SPORT NEWS OF THE DAY; HOME AND ABROAD

TURF.

Grand Circuit.
Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 20.—Heavy rains of Thursday and cloudy skies nearly all of Friday morning kept today's Grand Circuit race programme from being started until half past three with the course so heavy then that the free-for-all trot was declared off, owners not being willing to start their horses.

The Hartman Hotel Stake for 211 pacers, was easily won by Verlie Patchen who came back to the big ring after a successful campaign through the middle west.

The 200 class pace was won by Onward Sam.

The Horse Review Futurity for three year old pacers, purse $2,000 was not finished by nightfall, three different colts winning as many heats. The summary:

2.09 Pace, 3 in 5; Purse, $1,000.

Onward Sam (Patrick)..... 5 1 1 1
Pacing Patch (Field)..... 1 2 4 4

ATHLETIC.

Capt. Lou Scholes Director.

Toronto, Sept. 20.—It is officially announced that the Canadian Expeditionary Force for Siberia is to have a director of athletics and Captain Lou F. Scholes, director of athletics for the Toronto Military District, attached to the headquarters, has been appointed to the position.

BARBERS ON STRIKE

Halifax Echo.—If rumors are true, Halifax will shortly be a "shabby" city. At least its citizens will look that way, for the barber employees are talking of striking for more pay. They are now getting in the majority of parors $12 a week with a half of anything taken in over $20 during the week. Others are receiving $22 a week. They are asking for $15 a week and half the amount taken in over $20. The old century razor will have to be dug out, or a new safety purchased, if the threat holds true. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good. The hardware men would have an excellent trade.

A LESSON IN FRENCH

The French official photographer wrote on the back of this photograph that the French police is teaching the mule how to say "Bon jour." But it is more probable that the lesson has to do with Emperor Bill and that part of it might be too rude for publication.

Battle in Caves of St. Gobain

French Creep on All Fours Over Plateau and Up Ravines—Water Up to Their Knees

(By Robert Berry, Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.)

With the French Armies in the Field, Sept. 20.—Creeping on all fours over plateaus and up ravines dotted with German quick-firers, the French are seeking out hidden machine-guns and reducing them with grenades when found.

General Mangin's troops are making one of the most courageous and most admirable fights of this war south of St. Gobain forest, against what a French officer has described as a "natural citadel" that men have been perfecting for four years.

The French made 400 more prisoners in this region today under conditions of difficulty which can scarcely be appreciated except by persons on the ground. They gained 1,000 yards over a front of two and a half miles, which would seem insignificant in proportion to the effort and the position less important.

Every 100 Yards Weakens Pillar.

Every hundred yards of an advance made here weakens a pillar in the German resistance in St. Gobain Forest.

An order signed by the general commanding a German division defending this position was found on a prisoner. The document pointed out how vital it was to hold the line, "it prevents the enemy from obtaining a view of both sides of the canal from the Oise to the Aisne. If it falls into the enemy's hands it gives him a most favorable point for future attacks."

"It expects," concludes the order, "that the division will be able here to maintain its previous reputation and will hold the position integrally against all attacks."

Advancing from shellhole to shellhole, General Mangin's men defeated this crack division and five others that were put into a line over a front of five and a half miles between Alençon and Vailly. In doing so they conquered four caves at the summit.

SHOT IN MISTAKE

(Sackville Tribune.)

Every year during the shooting season there are fatal accidents through carelessness. There is insufficient caution exercised in the handling of the loaded gun. Somebody's blunder is paid for, often in the twinkling of an eye, with a toll of human life. There are a hundred ways of causing fatalities with the gun through sheer indifference and thoughtlessness for the safety of the other man, and in many cases there is exhibited a foolishness for one's own welfare too. Perhaps the biggest blunder is that of the over-enthusiastic sportsman who mistakes his game; a rustle among the bushes; some object spotted; the crack of the gun re-echoes through the woods—but what then? Perhaps a group of human anguish and all is still. The sequel is given in the newspaper heading "Shot in Mistake."

