Centre Clarence.

Heavy Vets has returned to Lynn for the summer.

Miss Eva Neily spent last week with her aunt, Mrs. William Sprawl.

Mrs. Everett Sprawl has been visiting friends at Hampton and enjoying the lay breeze.

Mrs. C. S. Balcom was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Balcom, on Saturday last.

The annual meeting of the Paragon and Clarence church was held on Monday, May 11th. The day was all that could be desired. The afternoon session was taken up with reports of the various departments of church work. The clerk, S. N. Jackson, gave a very encouraging report of the work as a whole during the year, affirming that the church was in better working order than any previous year. Then Pastor H. H. Saunders gave an account of the money paid in offerings for services attended, also pastoral calls, funerals attended, marriages, catechized, etc. At the close of the meeting, all present repaired to the vestry for a social time and a sumptuous repast prepared by the ladies of Paradise. The evening platform meeting was opened with devotional exercises, followed by Pastor Samuel Longley and Rev. J. H. Balcom, which was responded to by the entire congregation rising. Rev. A. S. Lewis gave an eloquent address from the subject, "She hath done what she could," Mark, 14:8. The people of Bridgetown may well feel proud of their pastor. Appropriate music was furnished by the choir. Mrs. H. H. Saunders presiding at the organ. This very social and profitable gathering was brought to a close by singing "God Be With You," and a prayer by Rev. C. H. Balcom.

On Sunday afternoon an honorary certificate for regular attendance at school and diplomas for promotion were presented to the pupils on the primary and beginner classes. A short program was given by the little ones and a certificate of the membership was presented by Mrs. C. S. Balcom to little Earl S. Saunders of the baby class, recently organized in connection with the Lord A Hand Mission Band. Instead of the usual preaching service, Rev. Mr. Grant gave an interesting address on his experience as a temperance worker. At eight p. m. the W. M. A. S. entertained the audience with readings, recitations, extracts regarding Mr. Chavell's death in India and a letter from Miss Cora B. Elliott, missionary were also read. The most pleasing feature of the meeting was an address presented by Rev. H. H. Saunders, accompanied with a life number. The certainties of baptism will be administered to live candidates on Saturday, May 17th, at 9:30 a. m. in the morning at 11 o'clock. Conference on Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

Annual Meeting of Rifle Club at Lawrencetown.

The annual meeting of the 60th Regiment Rifle Club took place in Foresters' Hall, Lawrencetown, on the afternoon of April 17th, President LaCain in the chair. A good number of riflemen from different sections of the County were present and a very pleasant and interesting afternoon enjoyed. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Lt. Col. G. A. LeCain, President; Lt. E. C. Shaffner, Secretary; Capt. J. E. Morse, Deputy for Paradise Range; Major B. Ritzy, Deputy for St. James Range.

As the 60th League team had been successful in winning first place from all comers in their series in the past season's league matches, and as their prize for so doing consisted of ten beautiful individual prizes, the matter of the distributing of these ten prizes formed a subject for some argument. It was finally resolved that the ten men who had contributed the most points toward the winning of said prizes should become the possessors of them.

The following ten were winners: Lt. Col. G. A. LeCain, Capt. J. E. Morse, Sgt. N. Daniels, Sgt. B. Saunders, Capt. F. W. Bishop, Capt. Vroom, Lt. Gates, Capt. Charlton, Capt. Gillis, and Lt. E. C. Shaffner.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved that Captain Vroom, Lt. Miller and Sgt. Whyte be a committee to arrange the inter-sectional matches to be shot on May 24th and that the match be shot on Bridgetown Range.

Resolved that Capt. Vroom, Lt. Miller and Lt. Shaffner be a match committee for the purpose of arranging matches, selecting teams and looking after all team work for the coming season.

Resolved that the matches for places on the Inter-maritime team also be shot on Bridgetown Range.

Resolved that the membership fee be one dollar for the ensuing year.

Resolved that the secretary be authorized to enter our team for the coming league matches.

Resolved that ten men be asked to subscribe one dollar each toward a trophy for league teams, and that the league ammunition go to those who subscribe, but without the individual prizes, if any, to the ten men who contribute the most points.

The following are the ten subscribers: Lt. Col. LeCain, Capt. Vroom, Capt. Bishop, Capt. Parker, Lt. Gates, Capt. Saunders and Lt. Shaffner, and that a medal, second and passed, that the secretary be authorized to publish these minutes for the benefit of the County Rifleman.

