Very Contradictory Accounts—The State-ment to the New York Stock Exchange. There is no getting at a clear statement of the success or non-success of the Pacific syndicate in raising money by the sale of their new stock. Amid all the tales that have been 'sorn, no official statement has It did not seen unwelcome, however, as it yet been puade of the result of their negotiations. 'Aere are two contradictory announce ments:

From the Monetary Times of yesterday Two weeks ago, we stated that negotiations for the sale of $30,000,000 of the new stock of the Pacific railway company were far advanced. That samount has now been placed; one-half of it in other places. The British capitalists who have sub-scribed are leading men, financially strong. MR. EDGAR'S POLITICAL LECTURE.

Canada's Right to Negotiate Her Ow Rather a fair audience assembled yester day evening in Temperance hall to hear Mr. Edgar's lecture on "Canada's right to negotiate her own treaties."

The chair was taken at 8:20 by Mr. Hamilton, who in a few well-chosen remarks introduced the speaker,

Mr. Edgar in setting out stated that this question was the one which should possess most interest for Canadians. At the risk of being charged with disloyalty he would show that Canadians have equal rights in in material, power, they would continue this direction with Britons. We have the right to make our own tariff, why not make right to make our own tariff, why not make our own freaties.

When Mr. Blake raised this question about a year ago the government had the greatest difficulty in getting speakers to approve it. Manufacturers will not submit to being confined to our own country. They know that there are countries all over the earth which may prove a ready market for Lawrence' icy surface, and the animated scene there all the afternoon is almost past the power of word painting to delineate.

The curling bonspiel was continued, and as the final result approached, the excitement of the players and public became more intense. The play to day surpassed all previous attempts, as only the champion clubs were in the combat. The contests were remarkably close, and at the end the Lindsay club was hailed as the victor of the stone clubs. The skating races were agood if not better than yesterday, and the prizes were eagerly contested for. The trotting races were also better attended, fully 20,000 spectators crowding round the course. Although all the horses were local racers, but of a much better class than on the first day, yet the interest in the trials of speed was wonderfully great. Some very fast time was made by Sir John and Look Out, who won their respective contests.

To being confined to our own country. They know that there are countries all over the know that there are countries all over the carth which may prove a ready market for their manufactures. But the only means of treating with them is through the medium of the British ambassador, whom they cannot recognize as their proper representative. We should aegotiate for ourselves. The enormous increase in the available resources and foreign trade of Canada necessitated our having our own treatives. Our last effort to make treaties through the colonial secretary was a signal failure. In that attempt our representatives were haughtily informed that "Her Majesty's government would instruct us as to what was best for us." We have Her Majesty's government of Canada. (Applause) Young Canada's cheeks should tingle with shame to have the dictates of Downing street.

sentatives submitted to the dictates of Downing street.

The Hon. Ed. Blake was the first man who taught the English magnates to respect a Canadian opinion.

The lecturer then instituted comparisons between Canada and different independent nations in both hemispheres, showing how far she surpassed many important countries in every particular, and that she was too important a factor among the nations of the earth to have her best interests thus not only trammeled and clogged but kept in bondage by outside influences.

Mr. Edgar's speech is remarkable for its manly and outspoken advocacy of Canada first principles, and its equally strong denunciation of the harghty and peremptory manner of the home government's dealing with the above matters of such vital importance to Canadian interesst.
