

Freshman: I took part in a play down home called the "Silver Set."

Senior Student: The part you took was the silver, wasn't it?

Professor in physiology: What generally follows when a man is "dead drunk"?

S-vé: An arrest.

Director of reading room: I think we had better send for the Star, the Sun, the Dipper, and the World.

S-m-rd: Why don't you buy an astronomy at once?

Professor in physics, who was explaining a hydrostatic scales: Are you all satisfied about those scales now?

Harris: No, just S-mm-n.

D-se-t is an excellent fellow.

His politeness grows each year;

But it keeps the students guessing

To know why he wears that gear.

He brought it with him to Kingston,

Where he played the role of spare,

And some of his admirers said

Take it off and let's see your hair.

For spare D-se-t we've always had,

And he hasn't been knocked out so far,

Except at half time in Kingston

He was knocked out of the car.
