Money Was All Willed to Woman With Whom He Was Infatuated.

Mobile, Ala., Feb. 20.—The contest by Samuel Scholes, of Kingston, Ont., Jennie Scholes, Richard Scholes and Matthew Shcoles, of Toronto, Ont., of the will of their brother, W. H. Scholes, of this city, who was wealthy, began to-day in the Probate Court.

Mrs. Villiers, to whom Scholes left his money, was very attractive in her mourning garb, assumed on the death of Scholes. She was a close follower of what was said.

The will was introduced in the evidence, after which Samuel Scholes, a brother of the dead man, was called. He said there were five other brothers. He was always friendly with the deceased and during the lifetime of Mrs. Scholes both were very affectionate, He told of visits of the dead brother to Canada and the subsequent intimacy with Mrs. Villers and his taking up his residence with the Villers family. He testified that once Capt. Scholes and Mrs. Villers were sitting on the sofa in the kitchen in each other's arms and that when he asked Mrs. Villers' children where their mother was, they stated that she was hugging Capt. Scholes. Mrs. Villers, when this statement was made, said, in a tone sufficiently loud to be heard by many, "That's This was the only instance where she appeared to loss her composure during the trying ordeal. Witnesses said that on occasions when they were all at the table Capt. Scholes and Mrs. Villers would moon like young lovers or a bridal couple. Even then Mrs Villers sat unconcerned and making any comment.

TUSSLE WITH BEAR

It Escapes From Its Keepers, Attacks and Bites a Policeman.

Was Being Taken From Livery to Riverdale Zoo Yesterday Noon.

Toronto despatch: A big brown bear scaped from Cross' livery stable shorty after noon yesterday, and for a time things were lively at the corner of King and Bay streets. It ran down King street, followed by an ever-increasing crowd, and sought retreat in an improvised lair in the basement of the old Moorish Palace Hotel, which is being torn down. There it lay menacingly, and for a time made the lunch hour of the workmen somewhat uncomfortable.

A rope was fastened about his neck and another around his hind legs, and he was reluctantly taken back to the livery stable and placed in a cage.

Policeman Kerr (57) was there from the start, and was devoting his atten-to the crowd keeping them back. As soon as the bear was drawn from his hole he looked around and made one jump for the uniformed man, and real excitement started. Contends Conspirators Are Seeking to Undermine Protestant Faith.

Toronto despatch .- An open letter ha Toronto despatch.—An open letter has been addressed to keep. 2. C. Cayrey, rural dean of Toronto, by Hon. S. H. Isbake, in which he attacks certain Anglean societies which he cannot are kemanish in their tendencies. His letter is the outcome of a proposed plan for experie extension in the deamery, and he gives his reasons for hestiaging in the work. Blake says that recording to the chirches in Torono, having strongs co. 20,000, while the average attendance returned never showed more than 15,000. The amount proposed to be expended in extension is $100,000 and Mr. Blake suggested that by a reasonable rearrangement of sand characteristic stronger and the money thus could be devoted to other very needy churches.

Mr. Blake alleges that one reason that the average attendance of church worthippers is not larger is owing to the fact that the number of ministers associated with Romanish societies is largely increasing in the city. This, he says, "justly caused very grave differences, and it was scarcely fair that Evangelical Churchmen should be asked to join in a general plan which required of them to aid in building churches to enable "the Fathers" to carry on the Socramentarianism and Ritualism of Romanish associations "the Mirfield Community," "tige English Church Union," "the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament," and the "Cowley Fathers," otherwise, "the Society of St. John the Evangelist," "the Society of St. John the Evangelist," "the Society of the Holy Cross," etc., and he says that clergymen of this diocess are members of these associations, and that arangements have already been made to bring certain missioners of them. #### HATPIN'S RIVAL Contrivance Which Enables Men to Hold Their Own Against Women.

Owensville, Ind., Feb. 22. - The dangerous hatpin will find a formidable rival in the spiked girdle or belt. The spiked girdle is a contrivance which its inventor, Frank Brown, says will enable men to hold their own with women able men to hold the with a quantity of which we have a large with the women able to hold the with a quantity of which was a large with the women able to hold the with a quantity of w able men to hold their own with women who persist in wearing long hatpins. Brown's scheme consists of a leather girdle or belt, one inch wide, to which are attached numerous points, six inches long. This girdle is slipped over the crown of the hat, affording the wearer a means of self defence when mingling in crowds where protruding hatbins are constantly conging and in hatpins are constantly gouging and in-flicting painful wounds.

He will apply for a parent on his invention. While in St. Louis last summer Brown came in contact with a hat-pin, with the result that he received a serious wound in the ear.

SOME POINTERS ON WATERING HORSES.

(Dr. H. G. Reed, Georgetown, Ont.)
A supply of water is essential to the health of all farm animals. It should be at their disposal all the time. But as this is not possible while the animals are at work, certain restrictions should be exercised in the case of working ani-mais. This is especially necessary in the case of the horse, because his stomach is smaller in proportion to his size than any of the other domestic animals water seems to point strongly to the theory that in order to give a horse the best possible chance of digesting his food he should get his water first and the solid part of his food afterward.

WHEN TO WATER.

