Chapter VI.—At Cupids Beach and Brigus Station.

At our next outing the train dropped us off at Cupids Crossing, near Brigus Station, and for an hour or so we took in the historic spots of that place. For what we gleaned we are indebted to Mr. Serriek, the popular school teacher of that town. Mr. Serriek came with us and pointed out all the localities that would become prominent in the Guy Celebration a little later on.

Among many he showed us the supposed site of Guy's plantation, and the proposed site of the monument to be erected in his memory. The steel signal tower was also pointed out, and the square concrete base upon which it stands was carefully examined. This tower was made in Toronto, and was presented by several young men of Cupids who had made their homes in the Queen City of the West. It is one hundred and thirty-five feet high and is a substantial piece of mechanism.

All these features were very interesting indeed and tended to deepen the attractions of the place to us, for the time being at least. But of all Mr. Serriek showed us, the most interesting of the lot was the beach which crosses the head of the harbor at an angle. This beach was once the scene of busy men, and much trade was conducted upon it, and vessels were there loaded with fish and oil for the foreign markets. Several square rigged vessels were built on this same beach, and quite a lot of employment was given thereby to car-shipbuilding was carried on. The action of the tide has considerably altered these landmarks, and only a vestige of what has been can now be traced. A few pieces of stone wall, and here and there a protruding post remind the visitor of prior occupation. On the beach and near the shore lie the hulks of two vessels. These ships had their day, and now like most of the men who sailed them, they are out of date.

Cupids offers to become a health resort at an early date, and for quiet and sea breeze it is unexcelled. It is only fifteen minutes' drive from Brigus Station, and only three hours' run from the capital. We do not know what effect the Guy Celebration may have had in this direction, but from what we hear it will certainly stir the ball rolling. Some of the larger homesteads would make fine hotels and if once established a good deal of catering should be done.

At early morn we left Cupids and took the road for Brigus Station. Al seemed quiet, and only a few people were about. While waiting for the train we saw a building quite nearby with the sign of "The Hue Mattress Office" hanging from it. Wishing to learn a little of this establishment we went near and ventured inside the building. But it being early, the staff had not arrived, and those who were there did not seem to manifest any interest in strangers, other than to treat them with silence. After we had regained the street we were fortunate enough to meet Mr. Scaplin whom we found very obliging, and who made up for what we had failed to elicit from his workmen. Mr. Scaplin is in full charge of the factory, and we have no doubt that between him and Mr. Hue the venture will prove a success.

It is gratifying to see new industries cropping up throughout the country, and the more enterprise we have the better for all concerned. Brigus has lost much of its former greatness, and fully half its people have migrated to British Columbia; but we hope the hulk has been reached, and that our people will soon be able to find in their own country that which they have gone so far to obtain.

Anticipating the production of a resolution in Congress for America to enter into an alliance with Britain, the national executive of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, at the annual meeting yesterday, unanimously adopted resolutions calling upon every Irishman in the country to protest against such alliance with Britain or any other Power. In this action they are co-operating with the German-Americans in this country, who have gone on record against any alliance of the United States with European countries.

Pain, helplessness and suffering are overcome by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mrs. Frank Bloom, Hardwood Lake, Ont., writes: "I want to tell you of the great benefit I found in the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I suffered so badly with kidney disease that when I lay down I could not get up without help. I was completely laid up with lame, aching back. I read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the Almanac, got them, and they cured me of kidney disease and backache."

"My husband had dreadful pains in his side and obtained cure by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills are the best on the market and I am glad to recommend them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are definite and certain in action, soothe the liver and bowels as well as the kidneys, are laxative and economical. But to obtain these results you must get the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Shannahan and Tucker ON PROSPERITY AND THE RAINY DAY.

"What do you say," says Tucker, "if we start out one of these fine days and look for that thing called Prosperity that we hear so much about?"

"Ye'd never find it," says Delaney, "not even with a microscope, for I've been searching for it for quite a while, but I'm no handier to finding it now than when I started."

"It's a wonder," says Mrs. Tucker, "that old men don't get a grain of sense when they get old. Why ye'd swear ye were new-comers in town. 'Tis only newspaper men and politicians that play that old tin-kettle tune of Prosperity to tell the people; but let them open their peepers and they'll find thousands in this town half starving."

"Well," says Tucker, "I know things ain't blooming, but still I am of the opinion that you are overdwelling the picture. Of course, you are. Everybody who has enough to eat, a well filled pipe and an extra bucket of coal thinks everyone else is all right; but they don't go out and make enquiries and find out for themselves. Look at the number of families that were relieved at Christmas by the S. A. people. Do you think these people are any better off to-day? What prosperous wave has struck the town since to improve their condition? Has the food that they received at Xmas lasted ever since?"

"Why," says Delaney, "the Government has about Three Hundred Thousand Dollars down in the chest that they collected last year which they couldn't get clear of, and what's the matter with a 'bureau of information' being started where people who are in need might report their condition, and let the Government get down to a business-like way of relieving these people who are in distress?"

"You're right," says the Cute Man.
