

light of the sun makes cheerful the face of nature, and adds splendor and joy to the bounty of heaven. Through all the various forms in which we contemplate that provision which God has made for our comfort and happiness; well may we say;—"O Lord how manifold are thy works; in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches."*
 "When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars which thou hast ordained, what is man that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him?" For thou hast made him a little lower than the Angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honour; thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hand; thou hast put all things under his feet."†

In the second place, our improvement will be promoted, by a careful attention to the situation in which we are placed with regard to each other.

If we only open our eyes, we see that we form a part of those whom God has appointed to inhabit this world, and that we are all necessarily connected with each other by various ties.

* Psal: 104. 24. † Psal, 8—3—6—

Not a day passes without occasion to be so foolish as to would very soon his ignorance The laws preservation of works can nei with impunity struck the attention kind, that from at pains to franchise and direct have been sanctioned for those who rules, and who Regulations of well being of comfort and happiness why men associate that all these rules strictly attended ally to promote ness.