

FIGHTING SPEECH BY LIBERAL LEADER

J. A. Macdonald and R. L. Drury Addressed
Electors of Saanichton Last Night—Constructive Policy Outlined.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Saanichton Liberals turned up in force last night to hear Mr. Macdonald, the Liberal leader, address a meeting in support of the candidature of J. Plender. A special train from Victoria brought a large body of enthusiasts to the scene, and one of the best fighting speeches of the campaign was listened to with tense interest and punctuated with frequent rounds of applause.

David Stevens occupied the chair. On the platform were John Plender, R. L. Drury, H. E. Tanner, Gordon Grant, C. Pointer and C. B. Jones.

The meeting was at one with John Plender. On invitation, no one was forthcoming to speak on behalf of D. M. Eberts. From start to finish the listeners hung on the words of the speakers and betrayed an interest, perhaps unequalled in the present political situation.

Mr. Macdonald dwelt at length on the railway policy of the McBride-Socialist government. He pointed out the wily machinations of the Kaian Island transaction. He showed the fallacy of better terms, as expounded by Premier McBride, as a party cry. In conclusion he outlined the platform of Liberalism, and contrasted it with the want of action on the part of the late government.

In opening his speech Mr. Macdonald said that it was the first time he had had the pleasure of addressing the electors of Saanichton. He then alluded to the past services of Mr. Tanner, "who," he said, "I am assured will continue his good work for the constituency when the new House meets, and the Liberals are on the right hand of the Speaker. In your present choice of a candidate you have made no mistake."

"The Macdonald-Socialist government has never done anything for itself. If some good measure has been passed it is because some member of the opposition has suggested it. A story is told of Sir Robert Peel, an old time premier of Great Britain—that he had stolen his opponent's clothes while his opponent was in swimming. That is exactly what the McBride-Socialist government has done."

"The Conservatives are carrying out the present campaign upon two issues: The question of better terms and the fact that the province is prosperous at the present time the government should have changed."

"Do you think the policy of the government has conducted to the prosperity of this province is enjoying? Did it conduct the prosperity of the province? McBride government brought in to the legislature a measure increasing the taxes on land by 40 per cent, and the personal property by 10 per cent. Do you think that prosperity has come by reason of a single act of the McBride government?"

"What laws can it point to? It has tinkered with the law in regard to timber. Any law of administrative ability and conducive to the welfare of the community that has been passed has been introduced at the suggestion of the opposition." (Applause.)

The leader then reviewed the railway policy pursued by the McBride-Socialist caucus, and discussed the C. P. R. bill, which was only prevented from going into the legislature by two honest Conservatives who refused to sanction it. He pointed out how the late government had allowed the C. P. R. to escape from $500,000 to the quarters of a million in taxes, while not even $1,000 was forthcoming for the relief of farmers.

"You remember how the government attempted to steal two coal fields in the Kootenay district from the province. You remember John Oliver's great fight against the act? (Loud applause.)

"If it were possible to have prevented the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway company from running through this province the McBride government would have done so. Yet the Premier will blantly tell you that during the last few years there have been 200 miles of railway constructed than any time heretofore; and that he and his supporters were the cause. Yet he stumped this province against the G. T. P. and against the V. V. & E. all along the line. So he has done all he could to prevent the construction of railways."

"With regard to the Kaian Island deal he says he made a good bargain with the G. T. P., and dealt directly with that company. Neither of these statements are true. He never had an interview with the G. T. P. He never put pen to paper to conclude a deal with that company."

"It was an order in council which gave to Mr. Bodwell and Mr. Anderson the 10,000 acres of land. The future site of the great metropolis of the north was handed over to these adventurers at the sum of $1 per acre."

"After the order in council was passed we find Messrs. Anderson and Bodwell in Montreal selling their recent purchase to the G. T. P.—selling those lands which, according to McBride, already belonged to the G. T. P. For you will remember that firstly he made a good bargain and secondly he sold it directly with the G. T. P. (Laughter.)

