

Liverseege's Works, in Thirty-seven Plates, in Mezzotinto, by Cousins, &c. folio, half bound, morocco elegant, gilt leaves, (pub. at 6*l.* 6*s.*) for 2*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

As an artist he was excellent in expressing character.

Flaxman's Compositions from Dante, One Hundred and Eleven Plates, oblong 4*to.* half bound morocco, (pub. at 4*l.* 4*s.*) for 2*l.* 2*s.*

"Flaxman has translated Dante best, for he has translated it into the universal language of nature."—Lord Byron.

Wood's (Henry) Series of Designs of Furniture and Decorations in the Styles of Louis the XIV., Francis I., Elizabeth, and Gothic, Twenty-four Plates, beautifully coloured, elephant 4*to.* cloth lettered, (pub. at 6*l.* 6*s.*) reduced to 2*l.* 2*s.*

These original designs are executed in beautiful taste in the fine style of the different periods, and are coloured in a highly finished manner to imitate drawings.

Miles's Royal Naval Service of England, with Eight Plates of Ships, coloured, royal 8*vo.* cloth gilt, 10*s.* 6*d.* (pub. at 18*s.*)

WESTWOOD'S (J. O.) CABINET OF

ORIENTAL ENTOMOLOGY;

BEING A SELECTION of the RARER and MORE BEAUTIFUL SPECIES of INSECTS, Natives of India and the adjacent Islands; the greater portion of which are now, for the first time, described and figured. 42 BEAUTIFULLY COLOURED PLATES, 4*to.*
 CLOTH ELEGANT, with gilt leaves, (published at 2*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*)—REDUCED TO 1*l.* 16*s.* Lond. 1848

The object of the Work now offered to the Entomologist, and lover of Nature in general, is to present a Series of Figures of some of the rarest and more splendid species of Insects which have within these last few years been forwarded to England, from the various districts of India and the adjacent islands.

It is indeed surprising that, notwithstanding the vast extent of our Indian territories, and the extraordinary brilliancy of many of the Entomological productions of that portion of the globe, we should hitherto have had no work expressly devoted to the Insects of India, except the single volume published by Mr. Donovan, nearly fifty years ago; whilst, nevertheless, our cabinets, owing to the zeal with which this branch of Zoology is pursued by many Entomologists in those regions, teem with novelties which would alone form the materials of many volumes.

The present work, is rather a pictorial illustration of the larger and more splendid species; and, as such, it is hoped, that, by finding its way to the table of the Indian drawing room, it may gain additional converts to the study of a science full of curiosity, and awaken an interest in the objects of pursuit, thus supplying an engaging occupation to our Indian friends.