

(6) Now make one, two or three cushions (according to the size of the box) mattress-like (see Fig. 2) to fit into the spaces left above the surface of the utensils, so that when the lid is closed down, these will fit tightly over the top. The utensils are thus enclosed on all sides by a packing of non-conducting material.

Fig. 3 shows the cavities for utensils.

Fig. 2.

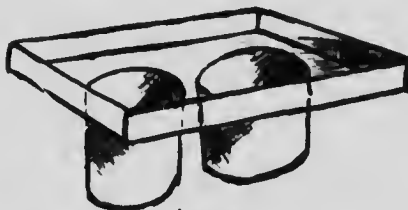

Fig. 3.

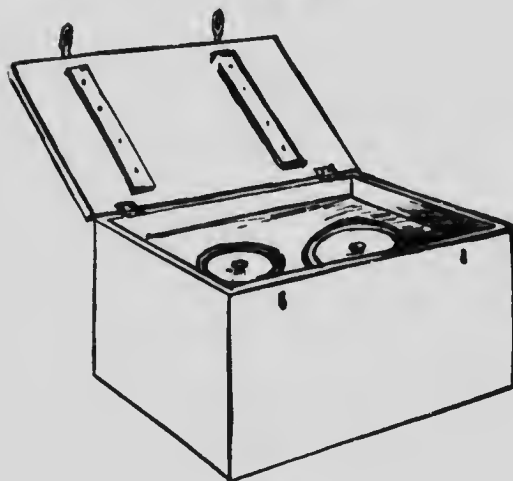

Fig. 4.

Fig. 4 shows the completed cooker with utensils in place

Care—

(1) This kind of cooker should be left open in the air