DEATH OF GLADYS LAWLESS. Sad in the extreme was the death which occurred last evening about 6 clock of 8-year-old Gladys Lawless, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lawless, of 22 Front street. The little girl contracted a cold last Friday and it developed into diphtheria. She was removed to Victoria Hospital, and everything done to save her life, but without avail. Another child, Edmund, aged 2 years, has also been removed to the hospital, it being feared that he has contracted the same disease. The late Gladys Lawless attended St. John's school and was a particularly bright ave returned from Boston with their child. Mr. Lawless is in the employ of the London soap works. The funeral will be held this afternoon to No remedy is so confidently used by Keon will conduct the services. LATE MRS. COOK'S FUNERAL, The funeral of the late Mrs. James

Cook, which took place yesterday from the family residence at 206 William street to Mount Pleasant Cemetery was very largely attended. The numerous floral offerings included a star from the employes of E. Leonard & Sons; cross, from Fraser Cap Company employes; cross, from Helena Costume Company employes; wreaths from Imperial Club, Hill Street Methodist Sunday School, and Southern Congregational Church; spray, from Aberdeen School; pillow, from the family, besides many floral token from friends and relatives. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Claris, of the Southern Congregational Church, and among the relatives who had come from a distance were Mr. Jos. Cook, Uxbridge, Ont.: Peter and Charles Toy, Foxburg, Penn., and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cook and Mr. D. Hayne, Cleveland, Ohio. The nearby business stores were closed as a token of sorrow and

I only hope and pray that your trust has not been misplaced. I know in the work before me that I shall probably commit many mistakes. I can assure you that the best enerspent entirely in the Diocese of Huron, have seldom officiated outside of i would like to say I will endeavor to do my best-do unto others as I would have others would do unto me. I can say truthfully that I have not been strictly identified with any party. I have been of course a moderate churchman. I cannot be anything different, and so I hope to carry into effect the spirit of the Church of England in everything I will do in this diocese. I ask above all things that I should be supported by your prayers and that loyal support and service be given in no other diocese as fully or as ably as in the Diocese of Huron. I rely on that more than on my own ability. I want to thank the synod and particularly Canon Farthing for

When the synod was opened at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and the roll was called in the afternoon, and the roll was called. Archdeacon Young, seconded by Mr. Archdeacon Young, seconded by Mr. Matthew Wilson. K.C., of Chatham, moved that Rural Dean Hodgins, of Seaforth; Rev. C. R. Gunne, Clinton; Judge Ermatinger, of St. Thomas; Henry Mackin and R. Bayly, K.C., of this city, be a committee on privileges and elections, to which should be referred the claims of those whose names did not claims of those whose names did not appear on the list of members of the synod as being entitled to vote. This gave rise to a discussion as to certain rules of order, some of the members holding that there was a standing committee to deal with such matters, but the motion finally prevailed. Appeals of two clergymen were submitted—Rev. E. W. Hughes, of Tillsonburg, for eighteen years a member of the synod, and Rev. Fitzmaurice Duff-Gordon, of Glencoe, both Mr. Keene and Mr. W. Phelps, also great pleased all present. Misses Fox and MacLaren also sang a duet in a charming manner, and a piano solo by Miss Durst was loudly applauded A clever recitation by Mrs. Foster was both appeals, and on its recommendation the synod agreed to give the appellants the right to vote.

A Breach of Privilege.

This matter disposed of, Mr. E. G. Henderson, of Windsor, secured the floor, and addressed the synod on the import ance of the occasoin. He went on to say that a member of the synod had committed a serious breach of privilege. He read the circular issued by Rev. Canon Smith, of this city, in regard to the election of a bishop. The circular spoke of the crisis in diocesan affairs occasioned by the death of Bishop Baldwin, mentioning Dean Davis and Archdeacon Williams, of Stratford, both of Huron Diocese, and Rev. W. J. Armitage, Halifax; Rev. A. H. Baldwin, Toronto; Rev. Canon Cody, Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Tucker, "outsiders," as among those spoken of in connection with the vacancy The circular asked the recipients to as-certain the feeling of their parish representatives in regard to names. The reading of the circular was received with applause in certain parts of the house. It brought to his feet Rev. T. G.

Mr. Farnam is the young Canadian Pianist who won the Lord Strathcona Scholarship four years ago, entitling him to a four years course in London, England. He is now a graduate pupil of William Stevenson Hoyt who is well known as King Edward's Organist and Master of Music.

The prediction made that Mr. Farnam would be heard of again in this country has already been fulfilled judging from Newspaper comments from Sherbrooke, Que., and other places. The papers state that he is a genius beyond all question. If Technichal perfection is attainable they say he has it and the delicacy and artistic finish of his playing is styled enthralling.

Mr. Farnam's tour through Canada has just started. He has chosen for all his performances the New Scale Williams Fiano of which he says: "Your New Scale Williams Piano at my late concerts gave the best of satisfaction. In tone and action, they are everything that could be desired." With this great piano and its wonderful resource of tonal qualities to draw from it is easy to predict for Mr. Farnam a most successful Canadian tour. There was one way only of dealing with the clergy.

Mr. Henderson told the synod that he was not making a charge against Canor Smith, but was simply calling attention he continued, "that this synod has indeed been guided by the spirit of God in this election, that our prayers have been answered, as has been shown by the wonderful spirit of brotherly love manifested. The new, bishop can enter upon his work with the hearty cooperation of every clergyman and layman throughout the diocese. There will be no clergyman or layman who will give him a more loyal support than myself. (Applause). The new bishop has for many years been a close friend of mine. We have worked together in the affairs of the church, and there has never been a cloud between that three members should draw the attention of the bishop to the matter, and that until that was done it could not be dealt with as Mr. Henderson proposed.
This rule had not been complied with.
Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., of Brantford, said he had come to the synod with ford, said he had come to the synon with a free mind. Every clergyman and every layman, he felt, was present with a view to advancing the best interest of the diocese. Thus, they should not allow themselves to be carried away from the main object of the gathering. Mr. Cockshutt approved of a portion of the resolution, but he did not favor the clause by the action of the Synod that it was only with the greatest difficulty that he managed to reply. "I would be more than human," he said, "if I did not feel moved on the present occasion. The claus relating to the election suggested that no nominations should be allowed. or discussions on any subject permitted.

A chorus of "No, no," marked the reading of the clause, and it was also the signal for the opening of a very keep discussion. Archdeacon Young, of Simcoe, the oldest members of the synod, drew attention to the fact that more than one circular had been distributed, although and particularly Canon Farthing for the admirable words with which he summed up the work of the synod to- openly, instead of being carried through The synod decided on motion of Archdeacon Richards of the constitution did not provide for the balloting without nominations. Canon Brown, of Paris, deemed the open discussion a dangerous proceeding, as it would mean that the personal peculiarities of the different candidates would be paraded. The laity was a body of intelligent men, capable of voting. This statement was greeted with evidences of approval, as were also the opening remarks of Mr. Bayly, who said the synod would do right to follow the course adopted when the late bishop was chosen, balloting without nominations. Mr. Bayly proceeded to say that if the synod could find a man in its ranks fit-ted for the office, it should select him. This was received with cries of "Order" and "Question."
