

TO BENEFIT OTHER SUFFERERS

You May Publish My Letter About "Fruit-a-tives"

Mr. Jones is proud to acknowledge the great debt of gratitude he owes "Fruit-a-tives". He is glad to see his letter published in order that other sufferers may be induced to try these wonderful tablets made of fruit juices.

SARANTA, ONT., Feb. 5th, 1911
"I have been a sufferer for the past 35 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors, but derived no benefit whatever. Finally, I read an advertisement for "Fruit-a-tives". I decided to give "Fruit-a-tives" a trial and they did exactly what was claimed for them. I have now taken them for some time and find they are the only remedy that does me good. I have recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to a great many of my friends, and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly."

Scotty and the Foreman.

The foreman was needing men but Scotty had taxed his forbearance to the limit, so that on a recent Monday morning when Scotty stepped off the workmen's elevator he made up his mind he would not experiment any more with that "drunken fool". At least ten times within six months he had taken him back and each time it was a matter of only a few days before Scotty was unreliable through excessive liquor-drinking.

Just as he was about to give Scotty a short, sharp rebuff the telephone bell rang, and he hurried over to the corner desk. After the first few words he placed his lips close to the mouthpiece and lowered his voice—"Oh yes, he's as good a man as we've had but it's no use. I've given him more than a fair chance, the firm isn't going to run its business to the dogs by having men that want a spree every few days. He's made me swearing mad many a time. 'Oh, that's an old story.' Then after listening for some time he replied, 'Well, I don't go much on that kind of thing but if you've fixed Scotty you're in the repair business alright.'"

At the other end of the line a voice was pleading for Scotty. "Take him back once more, please. Give the poor chap one more chance—it would have broken you all to pieces to have heard him pray last night. See here! I've planned that he's to stay with me every night this week and if he isn't right on his job straight through till Saturday night I've missed my guess." A further interchange of conversation took place and the voice continued, "Thanks, Mr. Foreman, wish I could shake hands—that makes a mighty fine beginning for this week."

After hanging up the receiver Scotty's intercessor turned to a fellow Christian worker with radiant face and thankful heart and said, "Shut the door, and let's have a word I. Scotty." One dare not write the words of those prayers. One needs to know the spirit of the workers to appreciate them. They were not models of fiction but they were the outpouring of hearts that had a consuming concern for the sakekeeping of a sorely tempted man.

Day by day since that Monday morning the Great Architect has been rebuilding the ruin—Scotty's old life and old desires are passing away under the expulsive power of new affections. Every night finds him in the place where, as he puts it, the pride was knocked out of him. "It was hard work for me to get on my knees but that's what made the change, and thank God as soon as I got down I got up."

It is generally considered wise counsel to tell a man that "God helps the man that helps himself," but some of our workers are learning from their experiences among drink-maddened, sin-maddened men that there is a word more than that for some men, and it is this—that God helps the man that can't help himself.

A Good Bargain.

At a temperance meeting where several related their experiences a humorous Irishman made the hit of the evening. He had on a new pair of boots. Said he:
"A week after I signed the pledge I met an old friend and he says:
'Them's a fine pair of boots you have on.'
'They are,' says I, 'and by the same token, 'twas the public-house keeper who gave them to me.'
'That was generous of him,' says he.
'It was,' says I. 'But I made a bargain with him. He was to keep his drink and I was to keep my money.'

Small service is true while it lasts; Of humblest friends, bright creation, scorn not one; The daisy, by the shadow that it casts, Protects the lingering dewdrop from the sun. —Wordsworth.

Small Johnny—Say, papa, how much am I worth?
Papa—You are worth a million dollars to me, my son.
Small Johnny—Well, would you mind advancing me a quarter on account?

Eczema on the Head.

Mr. Peterson, South Bay, Ont., writes: "For years I suffered a sort of eczema on the head. I tried four different doctors, giving each a fair trial, but the disease grew worse and spread to my arm. I got Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it has entirely cured me. I give my name because I want other sufferers to know about this splendid Ointment."