Horses should be watered before breakfast. It will probably take some time and trouble to educate them to do this, as most horses will refuse to drink this, as most norses will refuse to drink till after being fed. A little persever-ance, however, will accomplish it all right and the owner will be repaid for his trouble by the increased thrift of his horses. They will make a better use of the food they get, will not be so likely to suffer from digestive trou-bles and be in all round better condi-

There are two reasons for this: First stomach, but is soon washed buck into the intestines. As a consequence if a horse (after having eaten a hearty meal) is given a drink of water, a considerable portion of the food which he ate will be pushed into the intestines with the water and that much food will be loss to the purpose for which it was intended, namely, the nourishment of the body. And, secondly, not only are those parti cles of food lost, but they are quite lia-ble to derange the healthy action of the intestines by setting up colic, some form of indigestion or diarrhoea. On the othor hand, when a horse has had his water first and his solid food after, by the time he has eaten only a small part of his breakfast the water will have all passed on out of the stomach, no solids will have been washed out and the digestive fluids will bave a much better chance to do their work properly than if diluted with a quantity of water. It

It is not wise to allow a very thirsty forse all the water he will drink either before or after severe work or after feeding. If a horse has done some very leavy work from which he is excesse heavy work from which he is excessively weary he should not be allowed much water till he has rested a while. Give him a little, and after an hour or two of rest give him all he wants. It is also bad practice to put a horse to any severe exercise such as fast driving or moving heavy loads immediately after having taken a hearty drink, because the engorged stomach is pressing for-ward against the lung space and crowd-ing the lungs to said an extent that ing the lungs to such an extent that they cannot properly perform their nat-ural functions. This is especially notice-able in the case of a horse with heaves. Such an animal should (if at all possible) be watered often and only a little at a time: of course a full drink should always be allowed at night. WATERING WHEN HEATED.

persons were drowned off the ceast south of San Pedro in an attempt to smuggle a party of Chinese ashore.

Inspector Frank Ainsworth, while cruisa little water. It is a very cruel thing to put a thirsty horse in the stall and compet him to munch his hay and oats while his mouth and throat are parched with thirst and his whole system crying out for water. It may be laid down as a rule that a horse doing any kind of or-dinary work under ordinary conditions is not too hot to water even though he may be sweating freely. This is espe-cially the case if the animal has been used to it. If a farmer in the spring months starts to water his team when they come in to dinner from the fields even though they be a little warm, he eed have no fear when summer comes if e brings them in some hot day from he brings them in some hot day from the binder apparently quite warm to let then have all the water they want. Of course exceptions to this rule may oc-cur, a little descretion is desirable in everything, but farm horses are not too hot to water nearly so often as many torse owners suppose.

THE VALUE OF A COW. If a cow that gives 155 pounds of but-ter in a year if worth 800, how much is a cow worth that gives 350 pounds of butter in a year 2 Suppose the gitting was agrage 25 ents the year round, and that the feed s worth $40 for the year. The first cow would give a return of $43.75, less $40 for feed, would leave a profit of $3.75, counting that the milk, calf and majure pays for the labor. The second cow would give a return of $97.50 for butter and would give at least 4,000 pounds more of milk, which at 20 cents per hundred pounds, and it is worth more for feed, would bring $8. The calf from freed, would bring $8. The calf from the good cow is also worth more, but let that go. The return would be $95.50 on the same basis as the other cow made a profit of $2.75. It would take practically fifteen 175 nound cow to make as round fast s.7.5. It would take practically fifteen 175 pound cows to make as much profit as the one 350 pound cow. $3.75 is 6.2 per cent. on $60 and $51.50 is 6.2 per cent. on $895.16. On the basis of percentage income, when the 175 pound cow is worth $60, the 350 pound cow is worth $895.16. The keeping of the cows should be looked at from the business standpoint. The poor cow is dear at any price, but the good cow is usually not rated at her real value.

PIGS THAT PAID.

I will give my experience in a small a way in pork production the past year.

Last winter we fed a litter of pigs that weighed 240 pounds each at six and one-half months, that were sold for $9.50 half months, that were sold for $95.00 per nundred. They were fed pulped roots and barley chop, about equal parts by measure. I do not know what amount they consumed, but they did well, and were very profitable. In March a young sow farrowed five pigs. They were fed a fair amount of milk from the time they were one month old until they were three months old. They were fed 2,000 pounds barley, chopped fine, and two small loads of peas on the straw in the barnyard (about 15 bushels). I do not have the barnyard (about 15 bushels). know what amount of peas the pigs would get, as there were over one hund-red hens with the liberty of the same yard. They were sold on the 3rd of Oc-tober, at an average weight of 276 pounds, at $8.40 per hundred, or $115.90 for the five pigs when just five days over six months old. They would have been profitable at one-half the money-We are at present feeding a litter of eight. At three months, or 91 days, they weigh 95 pounds, and have made a gain of 42 pounds each the last thirty days. Young pigs must have some milk before and after weaning to start them on the road to profit. These pigs have not been fed much milk, as we have only had two cows milking, and have fine-chopped barley, mixed with water, but not sloppy, is our winter feed. Young pigs want an hour or two exercise every day, if the weather is suitable summer and winter, but should not run around all day.
