

HOLIDAY SUGGESTIONS

They give twice who give wisely. Give your loved ones presents that are useful, practical, and appropriate, and add the joy of giving the knowledge that, in coming from OUR STORES, they were correct in shape, fit and quality.

We have Soft Slippers for Mother, and Easy Slippers for Dad. There are warm, grateful Slippers for Grandmother, and Jigger Slippers for Grandfather. There are Satin and Patent Pumps, Kossas, in colors with ribbon insertion to match, and Boudoir Slippers with fluffy Pom-Poms, and there are Soft, Low Shoes and Juliet. There is pretty much everything desired for indoor wear.

There are many and stylish specimens of seasonable footwear for Missy's street and occasional wear, and many kinds of giftable footwear creations for little folks. "Romper" Boots, Rubber Boots, and Fretty Slippers—never was a showing better.

There are Dainty Little Boots and Slippers in white, pink, blue and chocolate for dimpled, dumpy darlings; also Patent Boots and Slippers with white kid, dull kid and cloth tops.

And there are Ornaments galore—Bows, Buckles and Pom-Poms for Slippers, and ever so many footwear jewels, new and chic and rich in design, and appealing to the eye.

Visit Our Stores Early in the Day During Next Week.

HOME TO FIND HIS WIFE AND BABE DEAD

Worcester Nightworker's Awful Discovery — Woman Stricken, Turns on Gas in Fall

Worcester, Dec. 12.—Returning after his night's work as a boiler tender in the South Works of the American Steel and Wire Company at 6.30 a. m. Joseph Wray of 190 Vernon street entered his home to find his wife, aged 34 and his baby daughter, Winifred, aged seventeen months, dead from gas poisoning, and the deadly fumes pouring from an open gas jet into their bedroom.

Stunned by his horrible discovery and almost overcome by the escaping gas, Mr. Wray had difficulty in summoning assistance from the other two families that live in the house.

The police ambulance was summoned and Dr. Richard J. Shanahan worked over the victims with a pulmonary for nearly two hours but they had been dead some time.

The conditions indicated that Mrs. Wray suffered a cerebral hemorrhage as she was turning out the gas light in the bedroom preparatory to retiring for the night. Her body was found on the floor, crumpled in a heap, with the right arm extended toward the jet. The appearance of the body indicated that she suffered a shock as she reached for the jet to extinguish the light and fell striking the gas cock in such a way that she opened it after shutting off the flame.

The fumes filled the room and, besides finishing the work of the cerebral hemorrhage, they caused the death of the baby sleeping in her crib at the foot of the bed.

When Mr. Wray reached home his wife was not on hand to meet him as usual, and he found the rear door locked. He tapped on the window of a bedroom occupied by two other children, Harold, aged four and Ethel, aged three. Harold opened the door for him.

The led immediately went back to bed and Mr. Wray continued through the kitchen and the living room into the front of the house to arouse his wife. As he opened the bedroom door, he was struck by the over powering odor of escaping gas and then discovered his dead wife and baby.