In Dread of Croup.

Every woman dreads croup unless she knows about Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Given in frequent small doses, at the first indication of trouble, this treatment loosens the cough and affords relief and comfort. It is should be kept up until the child is entirely recovered.

Some men don't have to take their troubles home, because they start there.

WOMAN A GREAT SUFFERER

Tells How She Was Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Tilbury, Ont.—"I could praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all around the world because it has done so much for me. For two years I was unable to do my work. I had female weakness and dizziness, constipation, a very bad headache, but now I am well of all these things. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Liver Pills and Sanative Wash. I give you permission to publish this letter to help others." —Mrs. WILHELMINE CHAND, Box 464, Tilbury, Ontario, Can.

Case of Mrs. Tully.
Chicago, Ill.—"I take pleasure in writing to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with such a bad periodic pain, and had a displacement, and received no benefit from doctors. I was advised to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I am well as ever." —Mrs. WILHELMINE TULLY, 202 Ogden Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence. Minard's Liniment for sale everywhere.

Try the 40c. package of Red Rose Tea.

Although the 30c. and 35c. qualities are generously good, people who use the 40c. quality believe it to be worth the extra money. It's a stronger, finer-flavored tea. It goes farther in the pot.

N.B.—Coffee users will find Red Rose Coffee as generously good as Red Rose Tea.

Trade With England.

Canadian manufacturers should be embarrassed by the suggestion that they should advocate free trade with Great Britain. It is true that the Old Country keeps its ports open to Canada. But it also gives free admission to the products and manufactures of the United States and of every other country.

Fiscally Great Britain does us no wrong while we give exceptional advantages to British manufacturers in Canada. According to the Laurier Government we have maintained the British preference in the expectation that Great Britain would give Canadian products a preference in British markets. Indeed, the Laurier Government told British Ministers that failing such preference, Canada would feel free to act as conditions seemed to require.

We cannot afford to assist the Mother Country to maintain the ruinous policy of free trade while other nations have high tariffs. Great Britain has no basis on which to demand freer trade with Canada until she gives Canadian products preferential treatment over the products of foreign countries. Canada first within the Empire is a sound policy for Canadians and no one should be deluded by the pretence that some consideration of loyalty requires us to accept a fiscal policy in which the mass of Canadians do not believe.

Donning Male Costume.

Several cases have occurred recently of women donning male dress for the sake of greater freedom of action and being paid at a man's rate for their work. This is precisely such a development as might be expected of the movement for what is termed 'the emancipation of woman.' The feminine mind possesses a fearful courage in pushing logical deductions to their ultimate end. No material consequences or ugly facts seem to daunt her. Hence if woman is to abandon her sheltered nest and risk the loss of her peculiar privileges in an effort to make a place for herself in the work-a-day world beside man, she will be very certain to ask eventually why she should be hampered by distinctive or inconvenient forms of dress, and why she should not get equal pay for equal work, even if she must disguise herself in male costume to receive an unjust employer.

We have still a law against this of masquerading in the dress of the opposite sex; but presently that law will become one of the brutal injustices which arrogant man inflicts upon, on helpless women—and we shall probably be ashamed of it. It was a very menacing Pandora's box which was upset when the hand that rocked the cradle reached out for the plough handle. Shapes will arise from it of which few now dream and most women would disown; but there is nothing more futile in this world than to try to inaugurate a 'limited revolution.'

Red Bottles for Milk.

Milk spoils quickly when kept in a strong light, and investigators have found that the rays of light near the violet end of the spectrum seem to have the most detrimental effect. Strong light acts in the same manner upon sterilized milk and upon pasteurized milk as upon pure, fresh milk; after being exposed in plain glass bottles to full sunlight for a day, all three kinds of milk were found to be completely spoiled and unfit to use. On the other hand, says the Scientific American, red rays are