"This transaction," said Mr. Macdonald, "reminds me of a story of a man in Cariboo district who one day lost his cow. Unable to find it he purchased an animal to replace it a few months later. One day while driving his new purchase home he met an acquaintance who accosted him: 'Hello, I see you have got 'Bossy' back again.' It was his lost cow he had bought."

The leader then, resuming the thread of his argument, said: "In the coming summer single lots in Prince Rupert will be on the market at prices equal to that which the government got for the whole 10,000 acres."

"This government has been dealing with Messrs. Bodwell and Anderson for the past three years. In fact, this firm, or whoever is behind it, hold three or four thousand acres of the best land in Canada, and yet in the province at the present day.

"Everyone knows that now it is impossible to get even a few acres of the townsite of Prince Rupert. Those who got hold of that land will eventually realize immense fortunes. It was given away without the will of the people. To men who cried out that the province was on the verge of ruin."

Mr. Macdonald then reviewed the question of better terms. He recapitulated how Premier McBride had gone to Ottawa, not accompanied by his attorney-general, but only taking his trusty special correspondent. How he left this conference in high dudgeon, metaphorically speaking, slamming the door. How he had returned to Victoria to his torchlight procession and a band of screaming youngsters.

"Did he go for an election cry? What do you think? If he did not get far terms how are the Liberals to blame? How can he say 'we are going to make you bear the odium of the refusal'?"

"The question was one which both sides had previously agreed to raise above party politics. But the premier had forgotten this. He had gone down to Ottawa with the intention of putting the matter on a provincial plane. He was determined, before he went, to make better terms an election cry."

"Three years ago after the election the Conservative party found itself in a minority of one. What did McBride do? He ought to have resigned and allowed the people to express its opinion again. But he did nothing of the sort. Instead he and his so-called Conservative party—a party which has been always recognized as representative of everything stable and constitutional—taking into its arms a body of revolutionary Socialists—a body whose leader said some time ago at Vancouver, from a public platform, that he hoped to see the day when they should haul down the Union Jack at Victoria and plant the red flag of Socialism in its place."

The McBride party has stooped to the level of men who say, 'We will never stop until we have smashed the existing condition of affairs'—until they smash that empire which to-day stands paramount above all other empires in the world, and to wipe it off the face of the globe. And it is to this body that the first Conservative Premier allied, and now he appeals to the people to support a government which he calls constitutional."

"From beginning to end Premier McBride has humbugged you. He has advanced glittering promises, but no real issues. In this way he has befuddled you in the questions of better terms and the Kaian Island deal. In all his dealings with you he has dealt with promises alone."

"But the Liberals have something more than mere criticism to offer towards the advancement of the province. We propose to institute a department of labor and immigration, and have the Conservatives done in this respect? Look at the distress and suffering in Vancouver a short time ago. Are we to let the people of the province suffer from a problem such as that of the Hindus, a race which can never coalesce with the people of this country?"

"Have the McBride Socialists done anything to encourage the right kind of immigration? Have they held out a beckoning hand to the people of the Old Land? When we are in power you will find we have an intelligent and constructive policy and the Hindus will be encouraged to come here at all."

"With regard to the strikes in the mines, I say the subject is too important to be left as it is. For the Premier there must be a department of immigration. We will take up the question in the Water Clauses Act with regard to the irrigation in dry belts of the province. These are questions which no government without initiative will take up."

"Instead of dealing with vital problems like these the McBride Socialists have done nothing but heap up taxation. That is all they know anything about."

"What have they done with regard to forests? Nothing. Each year the raging forest fires consume more timber than is cut. Something should be done for the protection of forests, and we intend to do it."

"Under proper administration taxation of the people would not be raised but lowered."

"Fair and reasonable opportunities should be given to everyone who comes here as a pioneer. The country must make use of its natural resources by encouraging those who come here to exploit them."

