HUMOROUS SCRAPS.

SYMPATHY is like blind man's buff, because it shows a fellow-feeling for a fellow-creature. On week days you buy your music by the choir

LOVE is a thing of four letters, yet sometimes, in a breach of promise case, hundreds are produced.

A YOUNG lady, who has been studying finance, wants to know if the day rate of gold affects the nitrate of silver.

Young lady (at the post-office).—"If I don't et a letter by this mail, I want to know what was doing Sunday, that's all.

"HUSBAND," said the wife of a young clergy-man, "read me one of your sermons; I feel dreadfully wakeful to-night, and wish to sleep."

A TEACHER, who in a fit of vexation, called her pupils a set of young adders, on being re-proved for her severe language, explained that she only referred to those who were just beginning their arithmetic.

"I ALWAYS have two trustworthy beaux at hand," said a good-natured spinster to her niece. "Why, where are they now, aunty?" asked the niece. "Here; my elbows." And she placed her arms akimbo.

A MAN left a bony steed on Main street last A MAN left a bony steed on Main Survey into Saturday, and, coming back a short time afterwards, discovered that a funny youth had placed a sard against the fleshless ribs bearing the notice, "Oats wanted—inquire within."

THE most confiding woman lives in Providence. She went to an auction, and, knowing the prevalence of thieves at such places, asked a nice-looking man to take care of her pocketbook, containing eighty-five dollars. He is still taking care of it.

"I SHOULD be glad to accommodate you," said an Iowa damsel, to whom a young Bostonian had proposed, "but I'm partially engaged already. There's ma, though, who's only thirty-dye, and wishes to marry again, and I think she is just now without an engagement." The young man took the first train east.

THE Philadelphia Item suggests that if they would give whiskey away, nobody would care to drink it. This seems highly probable, and ought to be tried. Doubtless it is the experience of most of us that no man is willing to drink, even by invitation, unless he pays for it.

"A MAN who was buried at Denver eighty-one years ago, was exhumed the other day and found to be petrified. His grandchildren have made arrangements to exhibit the stone at ten cents admission." This is a nice story to send circulating through the newspapers. Where was Denver eighty-one years ago?

A TOMESTONE in the Yazoo, Miss., cemetery bears the following inscription:

" Here lies interred Priscilla Bird, Who sang on earth 'till sixty-two; Now up on high, above the sky, No doubt she sings like sixty, too."

WHAT a horrible idea is the following, considering the present sensible temperance move-ment:—

"If ever I marry a wife,
I'll marry a landlord's daughter;
And then I can sit at the bar,
And drink old Bourbon and water."

A MODEST young husband sent the following hiesage over the wires to friends in this city the other day: "See ninth chapter of Isaiah, sixth verse." The dusty old Bible was hauled down in an instant, and the above chapter and verse were hunted out and found to explain all. The verse reads, "For unto us a child is born—unto us a son is given."

A YOUNG Transatiantic lady recently issued invitations for a party, and, as usual, inscribed thereon the invariable "R.S.V.P." One young man did not come, but sent his card with "D. &.C.C." Meeting him in the street shouly afterwards, the young lady asked him what the mysterious four letters meant. "What did yours signify?" rejoined the young man. "They were French for 'Answer, if you please.'" "Oh, then mine was English for, 'Darned sorry can't come.'"

"When at Massachusetts," writes a correspondent of a contemporary, "I heard a characteristic story of a simple-minded deacon, one of the Pilgrim Fathers. The worthy man was in the habit of drawing his salary in silver every saturday afternoon, and dispensing it among the poor people on the way home from the treasury—half a dollar to one, a quarter to another, and so on, until he had not much to bring back to his wife. She, mindful of the old saying that charity begins at home, and not at all reliabing being muleted of her dues, instructed the treasurer, when giving her husband his salary, to tie it up in a handkerchief with so many and such tight knots that he could not dispense it in driblets as heretofore. On arriving at the handkerchief, but it resisted his endeavors. Dear friend," said he to the occupant, "it is evident to me that Providence intended the whole of it for thee;" and, so saying, he gave the handkerchief to her, and went home to his wife empty-handed."

