No Need for Alarm in Britain

LONDON, May 19.—Prompted by recent comparisons between trade conditions in Great Britain and the United States, in which the situation of the Old Country has been painted in dark colors, the Financial Times to-day declares editorially that there is nothing necessarily alarming for Great Britain, whose turn will come.

"The business of this country is not to sit down and worry," says the Times "but to recognize that the country to which the greatest degree of success will fall in the long run is the one which can serve its customers better."

TIME.

The clock strikes and another hour begins.

Seemingly heedless of our virtues,

The frown of man or woman's lovely smile,

And none so wise, so rich, or so distraught,

As this brief hour to lengthen or cut short.

Tis ten o'clock, in sixty minutes more

Eleven will ring upon the morning air.

As calm and certain as the hour before,

Unchanged by laughter or unmoved by care;

Not one in all that endless line of hours

Will pause or hurry for some whim of ours.

Sunrise and sunset, generals of the day

Man cannot bribe or threaten or compel;

Storm, nor disaster, nor despair, can stay

Or change one second of the mighty whole.

Time will press on though nations rise or fall,

The passing hour is master of us all.

The passing hour is master of us all.

assisted by Lela Lee, Louis Dresser and an all Star Caste.

STORY IS DELIGHTFUL—The story of "Woman-Proof" tells of a will which provides that the four heirs to as many millions shall marry within five years of the death of the testator, failing in which, the fortune will be devoted to charity. Mr. Meighan plays the role of one son who is deemed "woman-proof" and the efforts of his sisters and brother to choose a mate form the basis of the many humorous situations in the picture.

The train, literally jammed with humanity, came to a sharp stop block from the terminal. Men, women and children, massed into every space between the cars, were swept from their feet in the confusion which grew to panic proportions when the cars began to fill with stifling smoke caused by the burning insulation.

C. L. B. Cadets

The lads of the 1st Newfoundland Regiment C.L.B. Cadets paraded at 7.45 last evening and both Companies proceeded countrywards for a route march under the command of Capt. A. French, formerly Adjutant of Bay Roberts Company and a veteran of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment. Captain French has been transferred for duty at Headquarters from this date. All his brother officers gave him a hearty welcome last evening.

No. 2 Section held five parades and on one evening with the weather extremely rough, they bravely trudged the long trail to their Drill Headquarters and answered the roll. The C.L.B. are doing great work clearing the new athletic and open air drilling space. Officers and men are busy welding picks and shovels. The Garland Club of Trinity East are also promising assistance.

Lamaline is wonderful. A strength of 40 and an average attendance of 39. Great work, lads. One lad suspended unfortunately, but no doubt after having later learned the lesson he will be rejoining and become an active and a better member for the discipline. Play up lads and play the game. Lamaline Company wants a Bugle Band instructor. Any lad competent and willing to go to Lamaline about November for about three months under a small salary please report to the Brigade Major. Lamaline reports having arranged to hold a Camp on May 19th. Well done Lamaline, we congratulate you on your first camp.

The Athletic Association have set down June 24th to hold their annual field sports. The Old Comrades' Athletic Club at their meeting last week elected J. A. Hiscock as their football team manager and H. Burridge as Captain. Mr. Hiscock was for many years one of the Brigade's best athletes, and put in many years of exemplary all round work. We are glad to see him "lend a hand" as he is a past master of the game.

A fine bunch of recruits have passed their exams under Capt. Stick, Adj. and will be sworn in next Tuesday. Last night Capt. Stick was busy lecturing to a class of N.C.O.s, and so every officer and lad is on the job each doing his bit like the cogs in the big C.L.B. wheel.

Churchill's Insurance Scheme

GRUDGING APPROVAL FROM SOCIALISTS.

A prominent trade union leader gave it as his opinion that the new insurance scheme would deal a heavy blow at trade unions. People who could subscribe to the State scheme, with benefits guaranteed by the Government, would not, he believed, subscribe to trade union funds which might be frittered away on strikes and so forth.

A leading industrialist was enthusiastic.

In his opinion the grant of immediate old-age pensions at 65 would encourage many persons over that age to retire from industry and thus make way for men now out of work.

The scheme was received enthusiastically by the Conservatives. It had a mixed reception from the Liberals and grudging approval from the Socialists. In its main lines it was first conceived by Mr. Baldwin when he was a member of Mr. Bonar Law's Government in 1922. The Government actuaries have been working on it at intervals during the past three years. It was further developed by Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Neville Chamberlain while in Opposition last year, and has been brought to completion by Mr. Neville Chamberlain and Mr. Winston Churchill, assisted by the actuaries of the Treasury and Ministry of Health.
