlimited control over men who now happen to be
small capitalists and employers of
labor, in fact, controlling everything.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Every coal dealer in Canada has
day a little chain of mines, and the
headquarters of the coal trust in the
States, and one after another of our
industries and institutions in this coun-
try will go the same road unless
and for all a limit is put to the for-
mation of trusts, to the controlling of
the necessities of life, and unless parli-
ament declares itself competent in every
way to regulate the dangers that
threaten from these men.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Everyone is to be a hired man with
the trusts' buttons on his coat and the
trusts' collar about his neck. This
will be about a dozen Caesars over all.

POLICE WAGES.

Many reasons can be advanced why
the Police Commissioners, at their ses-
sion today, should grant the members
of the police force an increase in wages.
It may be urged that they work seven
days a week, that their hours are long,
and that they are often called away for
extra duty, for which they receive no
extra pay; and it may be pointed out
that the cost of living has advanced
materially during recent years without
any corresponding increase in the wage
scale.

THE DECISIVE WEEK.

The state of affairs in the United
States attendant on the fuel deadlock
has been likened to a powder keg, the
conditions existing just prior to the war
of abolition, and there is more or less
basis for such a comparison. In the
present case as in the former, a great
section of the population is suffering
from a deprivation of power on the part
of another section, and in the present
case, as in the other, drastic methods are
required to meet the situation. To give
the black his freedom, the United States
reported to extreme measures; and to
enforce their own right to protection
from cold the people of the republic
may again take vigorous action. Just
as it was once declared that no man
might own another, so the commonwealth
may rise in its might and declare that
no man may deprive another of his nat-
ural rights. In other words, just as the
slaves were taken away from their
masters by force, so the coal mines may
be taken away from their owners
and operated for the benefit of the
people. The current week should in a
great measure decide whether or not the
state, in the interests of the public, will
have to exercise the right of eminent
domain. A crisis in the history of the Republic is upon us.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Mr. Morgan could be represented
in Canada by a young man from
New York running the Bank of Mon-
real, and by a young man sent from
New York to run the consolidated Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk. Do not
let anybody imagine for a moment that
Morgan and Schwab and Rockefeller
and Baer and all these new tyrants
are going to stop where they are now
unless something happens. Their idea
is a universal trust of ten or fifteen
men of unlimited power, unlimited
financial resources, unlimited control
over workingmen, and of unlimited control over men who now happen to be
small capitalists and employers of
labor, in fact, controlling everything.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Every coal dealer in Canada has
day a little chain of mines, and the
headquarters of the coal trust in the
States, and one after another of our
industries and institutions in this coun-
try will go the same road unless
and for all a limit is put to the for-
mation of trusts, to the controlling of
the necessities of life, and unless parli-
ament declares itself competent in every
way to regulate the dangers that
threaten from these men.

THE POOR BOY HAS BEST CHANCE

Everyone is to be a hired man with
the trusts' buttons on his coat and the
trusts' collar about his neck. This
will be about a dozen Caesars over all.

POLICE WAGES.

Many reasons can be advanced why
the Police Commissioners, at their ses-
sion today, should grant the members
of the police force an increase in wages.
It may be urged that they work seven
days a week, that their hours are long,
and that they are often called away for
extra duty, for which they receive no
extra pay; and it may be pointed out
that the cost of living has advanced
materially during recent years without
any corresponding increase in the wage
scale.

THE DECISIVE WEEK.

The state of affairs in the United
States attendant on the fuel deadlock
has been likened to a powder keg, the
conditions existing just prior to the war
of abolition, and there is more or less
basis for such a comparison. In the
present case as in the former, a great
section of the population is suffering
from a deprivation of power on the part
of another section, and in the present
case, as in the other, drastic methods are
required to meet the situation. To give
the black his freedom, the United States
reported to extreme measures; and to
enforce their own right to protection
from cold the people of the republic
may again take vigorous action. Just
as it was once declared that no man
might own another, so the commonwealth
may rise in its might and declare that
no man may deprive another of his nat-
ural rights. In other words, just as the
slaves were taken away from their
masters by force, so the coal mines may
be taken away from their owners
and operated for the benefit of the
people. The current week should in a
great measure decide whether or not the
state, in the interests of the public, will
have to exercise the right of eminent
domain. A crisis in the history of the Republic is upon us.

THE T. EATON CO. LIMITED

Ready-to-Wear Clothing
Our stock always contains just what you require at prices that make light demands on your purse. These for example:

Men's Suits

Overcoats

Boys' Suits

Muslins and Linings

Furs

House Furnishings

Wednesdays at East's

Gun Specials

China Sale

Underwear

Boys' Hats

Town of North Toronto

Maple Syrup

Baby's Troubles

Patents

The Telephone

The Bell Telephone Co. of Canada

W. H. Stone

Chickering

H. W. Burnett & Co.

The Toronto Daily Star Will Have a More Complete List

The T. Eaton Co. Limited

190 YONGE ST., TORONTO.

Michie's Coffee