

In the vote on draft resolution A/C.2/L.501.

The Canadian delegation will therefore again maintain its position in favour of the efforts being made to bring about a cessation of hostilities which would lead to a further economic development. In one opinion, the best way of helping the three territories to achieve peace is not to consider the creation of another trust territory but to support the efforts being made by the various United Nations and programmes.
The Canadian Government is also a major contributor to the extension of the High Commission Territories to the British Overseas Territories. In addition to the creation of a new United Nations trust territory, the High Commission Territories concerning the creation of a new United Nations trust territory the Canadian delegation would support the efforts being made to make a final settlement of the situation.

Mr. [Name] (Canada) said that the Canadian delegation was pleased to have participated in the debate on this subject and to have expressed its views on the subject.
