CHICAGO MARKET.

EARLY CABLES LOWER—MARKET HOLDS FIRM—CORN STRONG—PROVISIONS DULL.

Chicago, June 7.

The early cables showed a decline of nearly one penny. Wheat, however was firm at the decline, and during most of the day's trading ruled about last night's close. The range was narrow and was mostly a traders-market. Corn showed distinct signs of strength.

The big shipments of wheat from the farmers to market continue and undoubtedly mark the commencement of the movement somewhat earlier than usual. St. Louis continues to send bullish advices, but has turned seller of wheat and has been for two or three days the weakest market in the country. The increase in wheat on passage and the large world's wheat shipments for the week tended to ease the situation abroad, leaving crop prospects the only apparent cause for the higher markets. On the break a little export business was done, but cash demand is very small, the big receipts have cut premiums down to merely nominal figures, and bull ammunition seems about exhausted. Outside of big receipts and increasing reserves is the improving outlook for the spring wheat crop, which after all promises to be the largest in the history of the country, excepting only last year, which may lead by 20 million bushels. Decreases in Argentine and Danubian shipments were more than compensated for by increases from the United States, Russia, and India, and the whole amounted to about two million bushels over estimated requirements. The 42,160,000 bushels on the ocean and headed for Europe is very near the maximum for a series of years and if maintained will soon make record figures. Since Jan. 1 wheat afloat to the United Kingdom has increased roughly 8,500,000 bu., to Continent 2,300,000, and stocks in the United Kingdom have increased six million. The decrease of 14 million at Russian ports still leaves the European visible some four million in excess of Jan 1 and about the same over figures for the corresponding date a year ago. The continued wide fluctuations suit one set of speculators but disappoint another, who predict fancy prices.
