Men, Here's an Offer

WEAR MY ELECTRIC BELT FREE UNTIL YOU ARE CURED.

You can talk with the men and women who have been cured by my treatment, and that's worth considering. I might preach for years in my efforts to gather converts to my way of curing disease, and nobody would pay any attention to my arguments; but when I tell you I have cured your neighbour, Mr. Walker, or your old friend, Mr. Williams, and you can go and ask them about me and they tell you I have cured them, then I have given you proof, and you know that I do all I claim. And I want you to give me credit for what I prove. There's nothing surer than the word of an honest man, and when such men as these admit that I cured them, you know that I can cure you.

HERE IS PROOF OF MY ARGUMENTS:

D. JANVISON, Steaton, Ont., writes: "I have been cured of weakness and varicocele, and feel like a different man; would not be without your Belt for any money."

C. H. McKAGUE, Roland, Man., has this to say: "After ten days' use of your Belt the losses have stopped, my stomach is digesting its food, and the constipation is a thing of the past. You have my sincere thanks."

J. LARGESS, Box 53, Vankleek Hill, Ont., reports: "The lameness in my back is all gone. The Varicocele is better, and I am getting better health generally, and have gained a good deal in weight."

JAS. HATT, Beech Hill, N.S., says: "The pains in my chest and back are all gone, and I have gained fifteen pounds in weight. It is a pleasure to say that I have at last found a remedy that would cure me of my aches and pains."

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt Cures

Varicocele, Rheumatism, Kidney Troubles, Lamé Back, Sciatica, Stomach Troubles, Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality and every indication that you are breaking down physically.

I take the chances, not you, so come and see me, and if I say I can cure you, I will prove it to your satisfaction before you pay me a cent, if you will secure me. That's fair. If you can't call, write to me, and send this coupon.

FREE BOOK—Every man who admires the perfection of physical strength should read my beautifully illustrated book. It tells how strength is lost, and how I restore it with my Electric Belt. I will send this book, closely sealed, free, upon receipt of this coupon. If you are not the man you should be, write to-day.

CALL TO-DAY. If you can, call and see me, and I will show you how you can be cured, and give you a free test of my Belt. CONSULTATION FREE.

let it first be understood that rabies is not always characterized by a desire to bite, as there are cases where these symptoms of viciousness do not manifest themselves at all. The pupils are dilated and the eyes at times throw out a glistening flash. The reflection of light upon the internal tapetum gives to the eyes the appearance of balls of fire. In the excitement provoked by shutting it up in confinement it will hurl itself at the cage, issue its characteristic bark, and furiously bite the bars that prevent its escape, often breaking its teeth in the act. When teased with a piece of wood or iron the poor victim will seize it with the whole mouth and gnaw it formidably without uttering a sound.

These attacks occur at intervals more or less separated, and between them the animal is perfectly calm and seems to have recuperated all of the indications of perfect health. The rabid dog will attempt by every means to escape from its home, and once free it will flee, not with the tail between its legs, as ordinarily supposed, but with it well elevated and actively balanced. If another dog is encountered in its flight it will attack it and bite it in silence. If the bitten dog offers no resistance nothing further occurs, but if resented a fight will occur in which both dogs will roll over and over. Watched carefully, it will be observed that the one attacked is growling while the rabid one is silent.

The rabid dog does not long retain a free gait. Pushed by fatigue, prooxysms, hunger and thirst and enfeebled by the fell disease, it soon gives out in its limbs, slackens its pace, vacillates the tail pendently, inclines the head toward the ground, drops the mouth open and lolls the tongue, which is blue and covered with dust.

Soon the posterior extremities and the jaw becomes paralyzed and death supervenes.

It is said that healthy dogs possess an instinctive perspicacity through which they suspect the existence of rabies in other animals of their species. However true this may be it cannot be denied that all dogs do not manifest such terror, as some dogs will bite rabid ones when shut up together.

SYMPTOMS OF DUMB RABIES.

The symptoms of the initial period are the same as those of the mad form, but the paralysis of the lower jaw manifests itself at the onset and then develops progressively. The physiognomy of a dog affected with confirmed dumb rabies is most characteristic. The eyes are devoid of lustre and express fixed astonishment, and nothing will enliven the animal nor brighten up its expression. The patient is not ferocious; on the contrary the expression is that of sadness so sombre as to suggest fear, and it indicates well the inoffensive nature of an animal affected with this variety of the disease, a nature that results not in the non-virulence of the saliva, but in a condition of the nervous system that does not determine itself by aggressive manifestations. To this first feature that gives the atony and the sorrowfulness to the countenance, is coupled the strange expressions that result from gaping of the mouth, from which the tongue hangs inert and abundant viscous saliva flows during the first hours. At first the buccal mucosa reflects a red tint and presents the normal humidity, but the muscles of the lower jaw being incapable of supporting it or of closing the mouth, the incessant action of the air upon the interior walls soon desiccates the mucous membrane which then becomes dark blue in color and covered with adherent dust over the dried surface.

There are cases in which the paralysis of the jaw is the only symptom of the disease; the dog is kind and affectionate and one is led to suppose that some obstacle, such as a bone between the teeth or within the pharynx, opposes the opposition of the jaws. As the saliva is virulent and as wounds might be sustained from the teeth, explanations to relieve the subject are hazardous.

The barking modulates in the same fashion as in mad rabies, but the sight of other dogs does not cause excitement and there is no inclination to bite, nor a tendency to attack other animals. The disease always terminates fatally within a short time.