On motion meeting adjourned. LT. E. C. SHAFFNER, Secretary.

The Mind's Power in the Cure of Bodily Ills.

Sermon on the Emmanuel Movement by Rev. Robert MacDonald of New York, which will be read with interest by his Many Friends in Annapolis County.

Last evening the Rev. Dr. Robert MacDonald, pastor of the Washington Avenue Baptist Church, preached the first of a series of constructive sermons on "The Mind's Power in the Cure of Bodily Ills." The house was filled to its utmost capacity, the audience overflowing into the choir seats. The special subject was "The Mind's Power in the Cure of Bodily Ills." The text was from "Proverbs 17:22: 'A merry heart doeth good like a medicine; but a sorrowful heart breaketh like rottenness.'" Dr. MacDonald said: "Never before in the history of the world have the physicians of the body and the physicians of the soul been more intelligently at one. This has been brought about by the conviction that each has to do with the other's sphere of activities. The church no longer ministers to the soul and ignores the man. The medical practitioner no longer treats the body and ignores the man. Both are bowing to the necessities of the entire man. From the religious side this has been going on some time. The so-called institutional church, with gymnasium, employment bureau, reading room, athletic league and industrial department to teach poor boys cooking, sewing, military and general housekeeping, and poor boys competing in the trades and arts is a recognition of the call. And the Emmanuel Movement, which is a rational establishing on scriptural grounds of the many theologies, all of them without to banish disease, carries this desire to remedy the whole man into the physical realm with amazingly beneficial results.

On the other hand, the medicine that is the result of a new responsibility, though some of the best physicians took it up long ago, namely, to use all psychic and natural forces as curative power for diseases, is the result of a retrogression. Dr. Schiefel, of the British Medical Association, whose illuminating work "The Mental Factor in Medicine" should be in every home, medicine that is theology and medicine touch each other, and that there is a transition ground that is a common to all. On this ground, he continues, the physician should stand, with as much authority as the priest and philosopher. The church, he exclaims, no longer treats the soul and ignores the man, but the soul of the human being as a whole, soul and body, is increasing coming to the front. And in the same way the wise physician must grasp the underlying unity of the spiritual and the material, and recognize that if the body may and does influence diseases of the soul, so does the mind influence states and diseases of the body." I utterly refuse, he continues, to regard the mental factor in medicine as a retrogression. It is on the contrary a step, and a great step, in advance, for the day is past when the physician can limit his knowledge and practice by the physical. Dr. Schiefel states that "I remember when addressing the London clergy on behalf of the National Health Society, impressing upon them that if the physician cannot fully treat the body without any reference to the spirit, neither can the clergy care for the soul without regard for the body. Considerable impatience was shown by my audience at my spending time to elaborate a point which to them seemed so obvious, and afterwards they told me the day was past when the conception of Christianity was limited to the soul."

Dr. Laycock, an eminent English physician, claims that the most eminent and successful physicians have all been physiologists, for the knowledge of a practical science of mind is fundamentally necessary to the practice of medicine. Professor Gardner, president of the British Medical Society, says we must acknowledge the spiritual element in man is brought necessarily into the sphere of the physician's daily work. Dr. Fleury says the modern disease becomes sickly and impoverished in consequence. Oh, brother, do not underestimate the value of the mind.

Sacred Concert in Providence Methodist Church.

