MARCONI WORKS ON NEW WONDER
 Experimenting at Glace Bay With New Instrument He Has Invented to Improve System

(Glace Bay Gazette)
 Glace Bay may become even more famous within the next two weeks, through the instrumentality of Signor Marconi, the wireless wizard, who is to conduct a series of experiments at his wireless station there with a new and powerful instrument of his own invention. This invention, if successful, will greatly improve the present system and lessen the cost of Marconiograms all over the world.

The celebrated inventor, accompanied by Mrs. Marconi and his private secretary, Mr. McEwen, arrived in Sydney from Montreal on the I. O. R. express. He was met at Sydney by Mr. Wattmore, the local manager of the Glace Bay station, the party being conveyed to the Towers by a special S. & L. train.

When interviewed by a Gazette representative, Signor Marconi stated that he did not have much to say for publication at present. He was going to spend two weeks at the wireless station here, conducting a series of experiments with his new invention which he hoped would prove a greater success than any past experiments he had undertaken. Questions regarding the exact nature of the new instrument, and just what effect it would have in improving the present system, Mr. Marconi was very reticent, but stated that he hoped to break all previous records for long distance telegraphing. The greatest distance he has been able to send messages direct up to the present was from the coast of Ireland to Buenos Ayres in the Argentine Republic, a distance of 6000 miles. Experiments conducted at the Glace Bay station a short time ago, showed that the equipment there was capable of sending messages to Haly, a distance of 4000 miles. The new instrument has arrived in Glace Bay and will be erected at the towers immediately when Mr. Marconi will commence his experiments at once.

Discussing the financial condition of the British Wireless Telegraph Company, Mr. Marconi stated the company was now doing a pretty successful business and paying dividends at the rate of 10 per cent. The present rate made for Marconiograms is 12 cents a word, but before that and the present year he expects with improved apparatus to cut these figures down to 10 cents a word.

On the way across from Liverpool Signor Marconi conducted a series of experiments with this, his latest invention, and kept up an unbroken communication with Haly on the Cornish coast, thus breaking the record for telegraphing at a distance of 2000 miles. He was particularly pleased at finding the messages received on board ship absolutely clear not having expected that they would be taken down so easily and believes that this addition to his scientific equipment will be of enormous importance and use.

Give the farmers, the lumbermen and fishermen their turn. Their prosperity means prosperity for the province.

BRITISH STRIKE IS SETTLED

This picture shows 17,000 dock strikers of London marching from the Connaught Gate to the East of London Docks. Mounted police are riding ahead to clear the way for the paraders. The dense crowd of spectators is of a typical East End kind. Since the picture was taken, 600,000 more railway men have been involved in the labor troubles. (Photograph by Underwood, N. Y.)

London, Aug. 20.-A great wave of relief swept over the country tonight when, shortly after 11 o'clock, the announcement was made from the Board of Trade offices that the railway strike had been settled and that the men would return to work immediately.

Most of the credit for settlement seems to rest on the shoulders of David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, who, in his statements to parliament and interviews with managers and the men, worked for conciliation when all others of the interested parties seemed to have given up.

A joint committee of five members, composed of two representatives of the railway companies, two of the men and a non-partisan chairman, will be appointed Tuesday to investigate the workings of the conciliation act of 1907, which the men claim is the root of all their grievances. This device overcomes the men's objections to a royal commission, which they contended, always has been in practice a synonym for delay.

Messages were sent to 1,800 branches of the labor union tonight saying: "The joint commission has settled the strike. It is a victory for trades unionism. All men must work immediately."

There is no doubt that today's affray at Llanely, Wales, where troops fired on a mob killing two men and wounding two others, had much influence in ending the strike. The Liberal government had almost its existence at stake because the strike, as it depends on the working classes for its power. The shooting of citizens by the military occurred less than in the United Kingdom than in any other European country and is particularly repugnant to all classes. The settlement was reached at a conference between David Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, and the executive of the men's societies. Assurances have been given by both parties to the agreement that they will accept the findings of the commission, and the government has assured the railway companies that it will propose to parliament next session legislation providing that increase in the cost of labor due to improvement of conditions of the railways will be valid justification for a reasonable increase in charges within the legal maximum.

MONUMENT AT CATON'S ISLAND WAS UNVEILED SATURDAY

In spite of the disappointing weather conditions on Saturday, about 120 people, mostly members of the N. B. Historical and the Natural History societies went on the new ferry steamer Governor Carleton to Caton's Island, where a monument marking the first settlement of European in New Brunswick was unveiled.

The monument, which is a large slab of grey granite, is nicely polished, and surmounts the cairn. Col. Sturges, Rev. Dr. Raymond, Dr. G. U. Hay, Dr. G. F. Matthew, James Lovell, and Mayor Frink were the speakers at the unveiling exercises. Dr. Matthew assisted by T. O'Brien, president of the N. B. Historical Society, unveiled the monument. The speakers for the most part dealt with the movement to have the cairn established there in fitting memory of an important event, and Mayor Frink made some remarks complimentary to the ladies who had interested themselves in the project of having a monument there, which he said, "was not the first good and commendable work done by the ladies of St. John."

James Lovell, the owner of Caton's Island, expressed pleasure at being present and was glad to see this monument started. He said he would be greatly pleased to meet the members of the New Brunswick Historical Society and give them a deed of the land upon which the monument stands, so that it may always be accessible to the general public.

On the way back to the city the members of the New Brunswick Historical Society passed resolutions thanking all who had helped to make the outing a success. These included: His worship the mayor and common council, chairman of the ferry committee, Superintendent of Ferries Waring, E. Mooney & Sons, members of Carleton Cornet Band, James Lovell, W. H. Thorne, James Holly and the following who lent the services of their motor and other boats in transporting the people to and from the island: Commodore Thomson, Herbert Roberts, C. Winter Brown, Walter White, G. H. V. Belyea; also to the ladies and Dr. R. Jack, who reserved refreshments. Various residents in the neighborhood who rendered services were also thanked.

Superintendent Waring was very much pleased with the running of the new ferry steamer Governor Carleton and expressed the opinion that she was thoroughly suited for the work she is to do. On this trip everything had passed off without a hitch, the boat being very steady in the heavy wind, encountered in Grand Bay, and the Reach.

While going up river on the steamer, Rev. Dr. Raymond and Dr. Matthew gave talks on the history of the St. John river, which proved very interesting. Dr. Matthew gave a sketch of the geological formation along the St. John, while Dr. Raymond dealt with the settlement and early history of the river.

The Carleton Cornet Band played several selections during the trip.

Canada's total trade with all countries last year was valued at $769,094,389. More than half of it, or $404,137,940 was in trade with the United States. Does that fact lessen our loyalty to the Empire?
