It is not confined to St. John, for progress is the watchword all over the province.

The year 1913 will be a better year for New Brunswick than 1919 here.

The year 1913 will be a better year for the continues to reap the fruits of Liberal policy. The revenue of the country is enormous, but the Borden government will find ways and means of preventing an undue accumulation in the treasury. The long hunger of the faithful is still unsatisfied.

The London Graphic of October 26th has a very handsome Canadian supplement of thirty-six pages. Two pages are devoted to New Brunswick, and the matter and the illustrations are such as to make a most favorable impression upon the reader. There are seven illustrations, showing very attractive farm scenes, one showing the Duke of Connaught at St. John, and another showing an Albert County gas well illuminated at night. The article which accompanies these illustrations describes accurately the agricultural possibilities of the province, with special reference to orchards and sheep raising. The forest and mineral wealth and the valuable water powers are mentioned, and the writer points out that the province only needs men and money. He says that he was shown letters at St. John by Imigration Agent Gilchrist, from settlers from the old country, all of whom spoke in high terms of their complete eatisfaction with their new life. There is nothing that brings with it will excellent transportation facilities.

The Maritime Merchant, noting the increased interest in farm settlement in these provinces, says:—"This means that the agricultural industry of the Maritime Provinces is coming into its own. As our cased interest in farm settlement in these provinces, says:—"This means that the agricultural industry of the Maritime Provinces is coming into its own. Ah! he arrested it for making threats, it suppose."

In order to allay the fears of some who express a faer that the public school buildings are about to be converted into dance-halls, it may be explained that folk-dancing is another name for musical drills of a quite harmless and altogether pleasing nature. It would not shock the semi-bilities of the most austere citizen, while if gives the greatest delight to the young people. It is taught everywhere in consection with playground activities, and has proved a valuable means of bringing young people under the supervision of trained workers in social pentres. It may be hoped that these musical drills will be introduced on the supervision of trained to be based on a sanitary grounds. What can it be? Mrs. Stuart Finally Saved By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Story Interesting.

Elmo, Mo.—"I think your Vegetable Compound is wonderful for it has helped me. I had four doctors and they said I had female troubles and a tumor and nothing but an operation would help me. I could not sit still long enough to eat.

"A year ago last spring my doctor gave me up, and he was surprised to see me this spring and to see my condition. I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise wherever I go for I knew I would not be here today or have our fine baby boy if I had not taken it."