I am a being, but am never seen,
And only by my actions am I known;
I lay the tail tree on the village-green,
And fifty towers to earth by me are thrown;
I swell the organ's pitch and powerful tone;
I shake the banner in the face of foes;
I roar like thunder, or like grief I moan;
I bear o'er mountain tops the winter snows;
In man himself I dwell, I'm hot or cold;
I bring destruction on my spectre wings;
Can enter in the strongest eastle hold;
And carry water to the purest springs;
I'm like all men in speaking—harsh or kind;
And, like a treasure, am in bags confined.

Ah, yes, 'tis well to see a noble mind
Firm in an object—to assist mankind
In ev'ry good or ill that man befalls!
Toss'd on the sea of life, in wind and squalls,
That soon may drive him to a hostile spot,
Where cold neglect and blows may be his lot;
No friend at hand—how hard must be his fate Should not one heart, at least, be free from hate:

If this gives any aid to him in need It does a good and truly noble deed.

(α) Q B to Q R 3rd is avery strong move at this point; better it is considered than the one in the text.
(b) Taking the Rock would have exposed them to a very formidable attack. To take one variation, suppose—

14 Q takes B 15 P to K 6th

and gets a great advantage, play as Black may. If instead of 14 P to Q R 3rd the second player brings out his Q to K Kt 4th she is of course driven away by P to K B 4th; and if he move B to K 3rd, Q Kt to Q 4th is a sufficient answer.

(c) Having two pawns shead, the Allies are willing to give up one. But White is too wary to take the K Kt P. Were he to do so Black would Castle on Queen's side and soon commence a strong attack by means of the open K kt file.

(d) The allies again offer a pawn in order to enable themselves to Castle.

(d) The allies again offer a pawn in order to enable themselves to Castle.

(e) The allies never recover from the effect of this fine move. The Queen is, in a manner, compelled to take.

(f) The allies have Castled at last, but only in order to encounter a fresh series of troubles.

(g) This unpromising coup is really the only resource left the allies. If they defend the Q Kt P with either Q or R, White checks at Q R 8th, and wins immediately. All this latter part of the game is admirably played by Mr. Kolisch.

(h) R to Q R 3rd would not have been of much avail, as the Allies could have moved their K to B 2nd.

(k) White now threatens Q to Q R 8th, ch., and, on the Rook interposing, to take Q B P with Rook, checking and winning. The Allies accordingly defend their Q B P.

(l) Another fine move. If the Rook be taken White wins at once by checking with the Queen, followed by R takes P, ch.

(m) Notwithstanding the precaution, this long threatened maneuvre comes off at last.

CAIRSAN CHIPS.

Though not in the order at first intended we resume the publication of games.

A Correspondence tourney under the auspices of the Chess Editor of the Globe is progressing. Some of the games being worthy we shall select a few for reproduction in the Favorite.

Of twenty games played between the clubs of Cobourg and Port thope, the players representing the former place succeeded in winning eleven. The match from the beginning was a very pleasant one and was conducted in a very friendly spirit, as all such matches ought to be.

M. T. A. Thompson contributes a quadruple problem in nine moves to the March No. of the Chess Review, but it is said, by the critics, to be "leaky." A quadruple prob., in six moves, the composition of M. W. A. Shinkman, a few of whose fine productions have appeared in the Favorite, graces the title page of the Chess Journal for March. By the way, friend Brownson has greatly improved the appearance of the Journal lately.

There is much that is deeply interesting to Chess readers in the current number of the Westminster Papers from which the capital partie we give this week is taken.

The new English magazine bearing the title of the City of London Chess Magazine, and from which our problems this week are taken, promises to lead the chess world. Its form is convenient, is typography unsurpassed, its contents superior, we may say unequalled. Under the editorship of M. W. N. Potter. with the co-operation of such eminent chess magnates as Bird, Blackburne, Horwitz, Lowenthal, Steinitz, Whisker and Zukertort, we could not otherwise than expect a magazine possessing all the excellent qualities, without any blemish, that a chess magazine ought to have. The first and second numbers quite meet our anticipations. Printed and published by W. W. Morgan, 67 Barbican, E. C., London, England. Price, postpaid, 7s. 6d. per annum. It may be obtained also through the booksellers.
