Dr. T. K. Holmes has consented to give a lecture on his recent trip to Egypt, in the St. Andrew's Sunday school hall on Monday night next. This is being given under the auspices of the May Club of the Public General Hospital, and it is hoped and expected that there will be a large and intelligent audience. Besides the lecture a musical program will be given, consisting of vocal solos by Mrs. Weir, a Scotch singer of Hamilton, who is the guest of Mrs. Robert Gray, and Mrs. Milton Bogart; violin selections by Mr. R. H. Gordon, and recitations by Miss Verna Sheldon. Miss Sheldon is a talented young Chatham elocutionist, who has recently graduated from Emerson College, Boston. This is her first appearance in Chatham.

MACKNESS-SMITH.

A pretty rural wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, 10th concession, Chatham Township, on Wednesday, the 12th inst., when their second daughter, Maude Alena, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. G. Mackness, of Eberts. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. C. MacFarlane, Baptist pastor at Louisville.

At 4.30 p. m., to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Emma Brooksbank, the bridal party entered the drawing room. The bride, accompanied by her father, by whom she was given away, looked very charming in a gown of deep blue, with a white collar and cuffs, and a white sash. The bridesmaid, Miss Pearl Smith, sister of the bride, was prettily attired in white, and carried a bouquet of white carnations, as did also the bride. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. James Mackness, of this city. Little Edwin Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, of this city, acted as ring bearer.

After the ceremony a dainty supper was served in the dining room. After supper the guests all formed in procession and drove to Dresden, where Mr. and Mrs. Mackness took the seven o'clock P. M. R. for Sarnia, London, and other eastern points. At the station they were given a royal send-off, accompanied by the usual showers of rice, etc.

Only relatives of both parties were present. Both the bride and groom are quite popular throughout the vicinity, and a large number of useful and handsome presents were received. They will be at home to their friends after July 1.

EVERITT-STERLING.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. Wm. B. Sterling, Kent Centre, Harwich, on the afternoon of the 12th inst., when his eldest daughter, Laura Myrtle, the popular organist of St. Paul's church, was married to Mr. Alex. T. Everitt, a prosperous young farmer of the 3rd concession. The bride entered the room leaning on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Josephine Buchanan. This was followed by the singing of a bridal hymn by Dr. Oliver Graham, of Chicago. The bride was attended by Miss Mae E. Graham, of Detroit, while the groom was supported by Mr. Russell Sterling, a brother of the bride. The officiating was performed by little Miss Leta Sterling.

The bride was attired in a dress of white silk with embroidery trimming. She wore the customary bridal veil, and carried a large bouquet of white roses. The house was most beautifully decorated for the occasion, of which the arch under which they were married was not the least attractive.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of about seventy guests. Among those noticed from a distance were Dr. O. Graham, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Manson Campbell, Chatham; Mr. and Mrs. Parker, Morpeth; Mr. Jos. Buchanan and family, Road Eau; Mr. and Mrs. Parker and daughter, Morpeth.

After the ceremony the guests were photographed on the lawn opposite the house. Then they adjourned to the spacious dining hall, where a sumptuous dejeuner was served. This part of the festivities was hardly finished, when the bride began to fly in mid-air, as the newly married couple made a hasty egress for the Chatham station, on their way west for a short pleasure trip, visiting several of the American cities.

Not the least interesting to the guests was the display of numerous presents, which had been sent for the occasion.

The young ladies of the neighborhood gave a reception to Miss Sterling, the week preceding her marriage.

SPORT

THE STAFF WON.

An indoor game of baseball was played Thursday night in the armory between two picked teams. The game was scheduled to be between "A" Company team and the staff team, but as it was both teams were picked from different companies and the bugle band. The feature of the game was the pitching of Pen. Reid. The line-up for the staff team was: Smith, Reid, McCoomb, Lapp, Johns, McCormick, Clements and Stevenson. The line-up for the "A" Company team was: Dupuy, Smith, Lawson, Morley, Fitzgerald and Clark.

The umpire during the first part was Julius Perrott, and the latter part was umpired by Clark Gillies. The score resulted 31 to 17 in favor of the staff team.

After the game was over "C" Company challenged the winners to a game for Monday night.

The first game of the baseball league series will be played this afternoon. A game between the C. F. M. and Motor Works will be played at two o'clock, and at four o'clock a game between the Wagon Works and the Tammany Healers will be played.

