Aged Churchman Expired Suddenly Last Night-Happenings of a Day.

He was born in Dublin, but came to Canada when an infant. His ordination took place at St. Catharines, and afterwards he was rector of the aBrton and Glanford churches for 30 years. For several years he was rector also of Stamford and Lundy Lane, retiring several years ago. A widow, two sons and six daughters survive. The sons are:

I have returned lately from Pennsylvania, where oil has been used very largely, and it has had no bad effect of the measures by such large majorities, while hoped for, was hardly expected, and now that the prelimination of the roadways in the two bylaws (sewerage and parallel roads) has, if anything, been intensified by the action of the rate-payers on Saturday last. after their men. The very best kind of bunkhouses and dining-halls have been erected on all the shipping mines, and the men are certainly well fed, well looked after and as a result are doing the best kind of work. They are also the best paid men of their class in Canada and most of them are saving money and have deposits in the banks. This high-class business method is carried into everything in the way of supplies, machine plants, achorses and wagons, and generally into everything that has to be undertaken.

As an evidence of the kind of labor in the Cobalt mines you can see several score of the best students from Toronto School of Science and other institutions of that kind in the Dominion and the States working in the mines during the holidays as ordinary miners in order to get actual experience. They all get the miners' pay. These young men make the very best miners and will henceforward be the backbone of the development of the camp. Some of the leading engineers in the camp now are Canadian born and

So that as a consequence now when you go to Cobalt you see a great big industry on big lines with high-class buildings, with energetic men in charge, with the best and highest priced labor doing the work, with unlimited capital available for any kind of improvement and at the top of all this, satisfactory results, including dividends being obtained by many of the properties and others rapidly coming into a corresponding condition. More pointed than Cobalt are the Cobalt dividends. Everybody is confident, hopeful, full of snap, full of enterprise, and as I said above. Cobalt is the swiftest proposition in America to-day, and it is fast taking on still more expansive lines.

Cobalt ought to produce very nearly $20,000,000 in silver this Vear and perhaps double that next year and at the same time effect great savings in the expenses and also increase the efficiency of the plants in Still more striking now in connection with Cobalt is the easy way in which you can see the richness of the mines at very little inconvenience. You can either see surface veins that carry enormous values and which are uncovered, or if you go down the shafts and into the drifts you will see miles of tunnels with well defined veins carrying various grades of silver ore all easily visible. You have only to lift the ore to get an idea of its value. You can also see in several mines work and ore blocked out so that the management is in a position to tell the shareholders that so much ore is in sight and that dividends for a certain number of months are an undoubted fact. In the ore house you can also see ore being broken up; medisee it concentrated and see the high-grade stuff being put in bags. For mistance. if you go into the engine house of Kerr Lake you will see 200,000 ounces of silver in the bags valued at over $100,000, and on the other properties similar conditions of a more or less identical nature are at hand.

Cobalt is so big that there is room for everyone in the way of investment. As I said above, Canada alone cannot handle so big a proposition. Foreign capital is gradually coming to Cobalt and there is a good prospect of its coming much more rapidly. English capital is better disposed since La Rose was put on the London market. New York thinks better than ever of Cobalt. Boston, now a copper city, may come to be a Cobalt city; other centres of American capital will follow. Cobalt can absorb many more millions of capital, and those who put it up will be sure of big returns. Cobalt is so great a camp that is is hard to grasp it at a single
