Chicago Cattle

Marshall, Spader & Co. to J. G. Beary:
 Wheat—Market has been very dull and very nervous, fluctuating erratically with narrow limits with trade light. Buy-ers were principally for short account, and general influences were not bullish. There was a demand to speak of, crop news favorable, and export business of consequence. Market is headstrong, and the cause of the weakness is obvious for the time being will probably be entirely a scaling proposition.
 Corn—Market had an early weak turn, but subsequently rallied sharply and ruled strong. Corn offerings were pretty well all from Illinois controlled material. The market is still controlled, and this being the case, opinions are obvious to the contrary.
 E. Ennis & Stoppani wired to J. L. Mitchell:
 Wheat—To-day has been irregular with prices within a narrow range, closing figures showing a gain. There were no new arrivals from the day to affect the market in either direction.
 Corn and Oats—Corn ruled firm through-out the day. Trade was liberal with some long lines being held.
 Oats—Were steady, but dull.
 J. R. Heinz & Co. wired R. B. Holden:
 Wheat—The local crowd sold considerable wheat. There was some fair reports of buyers, but the world's shipments were largely bare. World's shipments 10,530,000 bushels. Northern wheat cars 511, last year 644. It looks as if a great deal of the bear market had been discounted and on any further setback should be bought.
 Corn—There was considerable building up of the market, and the decline was soon checked. It looks as if the bear market had been discounted and on any further setback should be bought.
 Oats—Have been firm through-out the session. There was some short selling, but the majority was profit-taking sales.
