As Hiram Sees It

THE SETTLEMENT: We set out on the 11th night till dark. We were bareheaded—and in our shirtsleeves—and it was the second week in September. We were talking about the feller that said they wouldn't be no summer this year—and while we talked we looked at the green trees—'er' 'er' apples hanging on 'em—and listened to a squirrel chattering away in the cedars. We talked about the crops—an' the garden—with the corn in the ear and the tomatoes gittin' ripe—an' a maple tree that has some branches dyin' an' the leaves on 'em turned yaller an' red—the first signs o' the change that's coming. Then we had a game of auction—and when we went to bed we slept the sleep o' them that finds it good to be alive—an' livin' where every prospect pleases—as the poet says. The same feller said that any man was vile—but I guess that was just afore an election.

A can with liquor in it, was found.

SEE THE FALLS

At high tide the water of the Bay of Fundy reaches a higher level than the water of the Saint John River and forces its way through the gorge of the Falls, creating a "Falls" running up river.

At low tide the water in the Bay becomes so much lower than that of the river, that the fall of water is reversed and flows down river into the Bay.

At half tide, when the level in the Bay and River are about equal, the water at the Falls becomes smooth as the surface of a lake.

To fully appreciate this wonder of the world it should be seen at all three stages.