On Monday evening of this week, one of the best and most enjoyable of the Sacred Concerts with which the town has ever been favored was held in Providence Methodist Church, under the direction of Professor Morse. The program was as follows: Organ Solo, "Minuetto," Graham - Mrs. A. Bishop. Anthem, "One Thing Have I Desired of the Lord," Herbert - Choir. Reading, "The New Church Organ," Will Carleton - Mrs. D. G. Harlow. Vocal Solo, "Fear Ye Not, O Israel," Berk - Mr. C. Bishop. Anthem, "Hark! Hark! My Soul," Lyman - Choir. Mixed Quartette, "Weary of Earth," Gilbert - Mrs. Ruggles, Mrs. Bustin, Mr. F. Beckwith, Mr. W. Warren. Reading, "The New Church Organ," Will Carleton - Mrs. D. G. Harlow. Vocal Solo, "Fear Ye Not, O Israel," Berk - Mr. C. Bishop. Anthem, "Hark! Hark! My Soul," Lyman - Choir. Mixed Quartette, "Rock of Ages," Buck - Mrs. Ruggles, Mrs. Bustin, Mr. F. Beckwith, Mr. W. Warren. Piano Solo with Readings, "Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata" - Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Chedwick. Anthem, "See, Ye the Lord," Loverts - Mr. Beckwith and Choir. Violin Solo, Selected - Mrs. Dodge. Vocal Solo, "The Worker," Gounod - Mrs. Ruggles. Mixed Quartette, "Good Night," Cass - Messrs. Bishop, Beckwith, Warren, Chedwick. It will be seen that different churches were represented on the program, and the church people desire to express their high appreciation of the singing of the friends who so willingly came to their assistance, with whom the concert could not have maintained its great excellence. Professor Morse, too, is to be congratulated in being able to bring together and utilize so much local talent, and to command the services of so skillful a violinist as Mrs. Dodge of Middleville. They all did so admirably well that it was impossible to particularize. Suffice it to say that all who were present will welcome at any time any and all who contributed to the interest and success of the evening.

THE AGE OF PROGRESS.

(Boston Transcript.)

The successors of the great turbine, Lusitania and Mauretania, which only a few months ago represented the very last word of maritime engineering skill, are already being planned. The turbine method of propulsion, as at present applied, is declared to be only a compromise, a makeshift, and the coming Lavinians, which do not yet exist, even on paper, will show some radical departures from even the latest Canard ships. The great defect of the existing system is the adjustment of the turbine to the screw propeller. The steam turbine does not manifest its greatest efficiency at anything less than its highest speed. The screw propeller, on the other hand, reaches its maximum of efficiency at a certain fixed rate of speed. If it is operated at a higher rate the blades simply churn, and the water without getting a grip on it, and the energy behind them is lost. It is, theoretically possible for a propeller to turn so fast that the vessel will not advance at all. In the Lusitania and her sister ship the propeller blades are made very large in order to utilize the power of the engines to the uttermost. In a small engine, instead of attaching the turbines direct to the propeller shaft, they can be geared down to it. On the large ones, however, such a device is mechanically impracticable. The problem will be solved by using the turbine to generate electricity by means of dynamos, the electricity, transformed through motors, to be used to turn the propellers at any desired rate. It is estimated that the loss of power incurred in this double transformation of energy will be more than compensated for by the increase of mechanical efficiency gained.

This is by no means the only advantage promised. By placing the motors far astern and transmitting the power by a cable, the shafts will be shortened and the space now occupied by them and the tunnels in which they run saved for cargo or stores. The shorter shafts will be far less liable to fracture than those existing and vibration will be greatly diminished. There should be a tremendous gain in control. It is estimated that in an emergency the screws can be stopped and reversed in four seconds. It takes many precious minutes to accomplish that result now.

The clumsy "reversing turbine," so expensive to steam to keep heated and occupying so much valuable room will be done away with altogether. The system of signalling from the bridge to the engine room will be done away with, for the navigating officer will have before him a set of stop, start and reverse his machinery at will, without being obliged first to communicate his orders to the engineers. With six ten thousand horsepower motors obedient to the pressure of his finger, five for use and one in reserve, the captain of the new liner will have his ship more perfectly under control than a canoeist on the Charles River has his frail craft. There is nothing fanciful about this advance, either. The engine-room telegraph now in use is not infallible, and the accident to the Deutschland, by which, through a mistake in signals, she was driven at full speed into a granite pier at Dover, points the moral.

Primes threaten to become a luxury. This will be glad news to the boarders who turn primes have hitherto been chiefly a nuisance.

Fight dust—make the house cleaner with Floorglaze

Surface any floor in a few minutes with Floorglaze (500 square feet to the gallon) and that room will get rid of most of the danger that lurk in dust. Practically, Floorglaze floor is one seamless and germ-armed sheet of beautiful color (see charming shades of Floorglaze—anyone can put it on right)—and it just CAN'T wear off.

This is the floor finish that dries hard overnight, with a brilliant gloss which lasts. It is so durable that it does perfectly for floors exposed to the weather (verandas, summer houses, etc.) Nothing else is so well worth the money.

Your dealer surely has Floorglaze. But, if he hasn't, we will see your demand filled. Tell us the dealer's name, and allow us to send you a Free Book you'd care to read.
