

until after midnight, when he at last declared he was in doubt whether the sick person would recover or not.

May 29th. Took inventories of the property to be left.

Sunday, May 30th. At daybreak all hands were up, baggage was given out, and at sunrise two large canoes, three small ones, and a bateau, all very deeply loaded, were drifting down the river.

May 31st. At ten o'clock I embarked in my own canoe with eight men; overtook the brigade, and arrived at the Forks at 4 p. m., June 1st.