BETHEL ANNIVERSARY

One of the most successful anniversaries in the history of Bethel Methodist church, River Road, Harwich, was held last Sunday, June 9. The day was everything that could possibly be desired and many friends from Chatham, Thamesville, Kent Bridge, and other surrounding places took advantage of the splendid roads and beautiful day for a pleasant country drive, so that the church was crowded to its utmost at both services. Miss Ada Seaman, of Blenheim, who is engaged in evangelistic work, was the speaker for the day, and delighted her congregations with two soul-stirring addresses. Miss Seaman possesses great power as an evangelist, and her messages are simple and very convincing. In response to a request for a free will offering, the sum of $19 was placed upon the plates, which was remarkable, considering the size and position of the church. The music for the morning service was furnished by the Kent Bridge Methodist choir, and for the evening service by the Northwood choir. Both were very much appreciated. On Monday evening the usual ice cream social was held on the church grounds. Lunch was served in the sheds, which was enjoyed by nearly 300 people. The program consisted of several readings by Miss Verlyn Lumont, solos by Miss Anna Clements, Knott, Mr. McAlpine, and Mr. Mirkin, all of Chatham, and Mr. Mirkin, Maud and Ella Groves, also by Miss Groves and Mr. McAlpine, besides lively addresses by Mr. R. Brackin of Chatham, and Rev. R. F. Irwin, of Thamesville. Mr. McCoig, M. P. P., was chairman for the evening, and a fitting style. Rev. T. Allen, of Jeanette's Creek circuit, who is to succeed the present pastor, Rev. J. R. Peters, in a few weeks, was also present and gave a short address. The entertainment was a great success throughout, and the program was very much enjoyed by all present. At the close the pastor, in a few remarks, announced that the proceeds for the Sunday services, together with the entertainment, amounted to over $70. The expenses did not exceed $17 in all, which leaves a splendid sum in the treasury. Great credit is due to all the workers of this appointment for the able way in which all matters were conducted, and by which they made their anniversary such a success.

At the home of Mr. A. R. Everitt, where a magnificent kitchen shower was presented. The groom's gift to the bride consisted of a gold chain; while he gave to the bridesmaid a gold brooch, the flower girl a ring, the accompanist a silver hat pin, and a scarf pin to the bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Everitt may expect a most hearty welcome from their old friends and neighbors when they return to settle down in their midst.

HABITS OF ANIMALS FOUND AT THE CIRCUS

"When a monkey sleeps he picks out the highest perch he can find," said Keeper Patterson, of the Forepaugh-Sells menagerie. When the only home of the monkey was a forlorn shed he lived always in deadly fear of the lion, and a live monkey is the choicest kind of a model for the king of beasts. Although the monkey is a rather wise boy, and knows that in a Zoo the lions are securely caged, the fear of the lion is born in him, and this accounts for his finding as high a perch as he can to sleep on. The lioness, when free from family cares, is prone to lie on its back, with its legs stretched up straight in the air and paws pendant. The lion, when the excitement of the day is gone, stretches itself out flatly on its side with paws turned in, and twitches and throbs during its slumber a good deal like a dog. Gorillas and chimpanzees sleep with their hands over their heads. Bears, which have no fear, sleep in any position. The same is true of wolves. Animals of a cunning or cowardly nature, however, are always on the alert, even when asleep. A seal sleeps like a human being. It stretches out at full length, and enters dreamland on its back, stomach or side. Once in a while a seal will sit up with its head bent down on its chest, fast asleep in the water, with its ears under, so as is his custom, in his native state, that he may hear the approach of an enemy, sound travelling with great distinctness under the water. Elephants sleep upright like a horse, and fitfully. They are keenly alert to the slightest noise, but quick to sense things. If they can see the subject, they do not rattle easily, but if it is something weird sounding and out of sight, they need the reassuring voice of their keeper. With the elephant the voice is everything. They have the same feeling for a friendly, sincere voice that a natural musician has for the sound of a musical voice. The menagerie department of the Forepaugh-Sells Shows, which exhibits here Tuesday next, June 18th, has been, it is said, greatly added to during the past winter.

MARKETS

The fine weather this morning brought a big Saturday market to the city. The supply was large, but the demand appeared to be just as brisk. Something New. Something Genuine

Pleasing to the User.

These stones are of entirely different nature than emery stones, and are adapted to sharpening all kinds of tools and for use on all kinds of work for which the Arkansas, Washita, and other natural stones of like nature are used. They are superior to natural stones, as they cut faster, last longer, and keep a better surface, also because of the entire absence of all faults common in the natural stone formation, that is, sand seams, hard and soft spots, pebbles and fractures. On account of the above and because of their uniformity satisfactory stones can be duplicated exactly. They can be supplied in either fine, medium or coarse grit. Every stone is sold subject to the following guarantee.
