A Murder Trial. A murder Trial

An important trial takes place in this city early next month. Wm. Wilson and John Fitzpatrick will be called upon to answer to the charge of murdering old Edward Upton at Strathroy on Oct. 7, 1871, and Peter Fitzpatrick, John's father, to that of aiding and abetting in the same by that of aiding and abetting in the same b that of aiding and abetting in the same by concealing the alleged crime. Upton was injured during a bar-room brawl at the Western Hotel, Strathroy, on that day, and according to evidence given at the coroner's inquest his death was the result of those injuries, which Wilson and Fitzpatrick, jun., are accused of inflicting. Detective B. B. Allen, of this city, is the complainant. He and Provincial Detective Murray, of Toronto, were hunting up evidence last ant. He and Provincial Detective Murray, of Toronto, were hunting up evidence last week on the case. The three defendants are now out on heavy bail.

Soon Put Out. Soon Put Out.

Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock as the evening edition of the ADVERTISE was being run off for its thousands of readers, a stoppage of the big printing press caused the loose paper being fed the press caused the loose paper being fed the machine to drop down on the gas jet. It started to blaze up and the fire alarm was given. In a minute or two No. 1 brigade was on the spot. It is wonderful what excitement a flying hose wagon will create. The streets were crowded at the time and hundreds congregated in front of the office, but "their services were not required." The office hose quickly drowned the blaze, which caused more smoke than anything else. The brigades of East and South London arrived in the meantime, but pro-fessional assistance was unnecessary. Had being a frive in the meantime, but pro-fessional assistance was unnecessary. Had the fire gained much headway the men might have had some work, as printers' ink and paper are rather combustible ma-terials,

"Well-Dressed" Burglars.

It is evident that Mesars. Clark and Dyer, the men caught burglarizing Yeal-land's tailor shop, Dundas street, Saturday morning had been more successful in the same business somewhere else. When stripped by the police they shed an enormous amount of new underclothing, wearing which must have been rather uncomfortable in this weather. All the goods ing which must have been rather uncomfortable in this weather. All the goods were brand new, and were worn by the rascals, no doubt, for purposes of concealment. Between them they wore two light (one gray and one red) flannel undershirts, two flannel outside shirts, some ladies; underwear, two pairs of pants, an extra vest and two pairs of gaiter boots. Besides this a new razor and case were found on them. The police expect to hear from the owner soon and to lay another charge against the prisoners.

The London Outrage.

The Government did a dangerous and Mr. Justice Maclen

The Government did a dangerous and wrong thing when it took out of the hands of the shoriffs the voters' lists and placed them in the hands of hirelings. From the moment that act was passed, the voters' lists have been corrupt beyond measure. Then there is the Gerrymander of ten years ago, and, worse still, the intamous Franchise Act. Worst of all, we find that a judge, in the face of seven Superior Court judges, places a man with a minority of 22 udges, places a man with a minority of 22 n a seat in the House. Mr. Hyman was elected by the people of London, yet Mr. Carling—Honest John (save the mark!)—holds the seat. To the everlasting shame of John Carling, he itsaid, he holds the seat that has been stolen from the people of London. The man who breaks into your house and steals your goods or the proper London. The man who breaks into your house and steals your goods, or the man who sets fire to your house, is honest beside the man who, while feigning honesty, takes the seat which rightfully belongs to another. (Loud applause.)—[Mr. Lister, M.P., at Hamilton.