"Do not trust a government which did not trust you in 1903, a government that obliterated your mandate by making the appointment of a Conservative party a by-word from one of the Dominion to the other."

"The McBride government has done things. See that your government is found on a rock and not on shifting sand. If we destroy those principles of advancement we have met with ourselves upon and return a body to power that is hand and glove with Socialism, it is indeed a black out."

"I ask you to vote for men who will never allow personal gain to stand in the way of party principle. Give us a single lot in Prince Rupert and we will be on the market at prices equal to that which the government got for the whole 10,000 acres."

"This government has been dealing with Messrs. Bodwell and Anderson for

HUNDREDS WILL INVADE THE CITY

EXCURSIONS COME FROM MIDDLE-WEST PROVINCES

Many Britishers to Arrive from the Old Land—Will Invest in Real Estate.

Victoria is about to be invaded. Those who stand at the front of the Charners' gang plank to-night will, if there are proper train connections, see a regiment of visitors debark from that familiar packet.

They will be distinguished from the transient travellers who come by the badge of the prairie—the coonskin coat—while bulging hip pockets will speak eloquently of an opulence born of the outcrop of No. 1 hard.

"Until his reports came over the wires no one really knew how he was going to jump. Reviewing the policy of misrepresentation, he was sure that the dragging of the question of better terms into party politics is serving a useful end. It was secured on false representation. Premier McBride was responsible for the dispatches from Ottawa. He must have been. Nobody could what happened at the conference except Premier McBride, and the other premiers. Did the other premiers give the news? No, he and he alone, was responsible."

At the conclusion of the speeches "God Save the King" was sung with great heartiness. Cheers were given for the speakers and the meeting dispersed.

PROGRESS OF THEOSOPHY.

Lecture on Interesting Science by Prof. Heindel Takes Place To-night.

Under the auspices of Theosophical Society, three afternoon lectures will be given by Prof. Heindel, beginning to-night, by Prof. Heindel, of Los Angeles. Speaking of the increasing interest in things occult, he said: "The moderate prices for reality in the best city of the west, Victoria."

One gentleman writing to a Victoria friend says: "I can't come myself, but buy up anything that looks good to you and pay a deposit on it. There are fifty real estate men whom I know on the excursion."

Indications are that Victoria has not really felt the movement there is going to be here. At last the city is coming into the open.

Not only at Victoria the most talked of city throughout the middle west and right down to the Atlantic seaboard, but its fame is being heralded all through the British Isles.

As an illustration of this one of the oldest and largest firms in Victoria (not a real estate) which has large financial capital and connections, is in receipt of letters from the old land that indicate that from 2,000 to 3,000 British buyers will be here this spring. Many of these have from one thousand to five thousand pounds to invest.

As previously announced, a number of Winnipeg real estate agents have opened up offices here. They have been advised of this northwestern influx many months ago. They have come, therefore, with the certain knowledge of the reality activity which will be the outcome of the present rush, and they are already in touch with many of the investors who are expected to arrive to-night.

Even now many strange faces may be seen in the streets. Day by day the city is filling up with people from beyond the Rockies. Numbers of them are men representing big financial interests, and the capitalists, who sent them out as an advance guard to view the land, will arrive themselves to-night.

All over the city, in the suburbs and even in outlying points, furnished houses have been in such demand that it is well-nigh impossible to obtain one at present.

At the hotels, the booking has been phenomenal, and from every hand comes the report of the invasion of northwesterners, the first battalion of whom will step from the Charners when she reaches port this evening.

COAL DUTY.

The total amount of coal exported from the United Kingdom from the date of the duty coming into force on April 30th, 1901, to its expiration, on October 31st last, and liable to the duty was $11,255,073.

While a football match was in progress between Nottingham boys one of the players suddenly disappeared into a ditch, and was found a depth of six feet, much to the surprise of the other players. He was rescued unharmed.