We would not wish, however, to dampen the ardor of our sportsmen by presenting a too dismal picture. But don't forget that men are scarce!

To Study Methods.

E. Murray Olive, chairman of the board of assessors, left last night for Providence, R. I., for the purpose of studying the methods adopted by the assessors in that city.

NEW VAUDEVILLE BILL PLEASED THE AUDIENCE

Opera House Crowded Last Night and Change of Programme Won Lots of Applause

That the new programme of vaudeville acts at the Opera House last evening met with general approval from the large audiences at both performances was evident from hearty and prolonged applause and favorable comments heard on all sides. The new bill is varied and contains good musical numbers, a magic act of merit and trick cycling riding. Following an exciting episode of "The Lion's Claws," Story and Clark appeared behind the footlights in a bright musical act. The male member is an exceptionally good piano and xylophone player and his selections on these instruments brought forth enthusiastic applause. His partner sang several songs, which were well received.

Ethel Battling then regaled the audience with a song, a number of stories and some impersonations which were good, and the audience showed their appreciation by hearty applause.

One of the features of the programme was a magic and patriotic novelty act by the Hanson Trio. The latter consisted of a magician and two young ladies. In addition to the usual clever feats of producing something from apparently nowhere and many other tricks, the magician had his act interspersed with clever singing and dancing.

The closing feature, which was of a patriotic nature, was well put over and must be seen to be appreciated.

The Clover Leaf Trio again appeared on the programme and, remembering their clever performance on a previous occasion, the audience anticipated something worth while. That they were not disappointed was evident from their hearty laughter and generous applause. The singing was greatly enjoyed and the band numbers were amusing and well rendered, especially the troupe cadences.

The last act was of the Walthour Duo, two trick cyclists. They gave a clever and interesting performance and some difficult feats evoked well merited applause.

"FLANDERS COUNCIL" CONDEMNED BY THE FLEMISH PEOPLE

The plan to put Flanders under German protectorate, is stirring up the most indignation among the Flemish Belgians, even among those who are the most devoted to the linguistic reforms advocated by the "Flandings." All eyes are now open. It is obvious today," writes a newspaper widely renowned for the ardor of its flaming polemics, "even to the faithful supporters of the despot policy, that Aklirism is but a reasonable thing and a German tool!"

SHORT CUTS TO SUCCESS.

Publishers Apt to Praise Extravagantly So-Called Inspirational Books.

Success in life ought to come easier for the present generation than for those that have gone before. Short cuts to the achievement of ambition were never more available. All are familiar from the days of their childhood with the popular receipts of famous men for obtaining success. One said "industry" was the sole reliable method. Another said "honesty," another, "thrift," another, "keep a savings account," another, "early hours," another "abstinence from tobacco," etc. But modern knowledge has gone the old-fashioned philosophers one better. Books, forsooth, are being printed that teach the ambitious how to be successful. All that need be done is to read the book. In that act, according to the publishers, you obtain "a new lease of life," learn to have confidence in yourself, banish fear and reach the goal of the ordinary man's earthly desires.

That is a great deal for one book to do. Success is not so easily captured. If it were failures would be relatively fewer. Success is the result of various factors, among which, usually, are character, native ability, industry, perseverance, ambition. Books may help, even one book may do much, but alone and unaided it is not likely to insure success.

Books that aim to teach men how to succeed are like the books, or the collection of books, that pretend to comprise in them all that is necessary to develop a cultured man. Read these and no others, say their publishers, and you will have a liberal education, thus establishing the superiority of the collectors to the colleges, which take from four to six years to impart an education to students who work hard enough. Short cuts to success or to education are not complete substitutes for elements that are sure guides to success. Neither is success ordinarily acquired without painful plugging and brain-racking industry.—Indianapolis News.
